Norbert Elias's African Processes of Civilisation Dieter Reicher, Adrian Jitschin, Arjan Post, Behrouz Alikhani, 2023-01-11 In 1962 Norbert Elias was invited as a temporary professor at the University of Ghana in Legon Accra He taught employed fieldwork travelled and met many people in postcolonial Africa When Elias left Ghana in 1964 he had laid the basic groundwork for a fundamental sociological argument on human societies The volume on hand is a selection of his unpublished writings based on these experiences Together they touch upon not only the well known criticism of Eurocentrism and a developmental perspective but also what could be considered the core of Elias's work the concept of civilisation In a foreword Dieter Reicher and Adrian Jitschin have endeavoured to explain and break down the relations of Elias's African experience to the rest of his work and biography They also clarified some misleading interpretations of Elias's time in Africa Finally Arjan Post has uncovered the previously unknown fascinating story of Elias's encounter with Malcolm X in an epilogue The History of Ghana Roger S. Gocking, 2005-06-30 Gocking provides a historical overview of Ghana from the emergence of precolonial states through increasing contact with Europeans that led to the establishment of formal colonial rule by Great Britain at the end of the 19th century Colonial rule transformed what was known as the Gold Coast economically socially and politically but it contained the seeds of its own demise After World War II an increasingly more effective nationalist movement challenged British rule and in 1957 Ghana became independent Independence brought its own challenges the most important of which was the inability to maintain political stability Within the space of 24 years there were four military coups and the collapse of three republics Ghana's Fourth Republic established in 1993 has dealt with the legacy of instability inherited from the past as it moves towards a more stable future A timeline photographs maps and an appendix of biographies of notable figures in the history of Ghana are included Students and adults alike will find this book to

The Trouble with Empire Antoinette M. Burton, 2015 While imperial blockbusters fly off the shelves there is no comprehensive history dedicated to resistance in the 19th and 20th century British Empire The Trouble with Empire is the first volume to fill this gap offering a brief but thorough introduction to the nature and consequences of resistance to British imperialism Historian Antoinette Burton's study spans the 19th and 20th centuries when discontented subjects of empire made their unhappiness felt from Ireland to Canada to India to Africa to Australasia in direct response to incursions of military might and imperial capitalism The Trouble with Empire offers the first thoroughgoing account of what British imperialism looked like from below and of how tenuous its hold on alien populations was throughout its long unstable life By taking the long view moving across a variety of geopolitical sites and spanning the whole of the period 1840 1955 Burton examines the commonalities between different forms of resistance and unveils the structural weaknesses of the British Empire

Africa and the Africans in the Nineteenth Century: A Turbulent History Catherine Coquery-Vidrovitch, Mary Baker, 2015-02-12 Most histories seek to understand modern Africa as a troubled outcome of nineteenth century European colonialism but that is only a small part of the story In this celebrated book beautifully translated from the French edition the history of Africa in the nineteenth century unfolds from the perspective of Africans themselves rather than the European powers It was above all a time of tremendous internal change on the African continent Great jihads of Muslim conquest and conversion swept over West Africa In the interior warlords competed to control the internal slave trade In the east the sultanate of Zanzibar extended its reach via coastal and interior trade routes In the north Egypt began to modernize while Algeria was colonized In the south a series of forced migrations accelerated spurred by the progression of white settlement Through much of the century African societies assimilated and adapted to the changes generated by these diverse forces In the end the West's technological advantage prevailed and most of Africa fell under European control and lost its independence Yet only by taking into account the rich complexity of this tumultuous past can we fully understand modern Africa from the colonial period to independence and the difficulties of today

Boundaries of Self and Other in Ghanaian Popular Culture Joseph K. Adjaye, 2004-03-31 Rituals are among the most enduring aspects of the African cultural landscape They appear to exist outside of time eternal and unchanging Joseph Adjaye argues that while rituals may seem to be static in reality they are dynamic and changing Through intense analysis of child naming ceremonies libations puberty initiation rights funerals and two major Ghanaian festivals Adjaye explores the interplay between ritual and audience interaction and participation By so doing he shows the many ways rituals have provided Ghanaians with a means to conceptualize and change their present and shape their future In other words rituals help individuals escape the boundaries of self by promoting a sense of collective purpose and agency This book will appeal to not only Africanists but to readers interested in the roles rituals play in their own lives and the ways that rituals encourage socially transforming initiatives

