The Oceanic Languages John Lynch, Malcolm Ross, Terry Crowley, 2002 The volume contains five background chapters The Oceanic Languages Sociolinguistic Background Typological Overview Proto Oceanic and Internal Subgrouping Part of 2 vol set Author Ross from ANU

Exploring Structures in Languages and Language Contact Nataliya Levkovich, Julia Nintemann, Maike Vorholt, 2025-06-02 The contributions of this volume offer fresh insights into different aspects of grammatical structures Language contact is the primary focus of several contributions addressing various aspects of this topic including lexical borrowings creole languages and other contact effects Ranging from typological perspectives on grammatical structures to individual case studies the volume sheds light on the complex processes underlying linguistic diversity worldwide

Language Complexity Matti Miestamo, Kaius Sinnemäki, Fred Karlsson, 2008 Language complexity has recently attracted considerable attention from linguists of many different persuasions This volume a thematic selection of papers from the conference Approaches to Complexity in Language held in Helsinki August 2005 is the first collection of articles devoted to the topic The sixteen chapters of the volume approach the notion of language complexity from a variety of perspectives The papers are divided into three thematic sections that reflect the central themes of the book Typology and theory Contact and change Creoles and pidgins The book is mainly intended for typologists historical linguists contact linguists and creolists as well as all linguists interested in language complexity in general As the first collective volume on a very topical theme the book is expected to be of lasting interest to the linguistic community

The Lexicon of Proto-Oceanic Malcolm Ross, Andrew Pawley, Meredith Osmond, 2007-03-01 This is the second in a series of five volumes on the lexicon of Proto Oceanic the ancestor of the Oceanic branch of the Austronesian language family Each volume deals with a particular domain of culture and or environment and consists of a collection of essays each of which presents and comments on lexical reconstructions of a particular semantic field within that domain Volume 2 examines how Proto Oceanic speakers described their geophysical environment An introductory chapter discusses linguistic and archaeological evidence that locates the Proto Oceanic language community in the Bismarck Archipelago in the late 2nd millennium BC The next three chapters investigate terms used to denote inland coastal reef and open sea environments and meteorological phenomena A further chapter examines the lexicon for features of the heavens and navigational techniques associated with the stars How Proto Oceanic speakers talked about their environment is also described in three further chapters which treat property terms for describing inanimate objects locational and directional terms and terms related to the expression of time

Education in Languages of Lesser Power Craig Alan Volker, Fred E. Anderson, 2015-02-15 The cultural diversity of the Asia Pacific region is reflected in a multitude of linguistic ecologies of languages of lesser power i e of indigenous and immigrant languages whose speakers lack collective linguistic power especially in education This volume looks at a representative sampling of such communities Some receive strong government support while others receive none For some indigenous languages the same government schools that once tried to stamp out indigenous languages are now the vehicles of language revival As the various chapters in this book show some parents strongly support the use of languages other than the national language in education while others are actively against it and perhaps a majority have ambivalent feelings The overall meta theme that emerges from the collection is the need to view the teaching and learning of these languages in relation to the different needs of the speakers within a sociolinguistics of mobility

The Expression of Possession William B. McGregor, 2010-01-13 This collection of nine original articles deals with the expression of possession at various levels of grammar morphological phrasal and syntactic and from a typologically diverse range of languages including Germanic Oceanic Meso American and Australian Aboriginal There are two main aims The first is to reveal something of the range of constructions employed cross linguistically in the expression of possession and second to present an understanding of the possessive relation itself as a cognitive and linguistic phenomenon A guiding principle in the selection of contributors has been to invite linguists whose research while not necessarily directly dealing with possession touches on it and indicates that they are likely to provide fresh perspectives on this well trodden field Key features William McGregor is a well known expert in this field of research Possession is a paradigm for studies on typology ethnology etc because a multitude of linguistic and cultural varieties are reflected in this field new series textbook

Modality and Subordinators Jackie Nordstrom, 2010 This book connects two linguistic phenomena modality and subordinators so that both are seen in a new light each adding to the understanding of the other It argues that general subordinators or complementizers denote propositional modality otherwise expressed by moods such as the indicative subjunctive and epistemic evidential modal markers The book explores the hypothesis both on a cross linguistic and on a language branch specific level the Germanic languages One obvious connection between the indicative subjunctive distinction and subordinators is that the former is typically manifested in subordinate clauses Furthermore both the indicative subjunctive and subordinators determine clause types More importantly however it is shown through data from various languages that subordinators themselves often denote the indicative subjunctive distinction In the Germanic languages there is variation in many clause types between both the indicative and the subjunctive and that and if depending on the speaker s and or the subject s certainty of the truth of the proposition

Clusivity Elena Filimonova, 2005-11-30 This book presents a collection of papers on clusivity a newly coined term for the inclusive exclusive distinction Clusivity is a widespread feature familiar from descriptive grammars and frequently figuring in typological schemes and diachronic scenarios However no comprehensive exploration of it has been available so far This book is intended to make the first step towards a better understanding of the inclusive exclusive opposition by documenting the current linguistic knowledge on the topic The issues discussed include the categorial and paradigmatic status of the opposition its geographical distribution realization in free vs bound pronouns inclusive imperatives clusivity in the 2nd person honorific uses of the distinction etc These case studies are complemented by the analysis of the opposition in American Sign Language as opposed to spoken languages In depth areal and family surveys of clusivity consider this opposition in Austronesian Tibeto Burman central western South American Turkic languages and in Mosetenan and Shuswap
