Margaret Atwood and the Female Bildungsroman Ellen McWilliams, 2017-03-02 Examining Margaret Atwood's work in the context of the complex history of the Bildungsroman Ellen McWilliams explores how the genre has been appropriated by women writers in the second half of the twentieth century She demonstrates that Atwood's early work her own coming of age fiction including unpublished works as well as The Edible Woman Surfacing and Lady Oracle both engages with and works against the paradigms of identity which are traditionally associated with the genre Making extensive use of unpublished manuscripts in the Atwood Collection at the University of Toronto McWilliams uncovers influences that shaped Atwood's fashioning of identity in her early novels paying particular attention to Atwood's preoccupation with survival as a key symbol of Canadian literature culture and identity She also considers the genre's afterlife on display in Cat's Eye The Robber Bride Alias Grace The Blind Assassin and Moral Disorder in which the formulations of selfhood and identity in Atwood's early fiction are revisited and developed Atwood emerges as a writer who self consciously invokes and then undercuts the traditions of the Bildungsroman a turn that may be read as a means of at once interrogating and perpetuating the form McWilliams's book furthers our understanding of subjectivity in Atwood's fiction and contributes to ongoing conversations about the role gender and cultural contexts play in reframing generic boundaries      Moral Disorder: A Story Margaret Atwood, 2014-07-29 The author of such towering novels as The Handmaid's Tale The Blind Assassin and Oryx and Crake Margaret Atwood creates worlds just as vividly in her short fiction In the title story from her acclaimed collection of linked stories Moral Disorder Margaret Atwood takes us to the farm Newly arrived city slickers like Nell and Tig shouldn't have animals a notion corroborated by the true farmers down the road for them livestock would mean dead stock But Tig's two boys will be at the farm on weekends and it would be good for them to know where their food comes from First come the chickens then the ducks before Nell knows it the cows have arrived too And soon Nell finds herself becoming a different woman than she ever thought she might be The New York Times notes that The tremendous imaginative power of Atwood's fiction allows us to believe that anything is possible this applies as much to her fantastically imagined worlds as it does to the life of a family in the countryside An eBook short      The English Short Story in Canada Reingard M. Nischik, 2017-04-11 In 2013 the Nobel Prize for Literature was for the first time awarded to a short story writer and to a Canadian Alice Munro The award focused international attention on a genre that had long been thriving in Canada particularly since the 1960s This book traces the development and highlights of the English language Canadian short story from the late 19th century up to the present The history as well as the theoretical approaches to the genre are covered with in depth examination of exemplary stories by prominent writers such as Margaret Atwood and Alice Munro      Engendering Genre Reingard M. Nischik, 2010-10-27 Winner of the 2010 Margaret Atwood Society Best Book Prize In Engendering Genre renowned Margaret Atwood scholar Reingard M Nischik analyzes the relationship between gender and genre in Atwood's works. She approaches Atwood's oeuvre by genre: poetry, short fiction, novels, criticism, comics, and film, and examines them individually. She explores how Atwood has developed her genres to be gender sensitive in both content and form, and argues that gender and genre are inherently complicit in Atwood's work; they converge to critique the gender-biased designs of traditional genres. This combination of gender and genre results in the recognizable Atwoodian style that shakes and extends the boundaries of conventional genres and explores them in new ways. The book includes the first in-depth treatment of Atwood's cartoon art, as well as the first survey of her involvement with film, and concludes with an interview with Margaret Atwood on her career.

From Survivalwoman to Literary Icon: Margaret Atwood Reingard M. Nischik, 2000. Novelist, poet, cultural critic. Margaret Atwood is one of the most fascinating, versatile, and productive authors of our time. A superb writer in any genre, she chooses to tackle this book was prepared on the occasion of Atwood's sixtieth birthday in November 1999. Its first aim is therefore to take stock of Atwood's multifarious works and international impact at the height of her creative powers. Secondly, the book serves as a wide-ranging introduction to the writer and her works. Fifteen informative articles, written specifically for this volume by Atwood specialists from Canada, the USA, the UK, Germany, and France, treat her life and status, her works up to date, survey articles on Atwood's novels, short fiction, poetry, and literary and cultural criticism, and important approaches to her works from the standpoints of gender, politics, mythology, ecology, popular culture, constructivism, and Canadian nationalism. A final section on creativity, transmission, and reception includes an interview with Atwood on creativity, statements by some of Atwood's important transmitters including publishers, editors, literary agents, and translators, and some 15 statements by Atwood's fellow writers in which they explore her importance for them. A number of photographs of Atwood, several cartoons drawn by her, an up-to-date bibliography of works by and about Atwood, and an index round out the volume.

Reingard M Nischik is Professor of American literature at the University of Konstanz, Germany.

