

Spiders

Spiders often enjoy a less than good reputation. The usual human reaction to them is one of fear and anxiety, probably due to their large, dark and hairy bodies being like spiders we encounter most often. However, the spiders found in the UK are fascinating, complex creatures and deserve a better look.

Some of our most common spiders are found in our gardens, while the hairy tarantulas are found in the caves of the Pennines. Others, such as the black and white spider, are found in the garden, while the hairy tarantulas are found in the caves of the Pennines. The hairy tarantulas are found in the caves of the Pennines.
