Eihei Dogen: Mystical Realist Hee-Jin Kim, 2012-06-25 Eihei Dogen the founder of the Japanese branch of the Soto Zen Buddhist school is considered one of the world's most remarkable religious philosophers Eihei Dogen Mystical Realist is a comprehensive introduction to the genius of this brilliant thinker This thirteenth century figure has much to teach us all and the questions that drove him have always been at the heart of Buddhist practice At the age of seven in 1207 Dogen lost his mother who at her death earnestly asked him to become a monastic to seek the truth of Buddhism We are told that in the midst of profound grief Dogen experienced the impermanence of all things as he watched the incense smoke ascending at his mother's funeral service This left an indelible impression upon the young Dogen later he would emphasize time and again the intimate relationship between the desire for enlightenment and the awareness of impermanence His way of life would not be a sentimental flight from but a compassionate understanding of the intolerable reality of existence At age 13 Dogen received ordination at Mt Hiei And yet a question arose As I study both the exoteric and the esoteric schools of Buddhism they maintain that human beings are endowed with Dharma nature by birth If this is the case why did the buddhas of all ages undoubtedly in possession of enlightenment find it necessary to seek enlightenment and engage in spiritual practice When it became clear that no one on Mt Hiei could give a satisfactory answer to this spiritual problem he sought elsewhere

eventually making the treacherous journey to China This was the true beginning of a life of relentless questioning practice and teaching an immensely inspiring contribution to the Buddhadharma As you might imagine a book as ambitious as Eihei Dogen Mystical Realist has to be both academically rigorous and eminently readable to succeed Professor Hee Jim Kim's work is indeed both

A Dictionary of Chinese Buddhist Terms, 2004 This invaluable interpretive tool first published in 1937 is now available for the first time in a paperback edition specially aimed at students of Chinese Buddhism Those who have endeavoured to read Chinese texts apart from the apprehension of a Sanskrit background have generally made a fallacious interpretation for the Buddhist canon is basically translation or analogous to translation In consequence a large number of terms existing are employed approximately to connote imported ideas as the various Chinese translators understood those ideas Various translators invented different terms and even when the same term was finally adopted its connotation varied sometimes widely from the Chinese term of phrase as normally used by the Chinese For instance kl sa undoubtedly has a meaning in Sanskrit similar to that of i e affliction distress trouble In Buddhism affliction or as it may be understood from Chinese the afflictors distressers troublers means passions and illusions and consequently fan nao in Buddhist phraseology has acquired this technical connotation of the passions and illusions Many terms of a similar character are noted in the body of this work Consequent partly on this use of ordinary terms even a well educated Chinese without a knowledge of the technical equivalents finds himself unable to understand their implications

A Dictionary of Chinese Buddhist Terms William Edward Soothill, Lewis Hodous, 1977 Here is an outstanding work for which two eminent scholars of Chinese Buddhism separated by 2000 miles of ocean collaborated for complete ten years during which the manuscript crossed the Atlantic four times The authors aim has been to provide a key for the student with which to unlock a closed door and which does serve to reveal the riches of the great Buddhist thesaurus in China In the absence of a dictionary of Chinese Buddhist Terms it was small wonder that the translation of Chinese texts has made little progress important thought these are to the understanding of Mahayana buddhism especially in its Far Eastern development
