The Mythical World of Nazi War Propaganda, 1939-1945 Jay W. Baird, 1974 The Mythical World of Nazi War Propaganda, 1939-1945 Jay W. Baird, 1974 Film Study Frank Manchel, 1990-10 The four volumes of Film Study include a fresh approach to each of the basic categories in the original edition Volume one examines the film as film volume two focuses on the thematic approach to film volume three draws on the history of film and volume four contains extensive appendices listing film distributors sources and historical information as well as an index of authors titles and film personalities Nazi Propaganda and the Second World War A. Kallis, 2005-12-16 This book analyzes the factors that determined the organization conduct and output of Nazi propaganda during World War II in an attempt to re assess previously inflated perceptions about the influence of Nazi propaganda and the role of the regime s propagandists in the outcome of the 1939 45 military conflict German Foreign Policy, 1918-1945 Christoph M. Kimmich, 2013-03-14 Christoph Kimmich s German Foreign Policy 1918 1945 A Guide to Current Research and Resources is a comprehensive guide to archival resources and published materials on the foreign policy of Weimar and Nazi Germany It catalogues the archives libraries and research institutes both public and private that house important collections especially in Germany but also elsewhere in Europe and in the United States and describes their holdings terms of access and use and guides and inventories available German Foreign Policy 1918 1945 also includes a substantial annotated bibliography of published sources ranging from documentary series to significant contemporary accounts from memoirs to secondary works The bibliography reflects current scholarship and draws attention to works that are innovative and accessible It also describes the various series of the Nuremberg War Crimes Trial Records and the original trial documents available in archives and libraries The guide canvasses the vast and growing offering of materials on the Web digitized print materials archival inventories and source materials In order to expedite work in the archives the guide also explains the organization and functioning of the German foreign ministry between 1918 and 1945 and how it kept and stored its records This third edition offers new information on German archives many of which were consolidated and relocated after German reunification on recently discovered archival holdings and on materials posted on the Web It is a reference source for both established scholars and young researchers offering quick and efficient access to the voluminous research and research materials that are now available Propaganda and the German Cinema, 1933-1945 David Welch, 2001-03-23 This is the most comprehensive analysis to date of Nazi film propaganda in its political social and economic contexts from the pre war cinema as it fell under the control of the Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels through to the end of the Second World War David Welch studies more than one hundred films of all types identifying those aspects of Nazi ideology that were concealed in the framework of popular entertainment The Virtuous Wehrmacht David A. Harrisville, 2021-11-15 The Virtuous Wehrmacht explores the myth of the German armed forces innocence during World War II by reconstructing the moral world of German soldiers on the Eastern Front How did they avoid feelings of guilt about the many atrocities their side committed David A Harrisville compellingly demonstrates that this myth of innocence was created during the course of the war itself and did not arise as a postwar whitewashing of events In 1941 three million Wehrmacht troops overran the border between German and Soviet occupied Poland racing toward the USSR in the largest military operation in modern history Over the next four years they embarked on a campaign of wanton brutality murdering countless civilians systemically starving millions of Soviet prisoners of war and actively participating in the genocide of Eastern European Jews After the war however German servicemen insisted that they had fought honorably and that their institution had never involved itself in Nazi crimes Drawing on more than two thousand letters from German soldiers contextualized by operational and home front documents Harrisville shows that this myth was the culmination of long running efforts by the army to preserve an illusion of respectability in the midst of a criminal operation The primary authors of this fabrication were ordinary soldiers cultivating a decent self image and developing moral arguments to explain their behavior by drawing on a constellation of values that long preceded Nazism The Virtuous Wehrmacht explains how the army encouraged troops to view themselves as honorable representatives of a civilized nation not only racially but morally superior to others World War II, Film, and History John Whiteclay Chambers II, David Culbert, 1996-10-10 The immediacy and perceived truth of the visual image as well as film and television's ability to propel viewers back into the past place the genre of the historical film in a special category War films including antiwar films have established the prevailing public image of war in the twentieth century For American audiences the dominant image of trench warfare in World War I has been provided by feature films such as All Quiet on the Western Front and Paths of Glory The image of combat in the Second World War has been shaped by films like Sands of Iwo Jima and The Longest Day And despite claims for the alleged impact of widespread television coverage of the Vietnam War it is actually films such as Apocalypse Now and Platoon which have provided the most powerful images of what is seen as the reality of that much disputed conflict But to what degree does history written with lightning as Woodrow Wilson allegedly said represent the reality of the past To what extent is visual history an oversimplification or even a distortion of the past Exploring the relationship between moving images and the society and culture in which they were produced and received World War II Film and History addresses the power these images have had in determining our perception and memories of war Examining how the public memory of war in the twentieth century has often been created more by a manufactured past than a remembered one a leading group of historians discusses films dating from the early 1930s through the early 1990s created by filmmakers the world over from the United States and Germany to Japan and the former Soviet Union For example Freda Freiberg explains how the inter racial melodramatic Japanese feature film China Nights in which a manly and protective Japanese naval officer falls in love with a beautiful young Chinese street waif and molds her into a cultured submissive wife proved enormously popular with wartime Japanese and helped justify the invasion of China in the minds of many Japanese viewers Peter Paret assesses the historical accuracy of Kolberg as a depiction of an unsuccessful siege of that German city by a French Army in 1807 and explores how the film released by Hitler's regime in January 1945 explicitly called for civilian sacrifice and last ditch resistance Stephen Ambrose contrasts what we know about the historical reality of the Allied D Day landings in Normandy on June 6 1944 with the 1962 release of The Longest Day in which the major climactic moment in the film never happened at Normandy Alice Kessler Harris examines The Life and Times of Rosie the Riveter a 1982 film documentary about women defense workers on the American home front in World War II emphasizing the degree to which the documentary's engaging main characters and its message of the need for fair and equal treatment for women resonates with many contemporary viewers And Clement Alexander Price contrasts Men of Bronze William Miles's fine documentary about black American soldiers who fought in France in World War I with Liberators the controversial documentary by Miles and Nina Rosenblum which incorrectly claimed that African American troops liberated Holocaust survivors at Dachau in World War II In today's visually oriented world powerful images even images of images are circulated in an eternal cycle gaining increased acceptance through repetition History becomes an endless loop in which repeated images validate and reconfirm each other Based on archival materials many of which have become only recently available World War II Film and History offers an informative and a disturbing look at the complex relationship between national myths and filmic memory as well as the dangers of visual images being transformed into reality

To Die for Germany Jay W. Baird, 1992-10-22 Traces the development of Nazi propaganda from 1914 to the cult of death created by Hitler Goebbels and others during World War II Examines the biographies of individual Nazi heroes as used by the Third Reich to sustain the deadly Nazi mythology and inspire its followers

The Crime of My Very Existence Prof. Michael Berkowitz, 2007-09-03 The Crime of My Very Existence investigates a rarely considered yet critical dimension of anti-Semitism that was instrumental in the conception and perpetration of the Holocaust the association of Jews with criminality Drawing from a rich body of documentary evidence including memoirs and little studied photographs Michael Berkowitz traces the myths and realities pertinent to the discourse on Jewish criminality from the eighteenth century through the Weimar Republic into the complex Nazi assault on the Jews and extending into postwar Europe
