

HISTORY OF JAMMU & KASHMIR

■ EARLY BUILDINGS (CIRCA A.D. 200 TO 600)

- First six centuries A.D. are very meagrely represented; the only monuments which can with certainty be assigned to the Kushan period being the Buddhist structures at Harwan and Ushkar.
- Indo-Greek, Parthian & Saka kings of north-western India were found until recently in Kashmir points to the existence of considerable commercial connection between the valley and the principalities of Peshawar and Kabul in the last two centuries B.C. and the first century A.D. It is also certain that in the second century A.D. Kashmir formed part of Kanishka's empire and that, for at least some generations after the death of that emperor, the country remained attached to the kingdom of Gandhara. This long connection with the north-west of India has left an indelible mark upon the character of the Buddhist and Hindu architecture of the valley.
- At Ushkar, for instance, the abundance of local quarries ensured a plentiful supply of stone chips, which the builders turned to excellent advantage
- At Harwan the most easily available building materials are the round boulders and pebbles brought down by the Dachigam Nala. Here accordingly we find the chip-masonry of Ushkar replaced by walls built of small pebbles

The Empire Inside Suzanne Daly, 2011 The Empire Inside is unique in its tight focus on the objects from one geographical location and their deployment in one genre of fiction This combination results in a powerful study with a wealth of fine formal analyses of literary texts and a similar trove of marvelous historical data Elaine Freedgood New York University In The Empire Inside Suzanne Daly does a wonderful job integrating an array of primary materials especially novels and journal essays to show the extent to which these foreign colonial products of India represented absolutely central aspects of domestic life at once part of the unremarkable everyday experience of Victorians and rich with meanings Timothy Carens College of Charleston By the early nineteenth century imperial commodities had become commonplace in middle class English homes Such Indian goods as tea textiles and gemstones led double lives functioning at once as exotic foreign artifacts and as markers of proper Englishness The Empire Inside Indian Commodities in Victorian Domestic Novels reveals how Indian imports encapsulated new ideas about both the home and the world in Victorian literature and culture In novels by Charlotte Bront Charles Dickens and Anthony Trollope the regularity with which Indian commodities appear bespeaks their burgeoning importance both ideologically and commercially Such domestic details as the drinking of tea and the giving of shawls as gifts point us toward suppressed connections between the feminized realm of private life and the militarized realm of foreign commerce Tracing the history of Indian imports yields a record of the struggles for territory and political power that marked the coming into being of British India reading the novels of the period for the ways in which they infuse meaning into these imports demonstrates how imperialism was written into the fabric of everyday life in nineteenth century England Situated at the intersection of Victorian studies material cultural studies gender studies and British Empire studies The Empire Inside is written for academics graduate students and advanced undergraduates in all of these fields Suzanne Daly is Associate Professor of English University of Massachusetts Amherst
