Talking Shop Authentic Conversation And Teacher Learning:

Talking Shop Christopher Michael Clark, 2001-01-01 This is a set of stories about how something as simple sounding as ordinary talk among teachers can become a powerful medium for teacher learning and professional development The chapters of the book draw from the work of eight groups of teachers in the US and Israel who have met in conversation for the past 4 to 5 years The chapter authors use the teachers own words to document their learning and describe the ways in which readers could begin their own sustainable teacher conversation group both with experienced teachers and with teacher education students

Self-Study Research Methodologies for Teacher Educators , 2019-02-11 Study Research Methodologies for Teacher Educators is a comprehensive text that delineates a range of research methodologies This edited volume with many chapters written by self study scholars who are noted in the field for particular methodological and epistemological perspectives helps fill the gap in the literature on self study research methods It provides readers with an opportunity to examine various methodologies which will not only help them deepen their understanding of research but also will allow them to select one that best suits their needs Both new and experienced researchers will find this text valuable We consider Self Study Research Methodologies for Teacher Educators a valuable contribution to the field of teacher education

Teacher Educators' Professional Learning in Communities Linor Hadar, David Brody, 2016-11-10 Teacher Educators Professional Learning in Communities explores teacher educators professional development in the communal model of learning Learning in groups has proved to be a major avenue for supporting such development and change among teachers and other professions but one which has received sparse attention with regards to teacher educators development This book aims to examine such communities in order to identify factors that promote or hinder professional learning for teacher educators Blending research on communal learning with seven years of practical experience in these contexts the authors present their analysis of the communal professional development process and provide a conceptual basis for understanding this type of professional learning for teacher educators The book addresses organizational aspects of teacher educators learning in communities such as creating a safe environment group reflection feedback and discussion about student learning Personal professional learning aspects are also explored including the reduction of personal isolation the process of transition towards change and withdrawal from the goals of the community Finally influences and implications for professional learning among teacher educators are discussed Teacher educators stand at the crux of the entire educational enterprise because of their responsibility in training the next generation of teachers As such their professional development is increasingly important in promoting and advancing educational practice Integrating current literature with pictures of practice about the use of the communal model in professional development in educational settings it will be of key interest to researchers and postgraduate students in several fields professional development teacher educators and communities of learners Practitioners who are involved with the professional development of teacher educators will also find this book extremely useful      Wise Social Studies in an Age of High-Stakes Testing Elizabeth Anne Yeager, O. L. Davis, 2005-08-01 The chapters in this volume illustrate how teachers are bringing creativity higher order thinking and meaningful learning activities into particular school settings despite pressures of standards and testing We chose the word wise for the title of this book and we use it frequently to describe the pedagogical practices we have identified The words powerful and ambitious are used as well The larger point as Keith C Barton makes in his chapter is that there is no necessary connection between content standards and high stakes tests on the one hand and low level rote instruction on the other He reminds us as Thornton 1991 and Wiggins 1987 previously have argued that teachers play a crucial role in mediating educational policy and their intentions and interpretations have at least as much influence on classroom practice as does the content of standards and high stakes tests Barton also asserts that this makes it all the more crucial to identify the wisdom of practice that enables teachers to engage students in powerful educational experiences      Interprofessional Working In Practice: Learning And Working Together For Children And Families Trodd, Lyn, Chivers, Leo, 2011-09-01 Written by a multi professional team of contributors and grounded by their experience in interprofessional work this book relates to the rhetoric of interprofessionalism to discussions and examples of practice Cover      Whisperings from the Corridors Susanne Garvis, Rachael Dwyer, 2013-02-11 This book is intended to illuminate the experiences of teachers working in higher education the tensions they face in working in an increasingly complex professional landscape Higher teaching loads increased expectations of research output and changing social and economic structures that shape the way students view their tertiary education have a profound affect on university teachers work The pages of this volume are filled with the stories of teachers in universities that allow the reader to look deeply into the complexities of their work We and the other authors do not pretend that the stories told here are representative of all university teachers that they are in any way generalisable but that others may learn from the knowledge that is shared      Urban Parents Perspectives Children'S Math. Mtl V8#3 Martha Alexsaht-Snyder, 2018-12-07 First published in 2006 This is a special issue of Mathematical Thinking and Learning Volume 8 Number 3 from 2006 that focuses on Urban Parents Perspectives on Children s Mathematics Learning and Issues of Equity in Mathematics Education      Connecting Policy and Practice Pam Denicolo, Michael Kompf, 2005 This volume delivers a selection of papers presented at an international teaching conference on issues of theory and practice These key topics will be of interest to novice and veteran teachers policy makers and all education professionals      Resources in Education , 2001-10      Action Research for the Classroom Máirín Glenn, Bernie Sullivan, Mary Roche, Caitriona McDonagh, 2023-05-02 What is action research Why does it matter in education This practical and accessible book provides answers to these questions guiding readers through a meaningful and manageable approach to research in practice Readers will benefit from guidance on easing the stress of research projects in teacher education courses professional development initiatives and in school self evaluation Supported by case studies from teachers and student teachers practice chapters guide readers through key aspects of carrying out a research project including planning a research project collecting and using data presenting evidence generating theory writing up and disseminating your research a theoretical rationale to show why the research is conducted in this way Written in an accessible manner by experienced classroom teachers and academic researchers this is an essential read for those conducting research on their own practice as part of their professional learning Action Research for the Classroom shows how teacher research is drawn from the reality of busy life in the classroom and that it can be undertaken in the most complex learning environments creating positive change for teaching and learning

