Spinster of This Parish (Classic Reprint) W. B. Maxwell, 2015-07-07 Excerpt from Spinster of This Parish It had been an odd impulse that made little Mildred Parker seek counsel and advice or at least sympathy from Miss Verinder in the first great crisis of her young life The imperious necessity of opening her heart to somebody had of course lain behind the impulse and Miss Verinder although really only an acquaintance of Mildred's parents had been unusually kind and friendly to Mildred herself but now sitting in the drawing room of Miss Verinder's flat listening to Miss Verinder's pleasant emotionless voice watching

Miss Verinder with methodic care put away small odds and ends in an antique bureau she felt the huge incongruity that there would be in speaking of love to an old maid of fifty I won't be a minute said Miss Verinder I am not in the least hurry said Mildred quite untruthfully Waiting and watching she thought that fifty years of age is nothing nowadays if you are not an old maid and if you decorate yourself properly Some women of fifty are still dangerously attractive they act leading parts on the stage they appear in divorce cases they marry their third husbands About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works Spinster of this Parish Laura Conway,1966 Spinster of the Parish W.
