The Labyrinths Of Literary:

The Labyrinth Harold Bloom, Blake Hobby, 2009 In literature labyrinths can represent many things complication and difficulty interconnectedness creativity and even literature itself This new title discusses the role of the labyrinth in The Garden of Forking Paths Great Expectations Ulysses and many others The Labyrinth unravels this theme for literature students through 19 critical essays Labyrinths Jorge Luis Borges, 1964 Forty short stories and essays have been selected as representative of the Argentine writer's metaphysical narratives The Maze in the Mind and the World Donald Gutierrez, 1985 These essays probe the labyrinth as a metaphor for the acute sense of loss disorientation and alienation in a selection of 20th century writers such as James Joyce and Lawrence Bloom's Literary Themes ,The Labyrinth ,2020

Deep into the Labyrinths in the Novels by Louise Welsh Eduardo García, 2016-01-14 Deep into the Labyrinths in the Novels by Louise Welsh is the first book to focus on the novels of Louise Welsh one of the most acclaimed and interesting narrative voices in contemporary Scottish Literature It explores the use of the image of the labyrinth as one of the sites for horror in classic Gothic literature and its rewriting into a contemporary gothic labyrinth in 21st century Scotland and by extension in the European context that co exists with various other queer and intertextual labyrinths that complement and complicate it This book analyses how Louise Welsh's novels present different labyrinths that characters traverse and get lost in and by the same process with which readers also become engaged In both cases characters and readers discover that the labyrinthine understanding of reality becomes more real than any other official version of reality Each chapter of the book explores particular examples of these labyrinths even though they are not linear they tend to intermingle and intertwine

The Idea of the Labyrinth from Classical Antiquity through the Middle Ages Penelope Reed Doob, 2019-03-15 Ancient and medieval labyrinths embody paradox according to Penelope Reed Doob Their structure allows a double perspective the baffling fragmented prospect confronting the maze treader within and the comprehensive vision available to those without Mazes simultaneously assert order and chaos artistry and confusion articulated clarity and bewildering complexity perfected pattern and hesitant process In this handsomely illustrated book Doob reconstructs from a variety of literary and visual sources the idea of the labyrinth from the classical period through the Middle Ages Doob first examines several complementary traditions of the maze topos showing how ancient historical and geographical writings generate metaphors in which the labyrinth signifies admirable complexity while poetic texts tend to suggest that the labyrinth is a sign of moral duplicity She then describes two common models of the labyrinth and explores their formal implications the unicursal model with no false turnings found almost universally in the visual arts and the multicursal model with blind alleys and dead ends characteristic of literary texts This paradigmatic clash between the labyrinths of art and of literature becomes a key to the metaphorical potential of the maze as Doob's examination of a vast array of materials from the classical period through the Middle Ages suggests She concludes with linked readings of four labyrinths of words Virgil's Aeneid Boethius

Consolation of Philosophy Dante's Divine Comedy and Chaucer's House of Fame each of which plays with and transforms received ideas of the labyrinth as well as reflecting and responding to aspects of the texts that influenced it Doob not only provides fresh theoretical and historical perspectives on the labyrinth tradition but also portrays a complex medieval aesthetic that helps us to approach structurally elaborate early works Readers in such fields as Classical literature Medieval Studies Renaissance Studies comparative literature literary theory art history and intellectual history will welcome this wide ranging and illuminating book

Labyrinths Jorge Luis Borges, 1972 Readers are invited to take a new look at Labyrinths the classic by Latin America's finest writer of the 20th century a true literary sensation with a new introduction by cyber author William Gibson

Literary Labyrinths in Franco-Era Barcelona Colleen P. Culleton, 2016-07-22 Bringing together works by Salvador Espriu Juan Goytisolo Merc Rodoreda Esther Tusquets and Juan Marsa that portray memory as a disorienting narrative enterprise Colleen Culleton argues that the source of this disorientation is the material reality of life in Barcelona in the immediate post Civil War years Barcelona was the object of harsh persecution in the first years of the Franco regime that included the erasure of marks of Catalan identity and cultural history from the urban landscape and made Barcelona a moving target for memory The literature and film she examines show characters struggling to produce narratives of the remembered past that immediately conflict with the dominant version of Spain's historical narrative formulated to legitimize the Civil War Culleton suggests the trope of the laberinto used as an image or device in all five of the works she considers and translated into English as both maze and labyrinth opens up a space that enables readers to take vulnerability to outside interference into account as an inseparable part of remembrance While the narratives all have maze like qualities involving a high level of reader participation and choice the exigencies of the labyrinth with its unicursal demands for patience perseverance and faith always prevail Thus do the Francoist narrative and social structure in the end resurface and reassert themselves over the narrating character's perspective

