

Fostering Inclusivity and Social Interaction in Educational Settings

Topic: Education | Words: 610 | Pages: 2

Social justice in education has been a complicated topic for many years. Every country has its own problems in this sphere and its own methods of solving them. There are many problems related to social inequality, and each of them requires an individual approach to address. One of the main difficulties that can become a problem in any educational institution can be the poor interaction between students and teachers (Gair & Baglow, 2018). It is this aspect that will be the basis for the writing and parsing in this paper. It will provide arguments for how this aspect can make life difficult for students, the problems that can arise in the process of solving them, and the main ways to solve such situations, paying attention to the counterarguments as well.

The socialization process is not only necessary when it comes to the institution. A person encounters their peers throughout life, from birth until the end of life. Each place is unique, with its own rules of interaction and hierarchy. The same is true of educational institutions, as one spends most of one's life learning and gaining the necessary information for one's future (Cho, 2017). Schools or universities are places that require rather close social contact, so it is essential to pay attention to the relationships that are built between people in such places.

It is essential to understand that while discipline is necessary for educational institutions, more often than not, it can be either too strict or too lenient. In addition to this balance not being respected by the people above, there are also notions of class segregation in schools and
