Social Policy In The Middle East Political Economics And Gender Dynamics:

Social Policy in the Middle East Massoud Karshenas, Valentine M. Moghadam, 2006-01-20 This book provides political and economic perspectives on social policy and its evolution in countries of the Middle East and North Africa Chapters on Iran Turkey Egypt Algeria Morocco and Tunisia analyze its origins in populist or modernizing state activities its decline in the era of neoliberalism and prospects for its renewal in a democratizing and development context This book uniquely provides historical and comparative data and a gender analysis of social policy that will be of relevance to specialists in social policy development and the Middle East

Gender and Social Policy in a Global Context Shireen Hassim, 2006-04-27 This book illustrates why both academic research and policy thinking need to factor in gender hierarchies and structures if they are to address some of the key challenges of contemporary societies the widespread informality and insecurity of paid work and the crisis of care

Social Policy in the Middle East and North Africa Rana Jawad, Nicola Jones, Mahmood Messkoub, 2019 This book presents a state of the art in the developing field of social policy in the Middle East and North Africa MENA region It offers an up to date conceptual analysis of social policy programmes and discourses in the MENA region by critically reviewing the range of social insurance and social assistance schemes that are currently in existence there It also analyses and offers suggestions on which of these policies can positively impact the region s advancement in terms of human development and in addressing social and economic inequalities and exclusion

Political and Institutional Transition in North Africa Silvia Colombo, 2018-06-13 The year 2011 will go down in history as a turning point for the Arab world The popular unrest that swept across the region and led to the toppling of the Ben Ali Mubarak and Qaddhafi regimes in Tunisia Egypt and Libya has fundamentally altered the social economic and political outlooks of these countries and the region as a whole This book assesses the transition processes unleashed by the uprisings that took place in Egypt and Tunisia in 2011 The wave of unrest and popular mobilisation that swept through these countries is treated as the point of departure of long and complex processes of change manipulation restructuring and entrenchment of the institutional structures and logics that defined politics The book explores the constitutive elements of institutional development namely processes of constitution making electoral politics the changing status and power of the judiciary and the interplay between the civilian and the military apparatuses in Egypt and Tunisia It also considers the extent to which these two countries have become more democratic as a result of their institutions being more legitimate accountable and responsive at the beginning of 2014 and from a comparative perspective The impact of temporal factors in shaping transition paths is highlighted throughout the book The book provides a comprehensive assessment of political and institutional transition processes in two key countries in North Africa and its conclusions shed light on similar processes that have taken place throughout the region since 2011 It will be a valuable resource for anyone studying Middle Eastern and North African politics area studies comparative institutional development and democratisation

Social Policy in Sub-Saharan African Context J. Adésinà, 2007-07-12 This volume reviews Africa's past experiences of social policy with an eye on the future. Contributions examine a range of social policy issues around healthcare, education, the labour market, and social welfare, and highlight important conceptual and policy issues for rebuilding Africa.

Social Policy in Iran Pooya Alaedini, 2021-11-29. This book provides in-depth analyses of the main social policy components and institutions in Iran. Its focus is on the period since 1979, although many of the developments are inevitably traced back to their pre-revolutionary origins. The first part of the book investigates socioeconomic trends and institutional developments, including the significant role played by post-revolutionary para-governmental organizations in the delivery of social programs. The remaining chapters analyze the achievements and challenges of health, education, social insurance, housing, and employment policies, as well as the macroeconomics of poverty.

A Political Economy of the Middle East Melani Cammett, 2018-03-22. A Political Economy of the Middle East is the most comprehensive analysis of developments in the political economy of the region over the past several decades, examining the interaction of economic development processes, state systems, and policies, and social actors in the Middle East. The fourth edition, with new authors Melani Cammett and Ishac Diwan, has been thoroughly revised with two new introductory chapters that provide an updated framework with which to understand and study the many changes in demography, education, labor markets, urbanization, water, and agriculture, and international labor migration in the recent years. The new edition also includes a new chapter that charts the political economy of the Gulf states, and in particular the phenomenal growth of oil economies, a new chapter on the rise of crony capitalism, and increased coverage of the changes in civil society and social movements in the region, including an exploration of the causes, dynamics, consequences, and aftermath of the Arab uprisings.

Mineral Rents and the Financing of Social Policy Katja Hujo, 2012-05-30. An exploration of the implications of mineral-led wealth and the opportunities that this creates for economic and social development. The book includes theoretical and policy analyses, as well as micro-level country case studies, including Norway, Chile, Indonesia, Nigeria, and Botswana.

Social welfare and religion in the Middle East Rana Jawad, 2009-07-29. As religion continues to regain its centrality in both academic and policy circles around the world, this book presents a new framework which examines the complex social and political dynamics shaping social welfare in the Middle East. Based on an in-depth study of the major Muslim and Christian religious welfare organizations in Lebanon, including Hezbollah, and drawing upon supplementary research conducted in Iran, Egypt, and Turkey, the book argues that religion is providing sophisticated solutions to the major social and economic problems of the Middle East. It will be of use to students and academics of social policy, sociology, politics, and Middle Eastern studies.

Reconstructions in Middle East Economic History Don Babai, 2024-10-24. This volume explores major theoretical and empirical themes in the study of the economic history of the Middle East. Despite the relative neglect of economic history in Middle Eastern studies, this book makes a case for its importance as a discipline of study. On the one hand, it shows promise in illuminating the economic base of historical trends and events; on the other, it can elucidate the historical foundations of economic continuity and change The chapters employ an array of theoretical and methodological approaches and ultimately demonstrate how economics and history along with political economy complement each other in studying the Middle East Among the substantive topics explored are the trajectories of the Arab Spring institutional change and economic development in the early Ottoman Empire the destructive effects of the reordering property rights in Iraq by the American led occupation authority the evolution of the political economy of the Islamic Republic of Iran and the determinants of movements in the yields of Egyptian and Ottoman sovereign debt following political and economic crises in the 19th and early 20th centuries The book will be of interest to scholars and students of economic history political economy and the Middle East Building a House in Heaven Mona Atia,2013-11-01 Charity is an economic act This premise underlies a societal transformation the merging of religious and capitalist impulses that Mona Atia calls pious neoliberalism Though the phenomenon spans religious lines Atia makes the connection between Islam and capitalism to examine the surprising relations between charity and the economy the state and religion in the transition from Mubarak era Egypt Mapping the landscape of charity and development in Egypt Building a House in Heaven reveals the factors that changed the nature of Egyptian charitable practices the state s intervention in social care and religion an Islamic revival intensified economic pressures on the poor and the subsequent emergence of the private sector as a critical actor in development She shows how when individuals from Egypt s private sector felt it necessary to address poverty they sought to make Islamic charities work as engines of development a practice that changed the function of charity from distributing goods to empowering the poor Drawing on interviews with key players Atia explores the geography of Islamic charities through multiple neighborhoods ideologies sources of funding projects and wide social networks Her work shifts between absorbing ethnographic stories of specific organizations and reflections on the patterns that appear across the sector An enlightening look at the simultaneous neoliberalization of Islamic charity work and Islamization of neoliberal development the book also offers an insightful analysis of the political and socioeconomic movements leading up to the uprisings that ended Mubarak s rule and that amplified the importance of not only the Muslim Brotherhood but also the broader forces of Islamic piety and charity
