The New Historicism And Other Old Fashioned Topics:

The New Historicism and Other Old-Fashioned Topics Brook Thomas, 2021-07-13 Brook Thomas explores the new historicism and the challenges posed to it by a postmodern world that questions the very possibility of newness. He considers new historicism's engagement with poststructuralism and locates the former within a tradition of pragmatic historiography in the United States. Shakespeare and New Historicist Theory Neema Parvini, 2017-01-26 Over the past three decades no critical movement has been more prominent in Shakespeare Studies than new historicism. And yet it remains notoriously difficult to pin down, define, and explain, let alone analyze Shakespeare. New Historicist Theory provides a comprehensive scholarly analysis of new historicism as a development in Shakespeare studies while asking fundamental questions about its status as literary theory and its continued usefulness as a method of approaching Shakespeare's plays. The New North American Studies Winfried Siemerling, 2005 Winner of the English Book Award Grand Prix du Livre 2006 de la Ville de Sherbrooke In this original and groundbreaking study Winfried Siemerling examines the complexities of recognition and identity, rejecting previous nationalized thinking to approach North American cultural transformations from transnational and interdisciplinary perspectives. Using material from the United States and Canada as case studies and drawing on a wide range of texts and theorists, he examines postcoloniality and cultural emergence from the sixties to the present against earlier backgrounds. Siemerling's argument for a retheorization of the field takes on the full history of multiculturalism debates, including radical readings of W. E. B. Du Bois and Charles Taylor and their relation to G. W. F. Hegel, and challenging many of the models of multiculturalism in use today. Tackling controversial subjects such as identity politics, The New North American Studies proposes a fresh outlook on the most central issues of North American cultural politics, from debates on canon formation to the role of racial and linguistic difference. Concluding with a look at the future of cultural difference, Winfried Siemerling's study is an innovative rethinking of the whole field of North American Studies. New Historical Literary Study Jeffrey N. Cox, Larry J. Reynolds, 2021-07-13 This volume, growing out of the celebrated turn toward history in literary criticism, showcases some of the best new historical work being done today in textual theory, literary history, and cultural criticism. The collection brings together for the first time key representatives from various schools of historicist scholarship, including leading critics whose work has helped define new historicism. The essays illuminate literary periods ranging from Anglo-Saxon to postmodern, a variety of literary texts that includes The Siege of Thebes, Macbeth, The Jazz Singer, and The Chosen Place, the Timeless People, and central issues that have marked new historicism: power, ideology, textuality, othering, marginality, exile, and liberation. The contributors are Janet Aikins, Lawrence Buell, Ralph Cohen, Margaret Ezell, Stephen Greenblatt, Terence Hoagwood, Jerome McGann, Robert Newman, Katherine O'Keeffe, Lee Patterson, Michael Rogin, Edward Said, and Hortense Spillers. The editors' introduction situates the various essays within contemporary criticism and explores the multiple contestatory issues at stake within the historicist enterprise. A Global Encyclopedia of

Identity and Intolerance Norbert Finzsch, Dietmar Schirmer, 2002-07-18 In a world of increasingly heterogeneous societies matters of identity politics and the links between collective identities and national racial or ethnic intolerance have assumed dramatic significance and have stimulated an enormous body of research and literature which rarely transcends the limitations of a national perspective however and thus reproduces the limitations of its own topic Comparative attempts are rare if not altogether absent Identity and Intolerance attempts to shift the focus toward comparison in order to show how German and American societies have historically confronted matters of national racial and ethnic inclusion and exclusion This perspective sheds light on the specific links between the cultural construction of nationhood and otherness the political modes of integration and exclusion and the social conditions of tolerance and intolerance The contributors also attempt to integrate the approaches offered by the history of ideas and ideologies social history and discourse theory

The Triangle of Representation Christopher Prendergast, 2000 One of our best known cultural critics examines the concept of representation and its many and varied forms in literature and art

The Holy Preaching Paul Janowiak, 2000 The reform of the liturgy has dramatically changed the way Roman Catholics and all Christians understand their worship The arena of the encounter has shifted from a passive experience of observation of the great Mysteries to one that invites active participation on many levels Yet the imagination of many who preach preside and gather to worship continues to be shaped by a passive model as well as by the notion of sacramental activity as a product to be received or given In The Holy Preaching Janowiak deepens the discussion of Christ's presence in the Word by offering reflection on the disparity between the theology and the practice of preaching and some explanation as to why that disparity exists

Who Killed Shakespeare Patrick Brantlinger, 2013-09-13 Who killed Shakespeare asks the world outside the university convinced that something's rotten in the state of academia Have English professors really tossed out the Bard to take up theory instead After public relations disasters surrounding political correctness deconstruction and the Social Text hoax it seems that everyone politicians parents and the press has something to say about what's wrong with the university Patrick Brantlinger argues that critiques of the university in ruins are misdirected Shakespeare English and the humanities in general are all being marginalized not by professors but by an increasingly corporatized and career oriented direction in higher education This provocative look inside the ivory tower is required reading for anyone who thinks he or she knows what's at stake in the modern university
