Social Gerontology An Introduction To The Dynamics Of Aging:

Social Gerontology David L. Decker, 1980      Communication and Aging Jon F. Nussbaum, Loretta L. Pecchioni, James D. Robinson, Teresa L. Thompson, 2013-05-13 This text employs a communication perspective to examine the aging process and the ability of individuals to adapt successfully to aging. It continues the groundbreaking work of the first edition emphasizing a life span approach toward understanding the social interaction that occurs during later life. The edition provides a comprehensive update on the existing and emerging research within communication and aging studies and considers such topics as notions of successful aging, positive and negative stereotypes toward older adults, and health communication issues. It raises awareness of the barriers facing elderly people in conversation and the importance such conversations have in elderly people's lives. The impact of nonrelational processes such as hearing loss are considered as they impact relationships with others and affect the ability to age successfully. The book is organized into 14 chapters. Each chapter is written so that the reader is presented with an exhaustive review of the pertinent and recent literature from the social sciences. As in the first edition, when the literature is empirically based, the communicative ramifications are then discussed. Readers of this volume will gain greater understanding of the importance of their communicative relationships and how significant they remain across the life span. Developed for students in communication, psychology, nursing, social gerontology, sociology, and related areas, Communication and Aging provides important insights on communication to all who are affected by the aging process.

Aging in Society Matilda White Riley, Beth B. Hess, Kathleen Bond, 2025-07-01 Originally published in 1983, Aging in Society consists of a selection of papers that were prepared by various authors as background papers for the 1981 White House Conference on Aging. The papers provided an overview of knowledge on various aspects of aging in the United States at the time. Topics covered include aging and the family, economic aspects of an aging population, recent trends in the geographical distribution of the elderly population, and mortality and health differentials by sex. Today it can be read in its historical context.

Cognitive and Behavioral Performance Factors in Atypical Aging Mark L. Howe, Michael J. Stones, Charles J. Brainerd, 2012-12-06 It is a truism that as we age, there are a number of underlying physiological changes conspiring to alter our level of behavioral and cognitive functioning. Despite the inherent interrelatedness of these behavioral and cognitive changes, all too often the papers we read confine themselves to specific, isolated components of the developing process. Although exceptions naturally exist, we believe that these exceptions should become the rule. Although an integrated approach is important in all areas of adult development, it is perhaps particularly germane in the study of atypical aging. Here, changes in overall functioning can occur in rapid succession with the synchrony of decline between different subprocesses, making it difficult to factor changes in one process from changes in another. For example, because changes in cognitive functioning co-occur with other dramatic changes in motoric response capacities, it is unclear how one can effectively study changes in the ability to cognize independent of changes in the very mechanisms ability to execute motor sequences, so often

Anthropology of Aging Marjorie M. Schweitzer,1991-06-19 During the 1970s Comparative Cultural Gerontology or the Anthropology of Aging with its focus on aging from a cross cultural perspective attained the status of a new speciality in the field of anthropology It was only in the late 1960s to the mid 70s that elderly people and the process of aging became recognized as a bona fide research topic for anthropology Majorie M Schweitzer's Anthropology of Aging looks at aging from this cross cultural perspective and updates the Association for Anthropology and Gerontology's previously published Topical Bibliography and the Supplement to the Topical Bibliography on the Anthropology of Aging Schweitzer focuses on citations that represent anthropological perspectives and or cross cultural data with data from other disciplines included when warranted Besides a greatly expanded number of bibliographical references Schweitzer's work includes annotations for particularly important citations including those that address special issues such as method and theory as they relate to aging and those that provide the clearest treatment of a particular topic The topical outline of the 1982 volume has been retained with only minor additions and changes making the Bibliography both easy to use and a rich resource for researchers Over 40 international scholars in the field of aging have updated the various sections of the original bibliography Organized according to two kinds of topics subject topics such as Modernization and regional cultural group topics such as Great Britain American Indian the reference contains 14 chapters that investigate research on the subject from Africa to the Pacific Rim USSR USA Europe Israel and more Beginning with a chapter that zeroes in on general theoretical and comparative works the volume proceeds with chapters that examine demography biology and longevity medical aspects of aging non industrialized societies national cultures modernization and ethnic rural segments of the United States The last six chapters examine social structure community organization and age homogeneous residences urban aged social networks support systems women death and dying and methods The final chapter contains a list of additional bibliographies A must for most research libraries this comprehensive bibliography will be widely used by teachers students researchers social workers service providers and administrators from many different disciplines Geriatric Medicine C.K. Cassel, J.R. Walsh, 2012-12-06 With the appearance of a textbook as comprehensive as this one it is clear that the field of geriatrics is coming of age The broad scope of these volumes shapes a substantial answer to the question What is geriatrics and why should we be interested in it As I see it there are at least five reasons First the scientific or intellectual reason gerontology is the study of aging from the biologic psychological and social perspectives There is increasing interest in the fascinating insights into the biologic mechanisms of aging errors in protein synthesis DNA repair mechanisms alterations of the neuroendocrine system changes in the immune system genetic controls and somatic mutations Second the demographic reason this is the century of old age There has been a 26 year gain in the average life expectancy This gain compares with that acquired from 3 000 years B C the Bronze Age to the year 1900 which was about 29 years Therefore in one century there has been a gain in the average life expectancy almost equal to 5 000 previous years of human history In 1830 one of three newborn infants survived beyond 60 years of age
