into increasing returns in the market through positive network externalities Innovation Technology and Hypercompetition synthesizes and unifies the various methodological approaches for the industry specific analysis of fast changing competitive positions driven by relentless innovation hypercompetition Game theoretic and agent based tools are applied to competitive industries in various market settings and in a global context Rivalry of this sort is seen to extend to the catching up and forging ahead of regions and nations In this revealing volume Hans Werner Gottinger brings his expert eye to this issue and employs various tools from economic theory to attain this end He provides the behavioural foundations for what is driving globalization in this a volume of interest to academic economists legal experts management consultants and practitioners alike

Capitalist Collective Action John R. Bowman, 1989-11 This unique volume presents a theory of capitalist collective action and a case study of the pre World War II American coal industry to which the theory is applied The author examines the irony of capitalist firms that do not want to compete with each other but often cannot avoid doing so He then explains under what conditions businesses would be able to organize their competition and identifies the economic and political factors that facilitate or inhibit this organization The case study not only illustrates the theory but demonstrates how the competitive relations of capitalist firms are critically important determinants of their political behavior