informa company The Palgrave Handbook to Horror Literature Kevin Corstorphine, Laura R. Kremmel, 2018-11-07 This handbook examines the use of horror in storytelling from oral traditions through folklore and fairy tales to contemporary horror fiction. Divided into sections that explore the origins and evolution of horror fiction, the recurrent themes that can be seen in horror, and ways of understanding horror through literary and cultural theory, the text analyses why horror is so compelling and how we should interpret its presence in literature. Chapters explore historical horror aspects including ancient mythology, medieval writing, drama, chapbooks, the Gothic novel, and literary Modernism, and trace themes such as vampires, children, and animals in horror, deep dark forests, labyrinths, disability, and imperialism. Considering horror via postmodern theory, evolutionary psychology, postcolonial theory, and New Materialism, this handbook investigates issues of gender and sexuality, race, censorship, and morality, environmental studies, and literary versus popular fiction. Gender and the Garden in Early Modern English Literature Jennifer Munroe, 2017-03-02 Radical reconfigurations in gardening practice in sixteenth and seventeenth century England altered the social function of the garden, offering men and women new opportunities for social mobility. While recent work has addressed how middle class men used the garden to attain this mobility, the gendering of the garden during the period has gone largely unexamined. This new study focuses on the developing gendered tension in gardening that stemmed from a shift from the garden as a means of feeding a family to the garden as an aesthetic object imbued with status. The first part of the book focuses on how practical gardening books proposed methods for planting as they simultaneously represented gardens increasingly hierarchized by gender. The second part of the book looks at how men and women appropriated aesthetic uses of actual gardening in their poetry and reveals a parallel gendered tension there. Munroe analyzes garden representations in the writings of such manual writers as Gervase Markham, Thomas Hill, and William Lawson, and such poets as Edmund Spenser, Aemilia Lanyer, and Lady Mary Wroth. Investigating gardens, gender, and writing, Jennifer Munroe considers not only published literary representations of gardens but also actual garden landscapes and unpublished evidence of everyday gardening practice. She de-prioritizes the text as a primary means of cultural production, showing instead the relationship between what men and women might imagine possible and represent in their writing, and everyday spatial practices and the spaces men and women occupied and made. In so doing, she also broadens our outlook on whom we can identify and value as producers of early modern social space. The Visionary Queen Theresa Brock, 2023-10-13 The Visionary Queen affirms Marguerite de Navarre's status not only as a political figure, author, or proponent of nonschismatic reform, but also as a visionary. In her life and writings, the queen of Navarre dissected the injustices that her society and its institutions perpetuated against women. We also see evidence that she used her literary texts, especially the Heptameron, as an exploratory space in which to generate a creative vision for institutional reform. The Heptameron's approach to reform emerges from statistical analysis of the text's seventy-two tales, which reveals new insights into trends within the work, including the different categories of wrongdoing by male institutional representatives from the Church and aristocracy as well as the varying responses to injustice that characters in the tales employ as they pursue reform Throughout its chapters The Visionary Queen foregrounds the trope of the labyrinth a potent symbol in early modern Europe that encapsulated both the fallen world and redemption two themes that underlie Marguerite's project of reform The English Review, Or, An Abstract of English and Foreign Literature ,1795 The Nineteenth-Century Literature Adam Colman,2019-01-08 This book explores the rise of the aesthetic category of addiction in the nineteenth century a century that saw the development of an established medical sense of drug addiction Drugs and the Addiction Aesthetic in Nineteenth Century Literature focuses especially on formal invention on the uses of literary patterns for intensified exploratory engagement with unattained possibility resulting from literary intersections with addiction discourse Early chapters consider how Romantics such as Thomas De Quincey created with regard to drug habit an idea of habitual craving that related to self experimenting science and literary exploration later chapters look at Victorians who drew from similar understandings while devising narratives of repetitive investigation The authors considered include De Quincey Percy Shelley Alfred Tennyson Christina Rossetti Charles Dickens Robert Louis Stevenson and Marie Corelli
