Peixotto,1916      The Legendary Artists of Taos Mary Carroll Nelson,1980 The founding of New Mexico s famous art colony and its pioneer artists Jacket subtitle      The Taos Artists Response to Modernism Annette P. Musgrave,University of Houston--Clear Lake. School of Human Sciences and Humanities,2011 This thesis fills the gap in our knowledge of the Taos Society of Artists whose members forged exciting new directions that resulted in an authentic American art The site of the first New Mexico art colony was in Taos There artists found a refuge where they could experiment and develop personal styles The Taos Society of Artists was originally founded by Joseph Henry Sharp Bert Geer Phillips and Ernest L Blumenschein Within a few years Eanger Irving Couse Oscar E Berninghaus William Herbert Dunton Victor Higgins and Walter Ufer joined the group Histories of American art have largely neglected the important historical moment when American artists in the West moved away from classical artistic traditions into newer modern modes of painting The lives and artworks of the Taos group form an essential chapter in the formation of American modernism This thesis serves to begin the process of bridging the gap in American art history between classical and modern styles from the art of masters such as Fredric Remington and Charles Russell to Georgia O Keeffe and Maynard Dixon While the subject of early Taos paintings may be viewed as simply western or Indian their styles range from idealistic to realistic From the inception of the Taos Society of Artists influential patrons who played a large role in America s southwestern expansion valued their paintings and frequently paid large sums of money for them In spite of their prominence however there is little or no information about the group in widely used art history textbooks Art history classes taught at the college level typically do not include works by Taos artists or mention their important role in American art history This thesis aims to fill the lack of scholarly literature and to demonstrate the importance of the Taos Society of Artists in American art history      Sense of Place The Friends of The Mennello Museum of American Art,2014      Local Color John William Ott,1996      Catalogue of an Exhibition of Paintings by the Taos Society of Artists Worcester Art Museum,Taos Society of Artists,1922      Enchanted Visions ,2005      Paintbrushes and Pistols Sherry Clayton Taggett,Ted Schwarz,1990 Paintbrushes and Pistols is the story of an unusual alliance that changed the American West and American art at the turn of the century It was an alliance between Ernest Blumenschein and other immature naive men of great artistic talent who became known as the Taos Society of Artists Fred Harvey a genius in the field of food and lodging and the promotion minded men who operated the Atchison Topeka Santa Fe Railroad Together they helped to create the westward migration that resulted in vast cities and smaller towns that exist today And together the highly eccentric members of the Taos Society of Artists the last artists who would devote themselves to capturing the dying West on canves and in sculpture radically changed styles of American fine art and commercial illustration The Taos Artists David L. Witt,1984 Collection of 10 Prints Representing the Work of the Taos Society of Artists Taos Society of Artists,19?? Ralph Meyers Julie Anderies Curator,2015-10-07 At the heart of the vibrant cultural mix of the Taos Art Colony in what may have been its most vibrant phase the teens and twenties of the Twentieth Century Indians Spanish Anglos and Europeans alike found Ralph Meyers 1885 1948 The first white man to establish trade with Taos Pueblo he was also the guide and often the builder and outfitter for the members of the Taos Society of Artists Fluent with all the cultures of Taos he absorbed cultural traditions of woodcarving silver smithing beading weaving and leather working from native and Hispanic peoples with whom he maintained close relationships Perhaps most remarkably with no formal training in art and only a third grade education he watched the academically trained artists from the eastern U S from Europe and from Russia whom he guided into the mountains on sketching and camping trips and taught himself to paint with such success that Leon Gaspard called him one of the finest colorists in Taos Scheduled to coincide with the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Taos Society of Artists A Taos Original Ralph Meyers and the Taos Society of Artists tells the compelling story of a self taught self reliant outsider whose life and vision helped shaped the country s understanding of the West and the world s understanding of American art Eanger Irving Couse Virginia Couse Leavitt,2019-01-24 Eanger Irving Couse 1866 1936 showed remarkable promise as a young art student His lifelong interest in Native American cultures also started at an early age inspired by encounters with Chippewa Indians living near his hometown Saginaw Michigan After studying in Europe Couse began spending summers in New Mexico where in 1915 he helped found the famous Taos Society of Artists serving as its first president and playing a major role in its success This richly illustrated volume featuring full color reproductions of his artwork is the first scholarly exploration of Couse s noteworthy life and artistic achievements Drawing on extensive research Virginia Couse Leavitt gives an intimate account of Couse s experiences including his early struggles as an art student in the United States and abroad his study of Native Americans his winter home and studio in New York City and his life in New Mexico after he relocated to Taos In examining Couse s role as one of the original six founders of the Taos Society of Artists the author provides new information about the art colony s early meetings original members and first exhibitions As a scholar of art history Leavitt has spent decades researching her subject who also happens to be her grandfather Her unique access to the Couse family archives has allowed her to mine correspondence photographs sketchbooks and memorabilia all of which add fresh insight into the American art scene in the early 1900s Of particular interest is the correspondence of Couse s wife Virginia Walker an art student in Paris when the couple first met Her letters home to her family in Washington State offer a vivid picture of her husband's student life in Paris where Couse studied under the famous painter William Bouguereau at the Académie Julian. Whereas many artists of the early twentieth century pursued a radically modern style, Couse held true to his formal academic training throughout his career. He gained renown for his paintings of southwestern landscapes and his respectful portraits of Native peoples. Through his depictions of the domestic and spiritual lives of Pueblo Indians, Couse helped mitigate the prejudices toward Native Americans that persisted during this era.

Santa Fe Henry Jack Tobias, Charles E. Woodhouse, 2001. A readable, captivating social history centered on the essence of Santa Fe, the lives of its Hispano and Anglo residents.

Window on the West Judith A. Barter, Art Institute of Chicago, 2003. This book depicts a group of Chicago patrons who sought to shape the city's identity and foster a uniquely American style by supporting local artists who depicted the West.
