Colonel Mallonée's diaries, on which this book is based, are believed to be the only complete eyewitness account of the Philippine campaign at the start of World War II to have survived intact.

After Pearl Harbor, the author writes:

Stotsenburg was a ghost town. Not a living thing could be seen. . . . I had passed the flagpole hundreds of times but except at retreat formations I doubt if I had ever consciously noted the flag. Now the barn pole was naked and ashamed. . . .

Mallonée goes on from there to describe the fighting on Bataan; the valiant but losing struggle of Filipinos and Americans. The withdrawal of the Luzon army from the beaches to Bataan is an epic worthy of a place in history and the author makes it immediate and personal as well.

After the dramatic moment on April 9, 1942, when the collapse came, the infamous Death March took place. Having survived that, the author became a "ghost of the emperor," a prisoner of war, for forty-two months.

Liberation came while he was in camp at Mukden, Manchuria, and the book ends on this note of triumph.

The editor, Dr. Richard C. Mallonée II, did further research in the Orient and in the Philippines in order to document and clarify what his father had written. The result is a most readable, moving and informative tale of courage, endurance and final victory.

Adams, Henry C. Dethloff, 2016-11-01 The Aggie tradition of Muster stretches back to the earliest days of the college But an extraordinary Muster took place during World War II that would change and further hallow the service thereafter In the spring of 1942 with Japanese forces poised to overrun the Allies on the Philippine island of Corregidor Maj Thomas Dooley class of 1935 and Maj Gen George F Moore class of 1908 compiled a list of twenty five other Aggies under their command which constituted a roll call in the midst of the bombardment Dooley later told a journalist about the list and the resulting article spread rapidly throughout the United States forever connecting Dooley to this enduring Aggie tradition The breadth of Dooley's wartime experiences however goes far beyond this single Muster On the day of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor Dooley began the first of six handwritten journals more than 500 pages that he continued to update throughout the war As aide de camp to Gen Jonathan Wainwright the new commander of the Allied forces after Gen Douglas MacArthur was ordered to Australia Dooley had regular contact with various commanders and headquarters throughout Bataan and Corregidor His journals reveal the inside story of the battles of Bataan and Corregidor and with it the capture imprisonment and struggle for survival of tens of thousands of American prisoners of war Dooley's journals dutifully maintained even as he was a prisoner are at once witty articulate stark and often reflective Dooley died in 2006 and his journals now reside in the Texas A M University archives Jerry C Cooper has painstakingly transcribed edited and annotated these remarkable documents shedding new light on daily life in the storied history of the war in the Pacific The War Against Japan, 1941-1945 John J. Sbrega, 2015-06-12 With over 5 200 entries this volume remains one of the most extensive annotated bibliographies on the USA's fight against Japan in the Second World War Including books articles and declassified documents up to the end of 1987 the book is organized into six categories Part 1 presents reference works including encyclopedias pictorial accounts military histories East Asian histories historiographies Part 2 covers diplomatic political aspects of the war against Japan Part 3 contains sources on the economic and legal aspects of the war against Japan Part 4 presents sources on the military aspects of the war embracing land air and sea forces Religious aspects of the war are covered in Part 5 and Part 6 deals with the social and cultural aspects including substantial sections on the treatment of Japanese minorities in the USA Hawaii Canada and Peru The World within War Gerald Linderman, 2013-10-16 Gerald Linderman has created a seamless and highly original social history authoritatively recapturing the full experience of combat in World War II Drawing on letters and diaries memoirs and surveys Linderman explores how ordinary frontline American soldiers prepared for battle related to one another conceived of the enemy thought of home and reacted to battle itself He argues that the grim logic of protracted combat threatened soldiers not only with the loss of limbs and lives but with growing isolation from country and commanders and ultimately with psychological disintegration
