The Late Medieval Landscape of North-east Scotland Colin Shepherd, 2021-10-31 The landscape of the north east of Scotland ranges from wild mountains to undulating farmlands from cosy quaint fishing coves to long sandy bays This landscape witnessed the death of MacBeth the final stand of the Comyns earls of Buchan against Robert the Bruce and the last victory in Britain of a catholic army at Glenlivet But behind these momentous battles lie the quieter histories of ordinary folk farming the land and supping their local malts Colin Shepherd paints a picture of rural life within the landscapes of the north east between the 13th and 18th centuries by using documentary cartographic and archaeological evidence He shows how the landscape was ordered by topographic and environmental constraints that resulted in great variation across the region and considers the evidence for the way late medieval lifestyles developed and blended sustainably within their environments to create a patchwork of cultural and agricultural diversity However these socio economic developments subsequently led to a breakdown of this structure resulting in what Adam Smith in the 18th century described as oppression The 12th century Renaissance the Protestant Reformation and the Industrial Revolution are used here to define a framework for considering the cultural changes that affected this region of Scotland These include the dispossession of rights to land ownership that continue to haunt policy makers in the Scottish government today While the story also shows how a regional cultural divergence recognized here can undermine big theories of socio political change when viewed across the wider stage of Europe and the Americas

William Faden and Norfolk's Eighteenth Century Landscape Andrew Macnair, Tom Williamson, 2010-08-24 William Faden's map of Norfolk published in 1797 was one of a large number of surveys of English counties produced in the second half of the eighteenth century This book with accompanying DVD presents a new digital version of the map and explains how this can be interrogated to produce a wealth of new historical information It discusses the making of the Norfolk map and Faden's own career within the wider context of the eighteenth century cartographic revolution It explores what the map and others like it can tell us about contemporary social and economic geography But it also shows how carefully examined the map can also inform us about the development of the Norfolk landscape in much more remote periods of time The book includes a digital version of the map on DVD Andrew Macnair is Research Fellow at the School of History in the University of East Anglia Tom Williamson is Professor of History and Head of the Landscape Group at the University of East Anglia

Norfolk Landscapes Doug Kennedy, 2015-12-31 Norfolk is a very distinctive county the most easterly in the British Isles With the North Sea and The Wash to the east and north it is relatively close to the Netherlands but Norwich is only a couple of hours by train from London It has been a center of great political power but is on no major transport routes so has no motorways and has been largely bypassed by the Industrial Revolution As a result many of its towns and villages are relatively unspoiled so have kept their old buildings and character and are a delight to visit Although known for its wide open landscapes of which there are many Norfolk has an abundance of delightful corners and beautiful gardens where it is the miniature that charms and tranquillity reigns This beautiful photo book captures the essence of Norfolk's varied landscapes in sumptuous images and an informative text that gets underneath the surface of why things look like they do The Norfolk Broads Breckland The Waverley Valley The Fens and the coastlines are explored in turn along with the wildlife you can encounter on the way In addition Norfolk's lovely churches that punctuate every view and the distinctive traditional buildings that give each area its special flavor are featured Doug Kennedy has roamed the County on foot and by boat seeking out what makes each place special and applying his photographer's eye to capture the scene perfectly It is a book for everyone who loves the Norfolk to treasure and a splendid introduction to its landscape for those less familiar with a classic corner of England

The Landscape Archaeology of Anglo-Saxon England N. J. Higham, Martin J. Ryan, 2010 The Anglo Saxon period was crucial to the development of the English landscape but is rarely studied The essays here provide radical new interpretations of its development Traditional opinion has perceived the Anglo Saxons as creating an entirely new landscape from scratch in the fifth and sixth centuries AD cutting down woodland and bringing with them the practice of open field agriculture and establishing villages Whilst recent scholarship has proved this simplistic picture wanting it has also raised many questions about the nature of landscape development at the time the changing nature of systems of land management and strategies for settlement The papers here seek to shed new light on these complex issues Taking a variety of different approaches and with topics ranging from the impact of coppicing to medieval field systems from the representation of the landscape in manuscripts to cereal production and the type of bread the population preferred they offer striking new approaches to the central issues of landscape change across the seven centuries of Anglo Saxon England a period surely foundational to the rural landscape of today NICHOLAS J HIGHAM is Professor of Early Medieval and Landscape History at the University of Manchester MARTIN J RYAN lectures in Medieval History at the University of Manchester Contributors Nicholas J Higham Christopher Grocock Stephen Rippon Stuart Brookes Carenza Lewis Susan Oosthuizen Tom Williamson Catherine Karkov David Hill Debby Banham Richard Hoggett Peter Murphy

