The Nature Of Mediterranean Europe An Ecological History:

The Nature of Mediterranean Europe Alfred Thomas Grove, Oliver Rackham, 2003-01-01 This large volume draws on evidence from fieldwork historical records archaeology pollen analysis and recent research in discussing the ecology of Mediterranean Europe from the past to the present day Grove and Rackham provide clear explanations and discussions of different ecosystems of ruined landscapes climate fluctuations and vegetation change the impact of fire terracing agriculture and man's changing subsistence strategies of coastal erosion and deforestation A highly readable book packed full of information which also assesses the pessimistic view that many people hold over the future of the landscape and environment

An Environmental History of Medieval Europe Richard Hoffmann, 2014-04-10 How did medieval Europeans use and change their environments think about the natural world and try to handle the natural forces affecting their lives This groundbreaking environmental history examines medieval relationships with the natural world from the perspective of social ecology viewing human society as a hybrid of the cultural and the natural Richard Hoffmann's interdisciplinary approach sheds important light on such central topics in medieval history as the decline of Rome religious doctrine urbanization and technology as well as key environmental themes among them energy use sustainability disease and climate change Revealing the role of natural forces in events previously seen as purely human the book explores issues including the treatment of animals the tragedy of the commons agricultural clearances and agrarian economies By introducing medieval history in the context of social ecology it brings the natural world into historiography as an agent and object of history itself A

Companion to Global Environmental History J. R. McNeill, Erin Stewart Mauldin, 2015-05-04 The Companion to Global Environmental History offers multiple points of entry into the history and historiography of this dynamic and fast growing field to provide an essential road map to past developments current controversies and future developments for specialists and newcomers alike Combines temporal geographic thematic and contextual approaches from prehistory to the present day Explores environmental thought and action around the world to give readers a cultural intellectual and political context for engagement with the environment in modern times Brings together environmental historians from around the world including scholars from South Africa Brazil Germany and China

Routledge Handbook of Landscape and Food Joshua Zeunert, Tim Waterman, 2018-02-02 Since the turn of the millennium there has been a burgeoning interest in and literature of both landscape studies and food studies Landscape describes places as relationships and processes Landscapes create people's identities and guide their actions and their preferences while at the same time are shaped by the actions and forces of people Food as currency medium and sustenance is a fundamental part of those landscape relationships This volume brings together over fifty contributors from around the world in forty profoundly interdisciplinary chapters Chapter authors represent an astonishing range of disciplines from agronomy anthropology archaeology conservation countryside management cultural studies ecology ethics geography heritage studies landscape architecture landscape management and planning literature urban design and architecture Both food studies and landscape studies defy comprehension from the perspective of a single discipline and thus such a range is both necessary and enriching The Routledge Handbook of Landscape and Food is intended as a first port of call for scholars and researchers seeking to undertake new work at the many intersections of landscape and food Each chapter provides an authoritative overview a broad range of pertinent readings and references and seeks to identify areas where new research is needed though these may also be identified in the many fertile areas in which subjects and chapters overlap within the book An Environmental History of Ancient Greece and Rome Lukas Thommen, 2012-03-08 Lively and accessible account of the relationship between man and nature in Graeco Roman antiquity Describes the ways in which the Greeks and Romans intervened in the environment and thus traces the history of tension between the exploitation of resources and the protection of nature A Companion to the Environmental History of Byzantium, 2024-03-04 How did humans and the environment impact each other in the medieval Eastern Mediterranean How did global climatic fluctuations affect the Byzantine Empire over the course of a millennium And how did the transmission of pathogens across long distances affect humans and animals during this period This book tackles these and other questions about the intersection of human and natural history in a systematic way Bringing together analyses of historical archaeological and natural scientific evidence specialists from across these fields have contributed to this volume to outline the new discipline of Byzantine environmental history Contributors are Johan Bakker Henriette Baron Chryssa Bourbou James Crow Michael J Decker Warren J Eastwood Dominik Fleitmann John Haldon Adam Izdebski Eva Kaptijn J rg Luterbacher Henry Maguire Mischa Meier Lee Mordechai Jeroen Poblome Johannes Preiser Kapeller Abigail Sargent Peter Talloen Costas Tsiamis Ralf Vandam Myrto Veikou Sam White and Elena Xoplaki Forsaken Relics Alessandro Buono, Gianluca Miniaci, Anna Anguissola, 2024-12-31 Uses case studies to examine the social context and cultural and political management of appropriating abandoned objects and assets Forsaken Relics is the result of an interdisciplinary dialogue between history archaeology and ethnography on the topic of the appropriation of disputed goods and places Scholars with diverse backgrounds convened to address this common challenge how different societies in time and space managed to claim and re appropriate alleged abandoned or ownerless goods or things in ruin The volume includes a diverse range of case studies from Neolithic sites in Eastern Europe to ancient Egypt and the Mediterranean encompassing early modern and present day Europe reflecting on the ways in which actions can be used to legitimise appropriation with a particular focus on ritual actions and practices The objective of this book is to stimulate comparative analysis of this topic in both ancient and modern societies by identifying the actors of appropriation examining the definition of abandonment and exploring the ritual aspects intrinsic in actions such as inventorying dedication and communication to ancestors and prayers to gods Ritual actions in the last instance were designed to legitimise the reappropriation and resignification of places and goods classified as abandoned or in a state of ruin and to recreate locality kinship and communities The Story of Nature

