The Taste of Colombia Antonio Montaña, 1997 It is hard to find a corner of the world where celebrations are not linked to food in one way or another Sharing a meal cooking special dishes and eating symbolic foods are rituals almost inadvertent ones that are present in all cultures and that make up the gamut of what is known as culinary specialties or ethnic food This 224 page book is a complete tour through Colombian cuisine illustrated with 199 exceptional color photographs by Hans Doring that enable us to appreciate the succulent appearance of each dish and of its various ingredients Due to Colombia's geographical and cultural variety this country has a vast culinary repertoire that is deep rooted in its history the native Indian and the Spaniard traditions finely seasoned at times by a pinch of African and by the various influences of immigration This book is a treasure chest of more than 133 recipes from the diverse regions of Colombia described with just the right amount of detail to obtain a perfect meal

The Politics of Taste Ana María Reyes, 2019-11-15 In The Politics of Taste Ana María Reyes examines the works of Colombian artist Beatriz González and Argentine born art critic Marta Traba who championed González's art during Colombia's National Front coalition government 1958-74 During this critical period in Latin American art artistic practice art criticism and institutional objectives came into strenuous yet productive tension While González's triumphant debut excited critics who wanted to cast Colombian art as modern sophisticated and universal her turn to urban lowbrow culture proved deeply unsettling Traba praised González's cursi tacky recycling aesthetic as daringly subversive and her strategic localism as resistant to U.S. cultural imperialism Reyes reads González's and Traba's complex visual and textual production and their intertwined careers against Cold War modernization programs that were deeply embedded in the elite's fear of the masses and designed to avert Cuban inspired revolution In so doing Reyes provides fresh insights into Colombia's social anxieties and frustrations while highlighting how interrogations of taste became vital expressions of the growing discontent with the Colombian state

The Coloniality of Modern Taste Zilkia Janer, 2022-12-30 This book analyzes the coloniality of the concept of taste that gastronomy constructed and normalized as modern It shows how gastronomy's engagement with rationalist and aesthetic thought and with colonial and capitalist structures led to the desensualization bureaucratization and racialization of its conceptualization of taste The Coloniality of Modern Taste provides an understanding of gastronomy that moves away from the usual celebratory approach Through a discussion of nineteenth century gastronomic publications this book illustrates how the gastronomic notion of taste was shaped by a number of specifically modern constraints. It compares the gastronomic approach to taste to conceptualizations of taste that emerged in other geographical and philosophical contexts to illustrate that the gastronomic approach stands out as particularly bereft of affect. The book argues that the understanding of taste constructed by gastronomic texts continues to burden the affective experience of taste while encouraging patterns of food consumption that rely on an exploitative and unsustainable global food system. This book will appeal to students and scholars interested in cultural studies, decoloniality, affect theory, sensory studies, gastronomy, and food studies.

TASTE Andrea Pavoni, Danilo Mandić, Caterina Nirta, Andreas Philippopoulos-Mihalopoulos, 2018-07-25. Taste usually occupies the bottom of the sensorial hierarchy as the quintessentially hedonistic sense too close to the animal, the elemental and the corporeal and for this reason disciplined and moralised. At the same time taste is indissolubly tied to knowledge. To taste is to discriminate, emit judgement, enter an unstable domain of synaesthetic normativity where the certainty of metaphysical categories begins to crumble. This second title in the Law and the Senses series explores law using taste as a conceptual and ontological category able to unsettle legal certainties and a promising tool whereby to investigate the materiality of law's relation to the world. For what else is law's reduction of the world into legal categories if not law's ingesting the world by tasting it and emitting moral and legal judgements accordingly. Through various topics including coffee, wine, craft, cider and Japanese knotweed, this volume explores the normativities that shape the way taste is felt and categorised within and beyond subjective phenomenological and human dimensions. The result is an original interdisciplinary volume complete with seven speculative recipes dedicated to a rarely explored intersection with contributions from artists, legal academics, philosophers, anthropologists and sociologists.
