Nikolai Nikolaevich and Camouflage Yuz Aleshkovsky, 2019-06-11 Among contemporary Russian writers Yuz Aleshkovsky stands out for his vivid imagination his mixing of realism and fantasy and his virtuosic use of the rich tradition of Russian obscene language These two novels written in the 1970s display Aleshkovsky's linguistic gifts and keen observations of Soviet life Nikolai Nikolaevich begins when its titular hero a pickpocket by trade is released from prison after World War II and finds a job in a Moscow biological laboratory Starting out as a kind of janitor he is soon recruited to provide sperm for strange experiments intended to create life in the Andromeda galaxy The hero finds himself at the center of the 1948 purge of biological science in the Soviet Union in a transgressive tale that joins science fiction and science fact with gulag slang and a love story The protagonist and narrator of Camouflage is an alcoholic who claims that he and his gang of friends are just one part of a vast camouflaging operation organized by the Party to hide the Soviet Union's underground military industrial complex from the CIA's spy satellites As they pass their time on the streets and share their alcohol inspired fantasies they see the stark reality of the Cold War in Russia in the late seventies Nikolai Nikolaevich and Camouflage introduces English speaking readers to a master of the comic first person narrative

Repetition and Creation Radosvet Kolarov, 2020-12-29 This book advances the notion of autotextuality the dialogue between works in an author's oeuvre and the ways in which new texts are created in self repetition through the tracing and revisiting of past texts and the subsequent uncovering of undisclosed meanings unexhausted constructive principles and alternative versions Kolarov draws on cognitive models such as dual coding theory and conceptual blending to substantiate a theory of autotextuality and build on previous work on self repetition and difference to highlight the notion of discursive desire in which new meanings are generated through repetition and its distinct relationship to creativity Drawing on analyses of well established works in Bulgarian as well as the established oeuvres of such authors as Gogol Dostoevsky Kafka and Baudelaire the volume explores key themes in autotextuality such as the functions of creative memory the connections between word and image and the hermeneutic relationships and steps of transformation between texts This innovative work addresses topical questions of importance in literary theory today and will be of interest to students and scholars in literary studies and related areas of study within such fields as cognitive science quantum mechanics and psychology      Heartbeat of the People Tara Browner,2022-08-15 The intertribal pow wow is the most widespread venue for traditional Indian music and dance in North America Heartbeat of the People is an insider's journey into the dances and music the traditions and regalia and the functions and significance of these vital cultural events Tara Browner focuses on the Northern pow wow of the northern Great Plains and Great Lakes to investigate the underlying tribal and regional frameworks that reinforce personal tribal affiliations Interviews with dancers and her own participation in pow wow events and community provide fascinating on the ground accounts and provide detail to a rare ethnomusicological analysis of Northern music and dance      A Concordance to the Poems of W.B. This book examines Russian and Ukrainian feature films to trace the roots and consequences of the Russian invasion of Ukraine. It argues that the cultural war stems from a colonial past where Russia viewed Ukraine as an inferior little brother. By examining cinematic representations of the countries' shared history, this book reveals how Russia has used cinema to promote a strong unified state and patriotic narratives, while Ukrainian cinema seeks to overcome colonial trauma and build a distinct national identity. It also investigates how cultural memories of Kyivan Rus, the Cossacks, World War II, the Soviet past and the Russian war in Ukraine are depicted differently in Russian and Ukrainian cinema. The Search for Tara Helen

Hickok, 2012-09-27 The Search for Tara is an intriguing and relatively modern tale of two young Americans, Linda Ryan and Joseph Garcia, who travel around Ireland on a quest inspired by Linda's grandmother. Though romantic and very personal in its first-person and introspective telling by Linda, a fair amount of Irish history and culture are woven in seamlessly along the way. At times in the story, however, Linda's and Joseph's own differing cultural and familial backgrounds collide with their budding romance. That is a conflict not entirely resolved in the story, even into the last chapter. Then comes an unexpected but solidifying twist: no peeking allowed. Ukrainian Musical Elements in Classical Music I[van] L'vovich Soroker, 1995-06-19
