The Negev The Challenge Of A Desert:

The Negev Michael Evenari, Leslie Shanan, Naphtali Tadmor, 1982 The Negev first published over a decade ago told the story of some twenty years of study of southern Israel's desert. It synthesized the findings of botanists, geologists, soil scientists, agronomists, archaeologists, historians, and engineers and told how the applications of their work produced an agricultural surplus in this forbiddingly dry, hot region. Now Michael Evenari has amplified the book with data from another decade of work. He describes the efforts at a new farm at Wadi Mashash, extends the weather data another ten years, presents further work on the adaptations of plants and animals to desert conditions, and takes a much deeper look at the historical precedents for the method of runoff agriculture which has made the desert bloom.

Gutterman, 2012-12-06 Annual desert plant species of unrelated taxa in the Negev Desert of Israel have developed complementary sets of adaptations and survival strategies as ecological equivalents with physiological, morphological, and anatomical resemblances in the various stages of their life cycles. After 40 years of research in hot deserts, Yitzchak Gutterman provides a comprehensive treatise of such adaptations and strategies. In doing so, he covers the following topics: post-maturation primary seed dormancy which prevents germination of maturing seeds before the summer seed dispersal mechanisms with escape or protection strategies; cautious or opportunistic germination strategies; seedling drought tolerance. The day length is an important factor in regulating flowering, as well as the phenotypic plasticity of seed germination which is also affected by maternal factors.