The Daughter's Way Tanis MacDonald, 2012-09-01. The Daughter's Way investigates negotiations of female subjectivity in twentieth-century Canadian women's elegies, with a special emphasis on the father's death as a literary and political watershed. The book examines the work of Dorothy Livesay, P. K. Page, Jay Macpherson, Margaret Atwood, Kristjana Gunnars, Lola Lemire Tostevin, Anne Carson, and Erin Mour, as elegiac daughteronomies, literary artifacts of mourning that grow from the poet's investigation into the function and limitations of elegiac convention. Some poets treat the father as a metaphor for socio-political power, while others explore more personal iterations of loss, but all the poets in The Daughter's Way seek to redefine daughterly duty in a contemporary context by challenging elegiac tradition through questions of genre and gender. Beginning with psychoanalytical theories of filiation, inheritance, and mourning, as they are complicated by feminist challenges to theories of kinship and citizenship, The Daughter's Way debates the efficacy of the literary work of mourning in twentieth-century Canadian poetry. By investigating the way a daughter's filial piety performs and sometimes reconfigures such work, and situating melancholia as a creative force in women's elegies the book considers how elegies inquire into the rhetoric of mourning as it is complicated by father daughter kinship

Moral Disorder Margaret Atwood, 2010-12-17 Atwood triumphs with these dazzling personal stories in her first collection since Wilderness Tips In these ten interrelated stories Atwood traces the course of a life and also the lives intertwined with it while evoking the drama and the humour that colour common experiences the birth of a baby divorce and remarriage old age and death With settings ranging from Toronto northern Quebec and rural Ontario the stories begin in the present as a couple no longer young situate themselves in a larger world no longer safe Then the narrative goes back in time to the forties and moves chronologically forward toward the present In The Art of Cooking and Serving the twelve year old narrator does her best to accommodate the arrival of a baby sister After she boldly declares her independence we follow the narrator into young adulthood and then through a complex relationship In The Entities the story of two women haunted by the past unfolds The magnificent last two stories reveal the heartbreaking old age of parents but circle back again to childhood to complete the cycle By turns funny lyrical incisive tragic earthy shocking and deeply personal Moral Disorder displays Atwood's celebrated storytelling gifts and unmistakable style to their best advantage This is vintage Atwood writing at the height of her powers

Canada and the Idea of North Sherrill E Grace, 2002-04-15 Canada and the Idea of North examines the ways in which Canadians have defined themselves as a northern people in their literature art music drama history geography politics and popular culture From the Franklin Mystery to the comic book superheroine Nelvana Glenn Gould's documentaries the paintings of Lawren Harris and Molson beer ads the idea of the north has been central to the Canadian imagination Sherrill Grace argues that Canadians have always used ideas of Canada as North to promote a distinct national identity and national unity In a penultimate chapter The North Writes Back Grace presents newly emerging northern voices and shows how they view the long tradition of representing the North by southern activists artists and scholars With the recent creation of Nunavut increasing concern about northern ecosystems and social challenges and renewed attention to Canada's role as a circumpolar nation Canada and the Idea of North shows that nordicity still plays an urgent and central role in Canada at the start of the twenty first century

Literary Culture and Female Authorship in Canada 1760-2000 Faye Hammill, 2021-10-18 There are two ladies in the province I am told who read writes Frances Brooke's Arabella Fermor but both are above fifty and are regarded as prodigies of erudition Brooke's The History of Emily Montague 1769 was the first work of fiction to be set in Canada and also the first book to reflect on the situation of the woman writer there Her analysis of the experience of writing in Canada is continued by the five other writers considered in this study Susanna Moodie Sara Jeannette Duncan L M Montgomery Margaret Atwood and Carol Shields All of these authors examine the social position of the woman of letters in Canada the intellectual stimulation available to her the literary possibilities of Canadian subject matter and the practical aspects of reading writing and publishing in a post colonial country This book turns on the ways in which those aspects of authorship and literary culture in Canada have been inscribed in imaginative autobiographical and critical texts by the six authors. It traces the evolving situation of the Canadian woman writer over the course of two centuries and explores the impact of social and cultural change on the experience of writing in Canada. Margaret Atwood's Apocalypses Karma

Waltonen, 2015-01-12 Margaret Atwood's Apocalypses features essays by established and new Atwood scholars on Atwood's poetry The Handmaid's Tale and the famous MaddAddam trilogy. Readers will encounter ways to trace the theme of apocalypse through decades of Atwood's work and lenses through which to view various fictional apocalypses including disability studies, theology, and ecofeminism. Maps of Difference Wendy Roy, 2005-05-12 Roy considers the connections

Jameson makes between feminism and anti-racism in Winter Studies and Summer Rambles in Canada 1838. Hubbard's insights in A Woman's Way Through Unknown Labrador 1908 into her relationship with First Nations men who had both more and less power than she and Laurence's awareness of colonial and patriarchal oppression in her African memoir The Prophet's Camel Bell 1963. Roy also examines archival and First Nations accounts of these women's travels and the sketches, photos, and maps that accompany their writing to examine contradictions in and question the implied objectivity of travel narratives. She concludes by looking at the myth of getting there first and the ways in which new technologies of representation, including cameras, allow travellers and writers to claim new travel firsts. Using Literature to Teach English as a Second Language Membrive, Veronica, Armie, Madalina, 2020-05-22 Innovation has replaced stereotypical and old methods as an attempt to make English language teaching and learning appealing, effective, and simple. However, teaching a second language through literature may be a paramount tool to consolidate not only students' lexical and grammatical competences but also for the development of their cultural awareness and broadening of their knowledge through interaction and collaboration that foster collective learning. Despite past difficulties, literature's position in relation to language teaching can be re-validated and revalued. Using Literature to Teach English as a Second Language is an essential research publication that exposes the current state of this methodological approach and observes its reverberations, usefulness, strengths, and weaknesses when used in a classroom where English is taught as a second language. In this way, this book will provide updated tools to explore teaching and learning through the most creative and enriching manifestations of one language: literature. Featuring a range of topics such as diversity, language learning, and plurilingualism, this book is ideal for academicians, curriculum designers, administrators, education professionals, researchers, and students. Margaret Atwood
