The immigrant Jews of New York, 1881 to the present. With the assistance of K. Libo ,1976 Jewish Immigrant Entrepreneurship in New York and London 1880-1914 A. Godley, 2001-07-18 How successful were the East

European Jewish immigrants in London compared with the vast majority that went to New York This critical question one that lies at the heart of debates on Jewish modernity ethnic and racial assimilation and the impact of culture on entrepreneurship is assessed systematically for the first time in this volume Using new evidence of Jewish immigration mobility and assimilation Andrew Godley shows that despite similar backgrounds and opportunities the Jews in London were far less entrepreneurial and those in New York As the Jewish immigrants assimilated either American or British cultural values those in New York moved en masse into self employment while those in London opted to remain as workers Godley then reinterprets the broad thrust of British twentieth century economic history emphasising how these long standing anti entrepreneurial and highly conservative craft cultural values among the English working classes acted as a drag on innovation hampering industrial relations investment and growth
