Society, Culture, and Change in the Middle East Raphael Patai, 1969 Society, Culture, and Cultural Change in the Middle East Raphael Patai, 1971 Society, Law, and Culture in the Middle East Dror Ze'evi, Ehud R. Toledano, 2015-10-29

Society Law and Culture in the Middle East Modernities in the Making is an edited volume that seeks to deepen and broaden our understanding of various forms of change in Middle Eastern and North African societies during the Ottoman period. It offers an in-depth analysis of reforms and gradual change in the longue dur e challenging the current discourse on the relationship between society culture and law. The focus of the discussion shifts from an external to an internal perspective as agency transitions from the West to local actors in the region. Highlighting the ongoing interaction between internal processes and external stimuli and using primary sources in Arabic and Ottoman Turkish the authors and editors bring out the variety of modernities that shaped south eastern Mediterranean history. The first part of the volume interrogates the urban elite household the main social political and economic unit of networking in Ottoman societies. The second part addresses the complex relationship between law and culture looking at how the legal system conceptually and practically undergirded the socio cultural aspects of life in the Middle East. Society Law and Culture in the Middle East consists of eleven chapters written by well established and younger scholars working in the field of Middle East and Islamic Studies. The editors Dror Ze'evi and Ehud R. Toledano are both leading historians who have published extensively on Middle Eastern societies in the Ottoman and post Ottoman periods.

War, Institutions, and Social Change in the Middle East Steven Heydemann, 2000-12-01

Few areas of the world have been as profoundly shaped by war as the Middle East in the twentieth century. Despite the prominence of war making in this region there has been surprisingly little research investigating the effects of war as a social and political process in the Middle East. To fill this gap War Institutions and Social Change in the Middle East brings together an international and interdisciplinary group of scholars who explore the role of war preparation and war making on the formation and transformation of states and societies in the contemporary Middle East. Their findings pose significant challenges to widely accepted assumptions and present new theoretical starting points for the study of war and the state in the contemporary developing world. Heydemann's collaborators include political scientists historians anthropologists and sociologists from the Middle East Europe and the United States. Their essays are both theoretically sophisticated and empirically rich covering topics such as the effects of World War II on state market relations in Syria and Egypt the role of war in the rise of the Palestine Liberation Organization.