Literary Praxis Piet-Hein van de Ven, Brenton Doecke, 2011-11-16 Literary Praxis A Conversational Inquiry into the Teaching of Literature explores the teaching of literature in secondary schools It does this from the vantage point of educators in a range of settings around the world as they engage in dialogue with one another in order to capture the nature of their professional commitment the knowledge they bring to their work as literature teachers and the challenges of their professional practice as they interact with their students The core of the book comprises accounts of their day to day teaching by Dutch and Australian educators These teachers do more than capture the immediacy of the here and now of their classrooms they attempt to understand those classrooms relationally exploring the ways in which their professional practice is mediated by government policies national literary traditions and existing traditions of curriculum and pedagogy They thereby enact a form of literary praxis that grapples with major ideological issues most notably the impact of standards based reforms on their work Educators from other countries then comment on the cases written by the Dutch and Australian teachers thus taking the concept of praxis to a new level as part of a comparative inquiry that acknowledges the richly specific character of the cases and resists viewing teaching around the world as though it lends itself unproblematically to the same standards of measurement as in the fetish made of PISA They step back from a judgmental stance and try to understand what it means to teach literature in other educational settings than their own The essays in this collection show the complexities of literature teaching as a form of professional praxis exploring the intensely reflexive learning in which teachers engage as they induct their students into reading literary texts and reflect on the socio cultural contexts of their work

Responsive Literacy Coaching Cheryl Dozier, 2006 In Responsive Literacy Coaching Cheryl Dozier draws on twenty four years of experience as an elementary classroom teacher and teacher educator to present both a theoretical framework and practical tools to enact responsive literacy coaching Through thoughtful and purposeful coaching teachers learn effective ways to improve literacy instruction and student achievement The range of tools offered in the text invite customization based on the reader's specific instructional context This framework empowers literacy coaches and teachers through conversation sustained engagement and reflective analysis Dozier argues that at its best literacy coaching is responsive collegial thoughtful thought provoking deliberate reflective and transferable In this book she invites readers to enter into a coaching dialogue through vignettes that bring coaching interactions to life prompts to engage both teachers and students occasions for collaborative reflection frequently asked questions As literacy tasks are documented and analyzed coaching interactions logged and categorized and assessment scores scrutinized Dozier cautions coaches to avoid being so caught up in the doing of coaching that one forgets the purpose behind it In this book she provides an occasion for them to step back and ask what is the goal of literacy coaching What kind of literacy environments and experiences are we creating for our schools and our students What is possible as we engage in transformative literacy practices While the tools offered in this book do not provide a quick fix they foster critical thinking and sustained inquiry that leads to positive change for both teachers and students

Learner Autonomy Across Cultures D. Palfreyman, R. Smith, 2003-11-03 What does autonomy mean within language learning Should it be enhanced within national institutional or small group culture and if so how can that be done A variety of new theoretical perspectives are here firmly anchored in research data from projects worldwide By foregrounding cultural issues and thus explicitly addressing the concerns of many educators on the appropriateness and feasibility of developing learner autonomy in practice this book fills a gap in the literature and offers practical benefits to language teachers

English Teachers at Work Brenton Doecke, David Homer, Helen Nixon, 2003 By taking a global perspective on teaching English this work takes into account a wide variety of challenges English teachers face and stresses the importance of networking and communicating with colleagues around the world as a means of overcoming those challenges A richly differentiated view on what it means to be an English teacher is offered as are fascinating narratives about the diverse efforts of teachers in different communities Points of view from contributors in North America Australia Chile New Zealand New Guinea South Africa and the United Kingdom are expressed and placed in an illuminating context with practical and theoretical considerations about teaching English