Landscapes Through the Lens David C. Cowley, Robin A. Standring, Matthew J. Abicht, 2010-11-11 This volume presents the rich but under utilised and in parts inaccessible archival historic aerial imagery traditional photographs and those captured from satellites for the exploration and management of cultural heritage An unparalleled resource for archaeologists and all with an interest in landscapes images spanning the second half of the 20th century provide an unrivalled means of documenting and understanding change and informing the study of the past Case studies written by leading experts in their fields illustrate the applications of this imagery across a wide range of heritage issues from prehistoric cultivation and settlement patterns to the impact of recent landscape change Contemporary environmental and land use issues are also dealt with in a volume that will be of interest to archaeologists historians geographers and those in related disciplines

British rural landscapes on film Paul Newland, 2016-09-01 British rural landscapes on film offers insights into how rural areas in Britain have been represented on film from the silent era through both world wars and on into the twenty first century It is the first book to exclusively deal with representations of the British countryside on film The contributors demonstrate that the countryside has provided Britain and its constituent nations and regions with a dense range of spaces in which cultural identities have been and continue to be worked through British rural landscapes on film demonstrates that British cinema provides numerous examples of how national identity and the identity of the countryside have been partly constructed through filmic representation and how British rural films can allow us to further understand the relationship between the cultural identities of specific areas of Britain and the landscapes they inhabit Historic Landscapes of Britain from the Air Robin Edgar Glasscock,1992-10-29 Landscapes of Pilgrimage in Medieval Britain Martin Locker,2015-02-28 This book seeks to address the journeying context of pilgrimage within the landscapes of Medieval Britain Using four case studies an interdisciplinary methodology developed by the author is applied to four different geographical and cultural areas of Britain to investigate the practicalities of travel along the Medieval road network Landscapes and Artefacts Steven Ashley,Adrian Marsden,2014-07-18 Andrew Rogerson is one of the most important and influential archaeologists currently working in East Anglia This collection will be essential reading for those interested in the history and archaeology of Norfolk and Suffolk in the interpretation of artefacts within their landscape contexts and in the material culture of the Middle Ages Bronze Age Landscapes Joanna Bruck,2002-02-01 This volume is a collection of essays which exemplify the range and diversity of work currently being undertaken on the regional landscapes of the British Bronze Age and the progress which has been made in both theoretical and interpretive debate Together these papers reflect the vibrancy of current research and promote a closer marriage of landscape site and material culture studies CONTENTS Settlement in Scotland during the Second Millennium BC P Ashmore Place and Space in the Cambridgeshire Bronze Age T Malim Exploring Bronze Age Norfolk Longham and Bittering T Ashwin Ritual Activity at the Foot of the Gog Magog Hills Cambridge M Hinman The Bronze Age of Manchester Airport Runway 2 D Garner Place and Memory in Bronze Age Wessex D Field Bronze Age Agricultural Intensification in the Thames Valley and Estuary D Yates The Community of Builders The Barleycroft Post Alignments C Evans and M Knight Breaking New Ground Land Tenure and Fieldstone Clearance during the Bronze Age R Johnston Tenure and Territoriality in the British Bronze Age A Question of Varying Social and Geographical Scales W Kitchen A Later Bronze Age Landscape on the Avon Levels Settlement Settlement Shelters and Saltmarsh at Cabot Park M Locock Reading Business Park The Results of Phases 1 and 2 A Brossler Leaving Home in the Cornish Bronze Age Insights into Planned Abandonment Processes J A Nowakowski Body Metaphors and Technologies of Transformation in the English Middle and Late Bronze Age J Bruck A Time and a Place for Bronze M Barber Firstly Let s get Rid of Ritual C Pendleton Mining and Prospection for Metals in Early Bronze Age Britain Making Claims within the Archaeological Landscape S Timberlake The Times They are a Changin Experiencing Continuity and Development in the Early Bronze Age Funerary Rituals of Southwestern Britain M A Owoc of past land use and landscape with contemporary analyses made by modern natural scientists in order to model the situation at various times and places in the more remote past This timely volume encompasses both rural and urban environments from 1650 to the mid twentieth century drawing on a wide variety of social historical and ecological sources It examines the impact of social and economic organisation on the English landscape biodiversity the agricultural revolution landed estates the coming of large scale industry and the growth of towns and suburbs It also develops an original perspective on the complexity and ambiguity of man animal relationships in this post medieval period The Connoisseur ,1916 Regions and Designed Landscapes in Georgian England Sarah Spooner,2015-06-26 Garden design evolved hugely during the Georgian period as symbols of wealth and stature the landed aristocracy had been using gardens for decades Yet during the eighteenth century