S. Johnson - Zulfikar Ghose Correspondence Vanessa Guignery,2015-04-01 From 1959 to 1973 the writers B S Johnson and Zulfikar Ghose regularly wrote letters to each other in which they discussed their own work and literary preoccupations They exchanged early drafts of poems short stories plays and novels and their correspondence contains detailed comments and extended analyses of these texts as well as illuminating reflections on literature criticism poetics and aesthetics Though much of the correspondence is an extended literary discussion it also contains moments of personal revelation jokes and anecdotes so that the letters with their surprising asides are enjoyable to read even as they inform with their biographical and intellectual content The two authors also frequently refer to the university poetry journals and literary magazines they contributed to or edited and they write about the poetry meetings they attended and the writers they met or read Their involvement in literary groups and their dealings with publishers editors and agents are indicative of the publishing mechanisms of the time This correspondence thus not only provides insight into the work of both B S Johnson and Zulfikar Ghose but also conjures up a comprehensive picture of the London literary world of the 1960s South Asian Novelists in English Jaina C. Sanga,2003-03-30 With the publication of Salman Rushdie s Booker Prize winning novel Midnight s Children R in 1981 followed by the unprecedented popularity of his subsequent works the cinematic adaptation of Michael Ondaatje s The English Patient R many other best sellers written by South Asian novelists writing in English have gained a tremendous following This reference is a guide to their lives and writings The volume focuses on novelists born in South Asia who have written and continue to write about issues concerning that region. Some of the novelists have published widely while others are only beginning their literary careers. The volume includes alphabetically arranged entries on more than 50 South Asian novelists. Each entry is written by an expert contributor and includes a biography, a discussion of major works and themes, a summary of the novelist's critical reception, and primary and secondary bibliographies. Since many of the contributors are personally acquainted with the novelists, they are able to offer significant insights. The volume closes with a selected bibliography of studies of the South Asian novel in English, along with a list of anthologies and periodicals.

The Encyclopedia of Twentieth-Century Fiction, 3 Volume Set Brian W. Shaffer, 2011-01-18. This Encyclopedia offers an indispensable reference guide to twentieth-century fiction in the English language. With nearly 500 contributors and over one million words, it is the most comprehensive and authoritative reference guide to twentieth-century fiction in the English language. Contains over 500 entries of 1000-3000 words written in lucid, jargon-free prose by an international cast of leading scholars. Arranged in three volumes covering British and Irish Fiction, American Fiction, and World Fiction, with each volume edited by a leading scholar in the field. Entries cover major writers such as Saul Bellow, Raymond Chandler, John Steinbeck, Virginia Woolf, A.S. Byatt, Samuel Beckett, D.H. Lawrence, Zadie Smith, Salman Rushdie, V.S. Naipaul, Nadine Gordimer, Alice Munro, Chinua Achebe, J.M. Coetzee, and Ngũgĩ Wa Thiong'o and their key works. Examines the genres and sub-genres of fiction in English across the twentieth century, including crime fiction, Sci-Fi, chick lit, the noir novel, and the avant-garde novel, as well as the major movements, debates, and rubrics within the field, such as censorship, globalization, modernist fiction, and the film industry, and the fiction of migration, diaspora, and exile.

Zulfikar Ghose Mansoor Abbasi, 2015-06-18. In 1963 Zulfikar Ghose received a special award from the E.C. Gregory Trust that was judged by T.S. Eliot, Henry Moore, Herbert Read, and Bonamy Dobrée. A year earlier, in an issue devoted to the newly emerging Commonwealth literature, the Times Literary Supplement featured Zulfikar Ghose as the most prominent poet from the former British colonies by conspicuously printing three of his poems spread across half a page. By the time he was featured in The Review of Contemporary Fiction, Ghose had been accorded major status as a writer of international repute. The editors of The Review of Contemporary Fiction noted that Zulfikar Ghose has both ranked with and outranked several of the best English language writers in England and America and went on to present him as a unique figure in contemporary literature whose evolution across languages and national boundaries was comparable to Conrad, Nabokov, and Beckett. In spite of receiving such notable attention, Ghose has remained a marginal presence and, in fact, an untouchable among writers accorded a world-class status. Of the several reasons suggested for Ghose's marginalization by scholars of world literature and post-colonial studies, the most significant one is that his oeuvre resists categorisation. For Ghose, to use Proust's phrases, quality of language and the beauty of an image are the heart of great writing. Ghose's work is full of meditative reverberations and has a fastidious style that scintillates the reader's mind with its brilliance. His genius lies in the construction of a language that is lyrical and full of vivid imagery. He captures the images of his native Punjab as well as the South American landscape and imbues the air with the fragrance of Amazon rainforest while his prose sends a shiver between the shoulder blades In his experimentation with form he makes it new to use Pound's phrase His literary journey from the imitation of nineteenth century realism to his most experimental and ambitious works like Hulme's Investigations into the Bogart Script and The Triple Mirror of the Self reflects his wide range of experimentation with form and style This book investigates the structural patterns in the novels of Zulfikar Ghose that give each of his works its peculiar aesthetic design While on the one hand this work notes his role as a pioneer among South Asian writers of the post colonial era on the other hand his novels are examined in the critical framework erected by the writer himself with its emphasis on style that is the central concern of this study

Cultures in Movement Martine Raibaud, Ionut Untea, Micéala Symington, 2015-02-05 The contributors to this volume encourage a re thinking of the very notion of culture by examining the experiences situations and the representations of those who chose or were forced to change cultures from the nineteenth century to the present day Beyond a simple study of migration forced or otherwise this collective work also re examines the model of integration As recent entrants into new social settings may be perceived as affecting the previously accepted social equilibrium mechanisms encouraging or inhibiting population flows are sometimes put in place From this perspective integration may become less a matter of internal choice than an external obligation imposed by the dominant political power in which case integration may only be a euphemism for cultural uniformity The strategies of cultural survival developed as a reaction to such a rising tide of cultural uniformity can be seen as necessary points of departure for an ever growing shared multiculturalism A long term voluntary commitment to make cultural boundaries more flexible and allow a more engaged individual participation in the process of defining the self and finding its place within a culture in movement may represent a key element for cultural cohesion in a globalized world

Encyclopedia of Post-Colonial Literatures in English Eugene Benson, 2004-11-30 Documents the history and development of Post colonial literatures in English together with English and American literature and includes original research relating to the literatures of some 50 countries and territories In more than 1 600 entries written by more than 600 internationally recognized scholars it explores the effect of the colonial and post colonial experience on literatures in English worldwide
