

Knights of Labor

- In 1898, garment cutters in Philadelphia formed the Noble and Holy Order of the Knights of Labor, or the Knights of Labor for short.
- They had to meet in secret since employers at the time fired members of labor unions.
- The head of the Knights of Labor was Terence V. Powderly.
- The Knights also included women, African Americans, immigrants, and unskilled laborers – people who had traditionally been kept out of most trade unions.

The Knights of Labor in the South Melton McLaurin, 1978-04-21 A Companion to the American South John B. Boles, 2008-04-15 A Companion to the American South surveys and evaluates the most important and innovative writing on the entire sweep of the history of the southern United States Contains 29 original essays by leading experts in American Southern history Covers the entire sweep of Southern history including slavery politics the Civil War race relations religion and women s history Surveys and evaluates the best scholarship on every important era and topic Summarizes current debates and anticipates future concerns Labor's Story in the United States Philip Yale Nicholson, 2004 In this the first broad historical overview of labor in the United States in twenty years Philip Nicholson examines anew the questions the villains the heroes and the issues of work in America Unlike recent books that have covered labor in the twentieth century Labor s Story in the United States looks at the broad landscape of labor since before the Revolution In clear unpretentious language Philip Yale Nicholson considers American labor history from the perspective of institutions and people the rise of unions the struggles over slavery wages and child labor public and private responses to union organizing Throughout the book focuses on the integral relationship between the strength of labor and the growth of democracy painting a vivid picture of the strength of labor movements and how they helped make the United States what it is today Labor s Story in the United States will become an indispensable source for scholars and students Author note Philip Yale Nicholson is Professor of History at Nassau Community College and Adjunct Professor at the Cornell University School of Industrial and Labor Relations Long Island Extension He is the author of Who Do We Think We Are Race and Nation in the Modern World Proletarians and Protest Michael P. Hanagan, 1986-02-21 Research papers on historical development of the urban areas working class and proletarianization during industrialization in Western Europe Latin America and Africa covers relationship between social change in rural areas and rural migration recruitment policies of rubber and coal companies industrial enterprises social class consciousness of industrial workers and coal miners and their political participation etc includes comparisons with Scandinavia Annotated bibliography graphs maps references statistical tables The Southwestern Historical Quarterly, 1977 Keywords for Southern Studies Scott Romine, Jennifer Rae Greeson, 2016-08-15 In Keywords for Southern Studies editors Scott Romine and Jennifer Rae Greeson have compiled an eclectic collection of new essays that address the fluidity of southern studies by adopting a transnational interdisciplinary focus The essays are structured around critical terms pertinent both to the field and to modern life in general The nonbinary nontraditional approach of Keywords unmask and refutes standard binary thinking First World Third World self other for instance that postcolonial studies revealed as a flawed rhetorical structure for analyzing empire Instead Keywords promotes a holistic way of thinking that begins with southern studies but extends beyond Research Guide to American Literature Benjamín Franklin, 2010 Presents American literature from the beginnings to the Revolutionary War including essays narratives and more The Dynamic Social

Contract: An American Case Study Andre Smith,2023-05-09 This book continues an exploration begun by Charles Mills and Carole Pateman with their examinations of the nuisances of the Western social contract The work examines the social contract within the variable of space or proximity and incorporates concepts first proposed by Benedict Anderson that of concepts of shared communal belonging or imagined The social contract is explored as a dynamic sociopolitical instrument that is influenced by the context of human interactions specifically space Space or proximity exists as a variable either increasing interactions and challenging sociopolitical norms or decreasing interactions and reinforcing sociopolitical norms We can trace proximity within a sociopolitical model with connections becoming more and more abstract as proximity increases and group membership becomes more abstract global global region nation religion ethnicity national region city town village and kin We accept that kinship or hereditary connections are the most atomistic And within this tree of proximity as proximity increases the ties of group membership become more tenuous and the incentive of collective action decreases production is the binding glue of the world economic system and the framework of the study but it is within the bounds of the productive system that the challenge of proximity and membership collide The collision occurs as the proximity of production increases and the reaction is a dynamic response within the social contract witnessed as a retraction
