The New Woman's Film Hilary Radner, 2017-01-20 With the chick flick arguably in decline film scholars may well ask what has become of the woman's film Little attention has been paid to the proliferation of films often from the independent sector that do not sit comfortably in either the category of popular culture or that of high art films that are perhaps the corollary of the middle brow novel or smart chick flicks This book seeks to fill this void by focusing on the steady stream of films about and for women that emerge out of independent American and European cinema and that are designed to address an international female audience The new woman's film as a genre includes narratives with strong ties to the woman's film of classical Hollywood while constituting a new distinctive cycle of female centered films that in many ways continue the project of second wave feminism albeit in a modified form Topics addressed include The Bridges of Madison County Clint Eastwood 1995 the feature length films of Nicole Holofcener 1996 2013 the film roles of Tilda Swinton Rachel Getting Married Jonathan Demme 2008 Blue Jasmine Woody Allen 2013 Frances Ha Noah Baumbach 2012 Belle Amma Asante 2013 Fifty Shades of Grey Sam Taylor Johnson 2015 and Jane Campion's Top of the Lake Sundance Channel 2013

Shoot the Piano Player François Truffaut, 1993 Screenplay of 1960 French film with analysis The film shocked and delighted critics and audiences with its sudden shifts of tone and mood its willful play with genre stereotypes and its hilarious in jokes Along with Godard's Breathless the two films heralded the arrival of the so called New Wave of low budget shooting location and cinema as the personal statement of an author Truffaut was one of the directors who paved the way for a postmodern aesthetic

The Cinematography of Roger Corman Pawel Aleksandrowicz, 2016-09-23 Roger Corman is an ambiguous artistic figure On the one hand he is notorious for shooting and producing his films quickly cheaply and with blatant disregard for safety measures which together with his ability to issue a dozen new films every year and his impressive filmography have earned him the titles of shlockmeister and the King of the B's among film journalists On the other hand he became the youngest American director to be given a film retrospective at the prestigious Cinéma de France in Paris one of his directorial efforts House of Usher was selected for preservation in the National Film Registry by the Library of Congress and the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences awarded him with an Academy Honorary Award for his rich engendering of films and filmmakers This book investigates this duality and explores whether Corman is indeed a shlockmeister or an artist whose works are worthy of the highest cinema awards The scope of analysis is limited to his directorial efforts only still encompassing 50 features excluding the 400 films he produced The methodology adopted here is based on the auteur theory in its structuralist version by Geoffrey Nowell Smith and Peter Wollen and focuses on three areas of interest work ethic personal elements in the films personal control over and commitment to the production process outside direction themes topics and concerns common for many of the films regardless of the genre and style recurring stylistic motifs and elements in the camerawork editing and framing
