Sociohistorical Precursors Of Economic Rationalis:

Leadership for School Improvement in the Caribbean Austin Ezenne, 2010-06-01 The chapters in this book should stimulate the reader not only to think about the kind of leadership that is needed to improve schools in the Caribbean using schools in the widest sense to range from early childhood to higher education institutions but also other forms of support The book deals in detail with issues of leadership At the theoretical level there is exploration of appropriate models of leadership in the effort to create effective schools At the practical level the importance of the principal's role is explored This book is very timely and should prove informative not only to current and prospective leaders but also to students and scholars both locally and internationally with an interest in Caribbean education The chapters are written in a sufficiently user friendly style to be of interest also to the general public who want to see the process of transformation realised in our education systems

Socio-Historical Precursors of Economic Rationalism in Australian Education Beatrice Boufof-Bastick, 2003 This is a scholarly work of interest to teacher trainers and trainees to sociology and history lecturers and to students of educational and social policies in former British colonies It provides a concise overview of two hundred years of colonial and post colonial education and simply captures and reports the major socio economic features which have spurred educational changes since the establishment of state education in Australia An important aspect of Dr Boufof Bastick's work is that it brings to light some simplifying principles for integrating salient socio historical changes for the investigation of current and future changes in education
