the Second World War the campaign in Italy was the most destructive fought in Europe a long bitter and highly attritional conflict that raged up the country's mountainous leg. For frontline troops casualty rates at Cassino and along the notorious Gothic Line were as high as they had been on the Western Front in the First World War. There were further similarities too: blasted landscapes, rain and mud, and months on end with the front line barely moving. And while the Allies and Germans were fighting it out through the mountains, the Italians were engaging in bitter battles too. Partisans were carrying out a crippling resistance campaign against the German troops but also battling the Fascists' forces as well, in what soon became a bloody civil war. Around them innocent civilians tried to live through the carnage, terror and anarchy while in the wake of the Allied advance, horrific numbers of impoverished and starving people were left to pick their way through the ruins of their homes and country. In the German-occupied north, there were more than 700 civilian massacres by German and Fascist troops in retaliation for Partisan activities, while in the south many found themselves forced into making terrible and heart-rending decisions in order to survive. Although known as a land of beauty and for the richness of its culture, Italy's suffering in 1944-1945 is now largely forgotten. Italy's Sorrow by James Holland is the first account of the conflict there to tell the story from all sides and to include the experiences of soldiers and civilians alike. Offering extensive original research, it weaves together the drama and tragedy of that terrible year, including new perspectives and material on some of the most debated episodes to have emerged from World War II.

Luftwaffe Aerial Torpedo Aircraft and Operations in World War Two Harold Thiele, 2004. This fascinating book offers a rare account into the operations of the Luftwaffe's aerial torpedo units during World War II. Often overlooked, the crews who flew in these units were highly trained and experienced, and their missions involved hazardous flying against difficult and well-defended maritime targets. Harold Thiele has researched this field for many years. Before providing a detailed diary of Luftwaffe torpedo operations, he explores the origins of the aerial torpedo and offers a comparative study of its development in Germany, Britain, the USA, Italy, and Japan from World War I until the outbreak of World War II. The body of the book comprises a detailed chronological diary of operations mounted off the English coast, in the Atlantic, the Mediterranean off North Africa, and in the Black Sea, by the Ju 88s, He 111s, He 177s, and Ar 95s etc. of Luftwaffe's torpedo units such as KG 26, KG 77, and the various floatplane-equipped Staffeln, which also undertook such operations. Supplemented by color artwork, target listings, aircraft and torpedo types, units, and all ships known to have been sunk or damaged by aerial torpedo attack, this work will be an indispensable reference for modelers, researchers,