Identity in the Shadow of Slavery Paul E. Lovejoy, 2000-09-13 Addresses issues relating to the gender ethnic and cultural factors through which enslaved Africans and their descendents interpreted their lives under slavery thereby creating communities with a shared sense of identity The focus of the book is on the ways in which identities were formulated under slavery and the ways in which the struggle to escape slavery and its legacy continued to affect the lives of descendents of slaves The introductory essay explores an approach to the study of the African diaspora that looks outward from Africa and places the following chapters written by leading authorities from Europe and North and South America in the context of the theoretical literature

The Migrant Cocoa-farmers of Southern Ghana Polly Hill, 1997 The economic and social organisation of Ghanaian cocoa farming is very complex reflecting differences in population density land tenure accessibility soil fertility and other factors The small peasant with his two or three acre farms is one type of farmer and it has always been supposed that it was he who created the world's largest cocoa growing industry The migration of southern Ghanaian cocoa farmers which has been proceeding since the 1890s was not known to have occurred and this study shows that it was the migrant not the peasant who was the real innovator This migrant has scarcely been mentioned in the literature Author Polly Hill now gives a full account of his migration one of the great events in the recent economic history of Africa south of the Sahara The migrant farmer who rather resembles a capitalist than a peasant buys land or inherits it from those who bought before him and conventionally uses the proceeds from one cocoa land to purchase others It is now possible with the aid of farm maps to study the whole migratory process with its changing pattern of land ownership over more than half a century The results are revealing The conventional notion that it was only recently that West Africans began to engage in large scale economic enterprises is shown to be false One of the main contentions of this book is that the migrant farmer has been remarkably responsive to economic ends It is further shown that there is no incompatibility between this kind of enterprise and the continuance of traditional forms of social organisation nor is there evidence that the enterprising individual found himself hampered by the demands made on him by members of his lineage In analysing and recording the details of the migratory process Dr Hill has made an important contribution to the economic history of West Africa Besides the economists and economic historians for whom the book is primarily intended it should be studied by lawyers geographers social anthropologists and all concerned with problems of underdevelopment

Commerce and Economic Change in West Africa Martin Lynn, 2002-05-02 An authoritative and comprehensive study of the palm oil trade      Africa, Empire and World Disorder A. G. Hopkins, 2020-09-24 This volume brings together important articles from the Cambridge historian A G Hopkins and reflect the enlargement and evolution of historical studies during the last half century The essays cover four of the principal historiographical developments of the period the extraordinary revolution that has led to the writing of non Western indigenous history the revitalization of new types of imperial history the now ubiquitous engagement with global history including a reinterpretation of American Empire and the current revival of economic history after several decades of neglect      From Slave Trade to 'Legitimate' Commerce Robin Law, 2002-08-08

This edited collection written by eleven leading specialists examines the nineteenth century commercial transition in West Africa the ending of the Atlantic slave trade and the development of alternative forms of legitimate trade mainly in vegetable products Approaching the subject from an African rather than a European or American perspective the case studies consider the effects of transition on the African societies involved They offer significant insights into the history of pre colonial Africa and the slave trade the origins of European imperialism and longer term issues of economic development in Africa

Commercial Transitions and Abolition in West Africa 1630-1860 Angus E. Dalrymple-Smith, 2019-12-09 Commercial Transitions and Abolition in West Africa 1630 1860 offers a fresh perspective on why in the nineteenth century the most important West African states and merchants who traded with Atlantic markets became exporters of commodities instead of exporters of slaves This study takes a long term comparative approach and makes use of new quantitative data It argues that the timing and nature of the change from slave exports to so called legitimate commerce in the Gold Coast the Bight of Biafra and the Bight of Benin can be predicted by patterns of trade established in previous centuries by a range of African and European actors responding to the changing political and economic environments of the Atlantic world