Jeremy Mynott, 2024-10-29 The story of humanity's evolving relationship with the natural world from pre history to the present day Nature has long been the source of human curiosity and wonderment and the inspiration for some of our deepest creative impulses But we are now witnessing its rapid impoverishment even destruction in much of our world In this beautifully illustrated book Jeremy Mynott traces the story of nature past present and future From the dramatic depictions of animals by the prehistoric cave painters through the romantic discovery of landscape in the eighteenth century to the climate emergency of the present day Mynott looks at the different ways in which humankind has understood the world around it Charting how our ideas about nature emerged and changed over time he reveals how the impulse to control nature has deep historical roots As we reach an environmental crisis point this vital study shows how human imagination and wonder can play a restorative role and reveal what nature ultimately means to us

An Environmental History of the Middle Ages John Aberth, 2013 The Middle Ages was a critical and formative time for Western approaches to our natural surroundings eeAn Environmental History of the Middle Ages is a unique and unprecedented cultural survey of attitudes towards the environment during this period Humankind's relationship with the environment shifted gradually over time from a predominantly adversarial approach to something more overtly collaborative until a series of ecological crises in the late Middle Ages With the advent of shattering events such as the Great Famine and the Black Death considered efflorescences of the climate downturn known as the Little Ice Age that is comparable to our present global warming predicament medieval people began to think of and relate to their natural environment in new and more nuanced ways They now were made to be acutely aware of the consequences of human impacts upon the environment anticipating the cyclical new ecology approach of the modern world Exploring the entire medieval period from 500 to 1500 and ranging across the whole of Europe from England and Spain to the Baltic and Eastern Europe John Aberth focuses his study on three key areas the natural elements of air water and earth the forest and wild and domestic animals Through this multi faceted lens An Environmental History of the Middle Ages sheds fascinating new light on the medieval environmental mindset It will be essential reading for students scholars and all those interested in the Middle Ages

The New Dimensions of the European Landscapes R.H.G Jongman, 2004-12-09 The European Landscape is under stress of changing land use and a changing attitude of its users Globalization the disappearance of the iron curtain and the recent EU enlargement to 25 countries have changed the economic and environmental dimensions of Europe Europe is changing its face from a western and eastern part to one European Union and to fast connections between its centres of activity The rural and cultural heritage of Europe has to be adapted to cope with this change However its landscape is worth to be conserved as well because it represents the European history in the same way as castles and churches It even more represents the history of the common people because it has been the tradition of the rural population that made these landscapes It cannot be prevented that Europe is changing and it is good that Europe adapts to the new dimensions of the world We in Europe have to define what we think is important and what must be conserved what can be adapted to be used for new functions and what can be abolished because it has no value These decisions will determine the new dimensions of the European landscapes The Frontis Workshop on the New Dimensions of the European Landscape was held on 10 12 June 2002 Wageningen University and Research Centre organized this workshop aiming to develop visions on the landscape in Europe its development and design in the future and to strengthen the international network in landscape planning