society began to homogenise and the urban elite also started demanding landscapes that would reflect their positions The gardens of the aristocracy and the gentry were different in appearance use and meaning despite broad similarities in form Underlying this was the importance of place of the landscape itself and its raw material Contemporaries often referred to the need to consult the genius of the place when creating a new designed landscape as the place where the garden was located was critical in determining its appearance Genius loci soil type topography water supply all influenced landscape design in this period The approach taken in this book blends landscape and garden history to make new insights into landscape and design in the eighteenth century Spooner s own research presents little known sites alongside those which are more well known and explores the complexity of the story of landscape design in the Georgian period which is usually oversimplified and reduced to the story of a few great men Inhabiting the Landscape Nicola Whyte,2009-02-16 The discipline of landscape history has recently taken a new turn away from the analysis of past land use and environments towards an understanding of landscape as a social construct This book is a significant step along this exciting new road Focusing on Norfolk in the post medieval centuries Nicola Whyte recaptures the essential character of ordinary people s experience of landscape She shows how perceptions were deeply rooted in the comprehension of material antiquities the annual round of work public events and religious ritual and the complex web of rights and jurisdictions mapped out in the fields People valued and gave meaning to the landscape for a wide range of reasons many of them unconnected with the economic potential of the land Landscape features outside the confines of the church and the graveyard pilgrimage routes crosses wells and springs played an important part in the ideological shift of the Reformation Parish boundaries and in particular the annual ritual of beating the bounds at Rogationtide reveal much about the shifting pattern of local allegiances and competition over resources Places of execution and the graves of suicides were mnemonic spectacles defining both geographical and behavioural limits The local history of enclosure and rights to commons is the story of nascent capitalism in rural England a clash of values between modern productivity and ancient tradition that involved the reinterpretation and renegotiation of the past Informed by the latest archaeological theory this book shows how landscape development was a dynamic experiential process in which world views changed as well as woods hedges and fields      English Landscapes and Identities Chris Gosden, Anwen Cooper, Chris Green, Miranda Creswell, Victoria Donnelly, Tyler Franconi, Laura Morley, Zena Kamash, Daniel Stansbie, Sarah Mallet, Letty ten Harkel, 2021 Based on The English Landscapes and Identities project this volume synthesises major available data sources of English archaeology to provide the first comprehensive account of the English landscape over a 2500 year period as well as a celebration of centuries of archaeological work that has transformed our understanding of England's past      Kingdom, Civitas, and County Stephen Rippon, 2018 This book explores the development of territorial identity in the late prehistoric Roman and early medieval periods Over the course of the Iron Age a series of marked regional variations in material culture and landscape character emerged across eastern England that reflect the development of discrete zones of social and economic interaction The boundaries between these zones appear to have run through sparsely settled areas of the landscape on high ground and corresponded to a series of kingdoms that emerged during the Late Iron Age In eastern England at least these pre Roman socio economic territories appear to have survived throughout the Roman period despite a trend towards cultural homogenization brought about by Romanization Although there is no direct evidence for the relationship between these socio economic zones and the Roman administrative territories known as civitates they probably corresponded very closely The fifth century saw some Anglo Saxon immigration but whereas in East Anglia these communities spread out across much of the landscape in the Northern Thames Basin they appear to have been restricted to certain coastal and estuarine districts The remaining areas continued to be occupied by a substantial native British population including much of the East Saxon kingdom very little of which appears to have been Saxon By the sixth century a series of regionally distinct identities that can be regarded as separate ethnic groups had developed which corresponded very closely to those that had emerged during the late prehistoric and Roman periods These ancient regional identities survived through to the Viking incursions whereafter they were swept away following the English re conquest and replaced with the counties with which we are familiar today      The English Medieval Landscape Leonard Cantor, 2021-11-30 First published in 1982 The English Medieval Landscape was written to recreate and analyse the development of the major elements of the medieval landscape Illustrated with maps and photographs the book explores the nature of the English landscape between 1066 and 1485 from farms and chases to castles monastic settlements villages roads and more The English Medieval Landscape will appeal to those with an interest in medieval history and British social history
