Benjamin,1903      Honorable Men Louis Auchincloss,1985-09-25 From a New York Times bestselling author A novel about a member of the Greatest Generation wrestling with moral choices over the next generation s war in Vietnam Chip Benedict appeared to have the best of everything wealth education good looks charm and intelligence Shortly before entering law school he married Alida a pale beauty who also had the cunning and talent to become the debutante of the year escaping the progressively threadbare world of tarnished elegance and unpaid bills to which she was born Alida s life continued in a storybook fashion with her marriage to Chip a seemingly perfect and certainly honorable man Called to serve in World War II he returned a hero decorated for bravery at the Normandy landing Following in his father s footsteps he became chairman of the board of the prestigious Benedict Glass Company founded by his grandfather And yet with all of his gifts Chip is haunted by dark guilt that drives him to excel conform and embrace a righteousness that he fails to perceive as hypocrisy In business he becomes the perfect corporate executive lauded in Fortune and Forbes He serves his community supports the arts and patriotically honors his government But when it comes to choosing sides on the issue of Vietnam he will make a decision that casts aside the deepest ties and loyalties of his life Through a series of flashbacks the narrators come to realize how outside events have influenced their lives Auchincloss uses their story to show us the frailties of human nature when confronted with politics and morality This psychological novel is perceptive elegantly spare and well crafted Library Journal

American Naturalistic and Realistic Novelists Edd C. Applegate,2001-11-30 Realistic writers seek to render accurate representations of the world and their novels contain authentic details and descriptions of their characters and settings Like Realistic authors Naturalistic ones similarly try to portray the world accurately but they tend to depict the darker side of life Realism was born in Europe in the nineteenth century and soon became popular in the United States while Naturalism became prominent at the beginning of the twentieth century Both traditions have continued in one form or another to the present day and Realistic and Naturalistic novelists include some of America's most significant authors such as Sherwood Anderson, Saul Bellow, Ambrose Bierce, Willa Cather, Theodore Dreiser, Ralph Ellison, and Jack London. This reference includes biographical and critical entries for more than 120 American Naturalistic and Realistic novelists. An introductory essay discusses the history of the Realistic and Naturalistic traditions, points to the difficulty of defining them, and surveys the many authors who have been associated with the two movements. The entries that follow are arranged alphabetically to facilitate use. Each includes basic biographical information and a narrative overview of the writer's educational background, professional career, and published works. The writer's works are briefly discussed in relation to the Realistic and Naturalistic traditions. Entries include primary and secondary bibliographies, and the volume closes with a list of works for further reading.

The Concise Oxford Companion to American Literature James D. Hart, Wendy Martin, Danielle Hinrichs, 2021-01-21 For nearly half a century, James D. Hart's Oxford Companion to American Literature has offered a matchless guided tour through American literary culture, both past and present, with brief biographies of important authors, descriptions of important literary movements, and a wealth of information on other aspects of American literary life and history from the Colonial period to the present day. In this second edition of the Concise version, Wendy Martin and Danielle Hinrichs bring the work up to date to more fully reflect the diversity of the subject. Their priorities have been foremost to fully represent the impact of writers of color and women writers on the field of American literature and to increase the usefulness of the work to students of literary theory. To this end, over 230 new entries have been added, including many that cover women authors, Native American, African American, Asian American, Latino, and other contemporary ethnic literatures, LGBT, trans, and queer studies, and recent literary movements and evolving areas of contemporary relevance such as eco-criticism, disability studies, whiteness studies, male masculinity studies, and diaspora studies.

The House of the Prophet Louis Auchincloss, 1980-03-20 A novel about a powerful public intellectual and about what is true in the end, by an acclaimed New York Times bestselling author. Felix Leitner has been a celebrated lawyer and political commentator, an advisor to presidents, an author of influential books, and a Pulitzer Prize-winning columnist. For decades, he professed an unswerving commitment to intellectual truth. His stands weren't always popular, but in the eyes of millions, he had the stature of an oracle. Now he is in his eighties and confined to a nursing home, and his longtime research assistant and protégé Roger Cutter is determined to compile a chronicle of his mentor's life for complex personal reasons as well as for posterity's sake. The House of the Prophet presents Felix from the point of view of multiple narrators, including his two ex-wives, his stepdaughter, and a former law partner. The portrait that takes shape from Roger's memories, from documents willingly or reluctantly supplied by Felix's family and associates, and from Felix's own accounts is that of a man whose lifelong aim has been to stay free of any ties that might impinge on his quest for truth, be they emotional, religious, patriotic, or even humanitarian. Was Felix then a heartless egotist or a saint? And did his integrity justify the human toll it
