A Generational Divide? Age-related Aspects of Political Transformation in Post-crisis Southern Europe

Emmanouil Tsatsanis,Marco Lisi,André Freire,2022-09-29 This book examines the political consequences of the economic crisis in Southern Europe from the perspective of a widening intergenerational divide It focuses on the cases of Greece Italy Portugal and Spain to fill the gap in the literature by examining various age related rifts in post crisis Southern Europe Public discussion about the economic crisis of the late 2000s to mid 2010s in Southern Europe often refers to its impact on the region s younger citizens but not enough attention has been given to the political consequences of the crisis on the young The comparative studies in the volume cover various thematic areas such as electoral behaviour political culture democratic values forms of political engagement and political representation The overarching questions that the book attempts to answer are a to what extent and in what areas can one talk about an emergent generational divide in the region and b has the experience of the economic crisis been profound enough for young South Europeans to create a new crisis political generation Many of the answers offered point to tangible effects of the crisis but mostly in the sense of accentuating dynamics that already existed The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of South European Society and Politics To Amend the Older Americans Act of 1965, Hearings Before the Select Subcommittee on Education...,92-2, on H.R. 12017, 13925, 13451, and Related Bills... micro and macro level processes that have underpinned recent declines in old age family support in African societies and likely parameters of future familial support She also addresses more fundamental theoretical questions about how we should think about the relationships between intergenerational support norms and values and societal change Intergenerational Support in Africa should be of interest to anyone interested in the subjects of African studies economic policy and theory concerning elder care as well as those interested in sociology and social welfare development Sociology of Aging Diana K. The Routledge Handbook of Elections, Voting Behavior and Public Opinion Justin Fisher, Edward Fieldhouse, Mark N. Franklin, Rachel Gibson, Marta Cantijoch, Christopher Wlezien, 2017-09-22 The study of elections voting behavior and public opinion are arguably among the most prominent and intensively researched sub-fields within Political Science It is an evolving sub-field both in terms of theoretical focus and in particular technical developments and has made a considerable impact on popular understanding of the core components of liberal democracies in terms of electoral systems and outcomes changes in public opinion and the aggregation of interests This handbook details the key developments and state of the art research across elections voting behavior and the public opinion by providing both an advanced overview of each core area and engaging in debate about the relative merits of differing approaches in a comprehensive and accessible way Bringing geographical scope and depth with comparative chapters that draw on material from across the globe it will be a key reference point both for advanced level students and researchers developing knowledge and producing new material in these sub fields and beyond The Routledge Handbook of Elections Voting Behavior and Public Opinion is an authoritative and key reference text for students academics and researchers engaged in the study of electoral research public opinion and voting behavior Hearings United States. Congress. House. Committee on Education,1972 Social Dynamics of the Life Course Walter R. Heinz,Victor W. Marshall, In the last two decades research on the life course has successfully combined and integrated different and rather isolated fields of social concerns such as the labor market family solidarity education employment retirement and social policy It has also developed a special focus on crucial problems of sociological research which includes the understanding of micromacro phenomena the dynamics of social change and international comparisons Contributors to this volume take an international comparative approach in applying the life course theoretical framework to issues of work and career Life course research focuses on the relationship between institutions and individuals across the life span and illuminates the impact of modernization on the shaping of biographies Industrial service societies are characterized by historically new contingencies of living arrangements and biographies These contingencies differ according to the extent to which life course patterns are regulated by social institutions In the continental European context institutional frameworks continue to define the timing and sequencing of transitions across the life course In less regulated market societies like the United States and Great Britain biographies and living arrangements are shaped more by the interaction of markets social networks and individual decisions In active welfare states institutional resources and rules continue to mediate the effects of social change on the life course What the editors and contributors to this fine compendium anticipate is a change on the cultural level toward more equality This trend supports young people and women in particular in their expectations concerning an egalitarian relationship This expectation is not taken for granted from the point of view of the male partner but has to be negotiated in decisionmaking processes as an issue that concerns the couple as a unit Thus the way in which people interact is profoundly impacted by the values and goals of equity demands Walter R Heinz is professor of sociology and social psychology and director Graduate School of Social Sciences University of Bremen Victor W Marshall is professor of sociology and director of the Institute on Aging University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill Carolina Hearings, Reports, Public Laws United States.
