Re-Viewing British Cinema, 1900-1992 Wheeler W. Dixon, 1994-07-01 Re Viewing British Cinema 1900 1992 is a collection of essays on British cinema history and practice It offers both the casual reader and the film scholar a different view of British filmmaking during the past century Arranged in chronological order the book explores those areas of British cinema that have not been fully examined in other works and also offers fresh interpretations of a number of classic films From the work of Frederic Villiers the pioneering British newsreel cameraman who at the turn of the century brought home images of battlefield carnage to essays on the British B film and the long forgotten Independent Frame method of film production to new readings of classics such as The Red Shoes Passport to Pimlico and Peeping Tom the authors offer a look behind the scenes of the British film industry and engage the reader in some of the most compelling interpretational and historical issues of recent film history and critical theory In addition the volume contains a number of interviews with such key directors as Stephen Frears Terence Davies Wendy Toye and Lindsay Anderson and also pays particular attention to the work of early twentieth century British feminist filmmakers whose films have often been ignored by conventional film theory and history It also offers new material on the British film noir the English horror film and the pioneering gay director Brian Desmond Hurst Taken as a whole this book presents an entirely new series of viewpoints on British film practice theory and reception and affords a fresh and vibrant view of the British film medium

The Woman Who Dared William M. Drew, 2023-03-07 In the early days of motion pictures before superstars before studio conglomerates before even the advent of sound there was a woman named Pearl White 1889 1938 A quintessential beauty of the time with her perfectly tousled bob and come hither stare White s rise to stardom was swift her assumption of the title of queen of American motion picture serials equally deserved Born the youngest of five children in a small rural Missouri farm town White first began performing in high school She would eventually make the decision to cut her education short dropping out to go on the Trousdale Stock Company A bit player in the early years of her career she was eventually spotted by the Powers Film Company in New York She made her film debut in 1910 and soon set herself apart from her female colleagues with her reputation for fearless performances that often involved her own stunt work It was that same daring attitude that would put her on the map internationally as an actress From flying airplanes to swimming across rapid rivers to racing cars in serials like The Perils of Pauline 1914 White was undaunted by the demands of her onscreen career She went on to star in popular serial classics such as The New Exploits of Elaine 1915 The Iron Claw 1916 The Fatal Ring 1917 and The Lightning Raider 1919 As active socially as she was professionally White would also lend her audacious spirit to activism as she took part in the early feminist movement Her bravery and mastery of her craft made her a positive role model for suffragettes who battled for women s rights in the United States The Woman Who Dared The Life and Times of Pearl White Queen of the Serials is the first full length biography of this pioneering star In this study of film history and female agency Drew delves into the cultural impact of White's work and how it evolved along a concurrent trajectory with the social upheavals of the Progressive Era

The Cinematic Challenge: Filming Colonial America John P. Harty, Jr. ,2016 Why did cinema largely ignore the colonial era and the Revolutionary War The Cinematic Challenge asks this question and studies four films from the 1930s and 1940s to consider other queries such as How did Darryl F Zanuck make a film about the American Revolution Drums Along The Mohawk without indicating that the British were the enemy Why was Northwest Passage never completed How did Cecil B DeMille begin production on a film Unconquered based on a book that did not yet exist In addition we'll learn how accurate the depictions of colonial life were in each film and whether the political and economic climate affected the finished products Volume one of The Cinematic Challenge also includes information about the general state of the film industry during this period technological advancements and rival theories about historical filmmaking making it the most in depth resource available today on colonial movies

Bullets Over Hollywood John McCarty,2004-06-15 McCarty provides a history of gangsters in American film and a look at why we love them

The British 'B' Film Steve Chibnall,Brian McFarlane,2017-10-07 This is the first book to provide a thorough examination of the British B movie from the war years to the 1960s The authors draw on archival research contemporary trade papers and interviews with key B filmmakers to map the B movie phenomenon both as artefact and as industry product and as a reflection on their times
