The Passover Haggadah Vanessa L. Ochs, 2020-03-17 This telling of the life of the Haggadah probably the most beloved of books that Jews own chronicles its recalibrations over time It moves from its early sources in the Bible and rabbinic literature to the years it was a handwritten manuscript to its life as an illuminated book in the middle ages to its emergence as mass produced printed book and later as an artist s book to its iterations in the twentieth century in America and Israel including those using emerging technologies of our day It is the story of a liturgical text came about to fulfill a biblical injunction to fathers to tell the story of the Exodus from Egypt to their children literally to their sons And you shall tell your son on that day It is because of what the Lord did for me when I went free from Egypt Exodus 13:8 Despite significant flaws in the text that have occasioned thousands of revisions it remains well and alive because it allows its users to transmit the story of Exodus as if it happened to them With a Haggadah in hand at a Passover seder meal the text kindles the memory of belonging to a people who knew slavery and then liberation and enlivens empathy An engagement with the Haggadah inevitable leaves one feeling responsible for helping others to achieve their own liberation

Further Studies in the Making of the Early Hebrew Book Marvin J. Heller, 2013-03-21 Further Studies in the Making of the Early Hebrew Book contains essays on aspects of the early Hebrew book most often treated in a cursory manner if addressed at all The largest section of the volume is concerned with the makers and places of Hebrew books mainly addressing book makers poorly remembered or controversial and print shops that issued a small number of books in a brief period of time The section on varia addresses aspects of the book trade such as small books incomplete books published as a prospectus competing simultaneous editions and errors and variations in books Two smaller sections deal with book arts such as incunabula frames and pressmarks variations between medieval and current Sephardic Haggadot Rain and Resurrection How the Talmud and Science Read the World Irun Cohen, 2010-02-12 This book presents a set of essays interpreting excerpts from the Talmud that illustrate values essential to Western science It includes another set of essays interpreting the function of interpretation in the method of science to associate Talmudic and post modern concepts

Remembering the Future Emma O'Donnell, 2015 Common to both Judaism and Christianity is a heightened engagement with time within liturgical practice in which collective religious memory and anticipation come together to create a unique sense of time Exploring the nebulous realms of religious experience and the sense of time Remembering the Future charts the ways that the experience of time is shaped by the traditions of Judaism and Christianity and experienced within their ritual practices Through comparative explorations of traditional Jewish and Christian understandings of time contemporary oral testimonies and discussions of the work of select twentieth century Jewish and Christian thinkers this book maps the temporal landscapes of the religious imagination Maintaining that the sense of time is integral to Jewish and

Christian religious experience Remembering the Future makes a notable contribution to interreligious studies and liturgical studies It sheds light on essential aspects of religious experience and finds that the intimacy of the experience of time grants it the capacity to communicate across religious boundaries subtly transgressing obstacles to interreligious understanding
