The Last 10000 Years:

The Last 10,000 Years Paul S. Martin, 2022-01-04 Pollen analysis offers an approach to understanding the Southwestern environment its history and in some respects its possible future Dr Martin s study is an example of geochronology functioning as a strong interdisciplinary link among archaeologists biogeographers geologists paleoclimatologists and ecologists Ten Thousand Years of Cultivation at Kuk Swamp in the Highlands of Papua New Guinea Jack Golson, Tim Denham, Philip Hughes, Pamela Swadling, John Muke, 2017-07-07 Kuk is a settlement at c 1600 m altitude in the upper Wahgi Valley of the Western Highlands Province of Papua New Guinea near Mount Hagen the provincial capital The site forms part of the highland spine that runs for more than 2500 km from the western head of the island of New Guinea to the end of its eastern tail Until the early 1930s when the region was first explored by European outsiders it was thought to be a single uninhabited mountain chain Instead it was found to be a complex area of valleys and basins inhabited by large populations of people and pigs supported by the intensive cultivation of the tropical American sweet potato on the slopes above swampy valley bottoms With the end of World War II the area with others became a focus for the development of coffee and tea plantations of which the establishment of Kuk Research Station was a result Large scale drainage of the swamps produced abundant evidence in the form of stone axes and preserved wooden digging sticks and spades for their past use in cultivation Investigations in 1966 at a tea plantation in the upper Wahgi Valley by a small team from The Australian National University yielded a date of over 2000 years ago for a wooden stick collected from the bottom of a prehistoric ditch The establishment of Kuk Research Station a few kilometres away shortly afterwards provided an ideal opportunity for a research project Literature 1988, Part 2 Astronomisches Rechen-Institut, 2013-06-29 From the reviews Astronomy and Astrophysics Abstracts has appeared in semi annual volumes since 1969 and it has already become one of the fundamental publications in the fields of astronomy astrophysics and neighbouring sciences It is the most important English language abstracting journal in the mentioned branches The abstracts are classified under more than a hundred subject categories thus permitting a quick survey of the whole extended material The AAA is a valuable and important publication for all students and scientists working in the fields of astronomy and related sciences As such it represents a necessary ingredient of any astronomical library all over the world Space Science Reviews 1 Dividing the whole field plus related subjects into 108 categories each work is numbered and most are accompanied by brief abstracts Fairly comprehensive cross referencing links relevant papers to more than one category and exhaustive author and subject indices are to be found at the back making the catalogues easy to use The series appears to be so complete in its coverage and always less than a year out of date that I shall certainly have to make a little more space on those shelves for future volumes The Observatory Magazine 2 New Jersey Pinelands National Reserve Management Plan , 1980 GENERAL BIOLOGY I Dennis Holley, 2017-05-31 GENERAL BIOLOGY Investigating Life is an introductory level college biology textbook that provides students with an accessible and engaging look at the fundamentals of biology Written for a two term undergraduate course of mixed majors and non majors this reader friendly text is concept driven vs terminology driven That is the text is based on the underlying concepts and principles of biology rather than strict memorization of terminology Written in a student centered conversational style this educational research based textbook uniquely connects students and our society to living things from various perspectives economic ecologic medical and cultural exploring how the biological world and human realm are intimately intertwined End of chapter questions challenge students to think critically and creatively while incorporating science process skills and biological principles

Changes in the Human-monsoon System of East Asia in the Context of Global Change Congbin Fu, 2008 This book is the first in a series of assessments of regional climate change Irreversible changes to regional biogeochemistry and terrestrial and marine ecosystem functioning are brought about by increases in population intensified land use urbanization industrialization and economic development These may have global as well as regional consequences The objectives of the assessments are i to better understand how human activities in regions are altering regional atmospheric terrestrial and marine environments ii to provide a sound scientific basis for sustainable regional development and iii to develop the capability of predicting changes in global regional linkages in the Earth System and to recognize the future consequences of such changes This book describes such a study for monsoon East Asia providing a state of the art summary of what we already know and serves as a basis for identifying knowledge gaps that require study

Plows, Plagues, and Petroleum William F. Ruddiman, 2016-10-04 The impact on climate from 200 years of industrial development is an everyday fact of life but did humankind's active involvement in climate change really begin with the industrial revolution as commonly believed Plows Plagues and Petroleum has sparked lively scientific debate since it was first published arguing that humans have actually been changing the climate for some 8 000 years as a result of the earlier discovery of agriculture The Ruddiman Hypothesis will spark intense debate We learn that the impact of farming on greenhouse gas levels thousands of years before the industrial revolution kept our planet notably warmer than if natural climate cycles had prevailed quite possibly forestalling a new ice age Plows Plagues and Petroleum is the first book to trace the full historical sweep of human interaction with Earth's climate Ruddiman takes us through three broad stages of human history when nature was in control when humans began to take control discovering agriculture and affecting climate through carbon dioxide and methane emissions and finally the more recent human impact on climate change Along the way he raises the fascinating possibility that plagues by depleting human populations also affected reforestation and thus climate as suggested by dips in greenhouse gases when major pandemics have occurred While our massive usage of fossil fuels has certainly contributed to modern climate change Ruddiman shows that industrial growth is only part of the picture The book concludes by looking to the future and critiquing the impact of special interest money on the global warming debate In the afterword Ruddiman explores the main challenges posed to his hypothesis and shows how recent investigations and findings ultimately strengthen the book's original claims

Palynology and Vegetation

History Valentí Rull, Encarni Montoya, Thomas Giesecke, Jesse L. Morris, 2019-01-11 This Research Topic commemorates the centenary of the first quantitative pollen diagram by Lennart von Post the founder of paleoecological palynology The main aim is to provide a thorough view of the use of palynology in aspects such as the reconstruction of Quaternary vegetation and environmental changes the role of natural and anthropogenic drivers in the development of the Quaternary vegetation the shaping of present day ecological and biogeographical patterns the potential application of this knowledge in biodiversity conservation and landscape restoration and the development of new methods of pollen analysis and data management The Research Topic is subdivided into four main conceptual parts namely 1 modern analog studies 2 land cover estimates from pollen data 3 vegetation dynamics reconstructions from Europe North and South America Africa and Oceania and 4 large scale reviews and meta analyses Hopefully this Research Topic will serve to appraise the state of the art of modern palynology and highlight the usefulness of this discipline in long term ecological research Earthquake Information

Bulletin, 1973 Confronting Climate Change Irving M. Mintzer, 1992-06-11 Confronting Climate Change is a guide to the risks dilemmas and opportunities of the emerging political era in which the impacts of a global warming could affect all regional public and even individual decisions Written by a renowned group of scientists political analysts and economists all with direct experience in climate change related deliberations Confronting Climate Change is a survey of the best available answers to three vital questions What do we know so far about the foreseeable dangers of climate change How reliable is our knowledge What are the most rewarding ways to respond The book begins by exploring the key linkages and feedbacks that connect the risks of rapid climate change to other important environmental economic and political problems of our time Recognizing persistent uncertainties in the scientific understanding of climate change the book draws attention to those areas of research which may reveal surprises which could change the sense of political urgency surrounding the climate problem as did the discovery of the Antarctic ozone hole It explores the geological record of climate change over the Earth's history seeking a better understanding of how the climate has changed rapidly in countries while minimizing the long term environmental damages which otherwise will result from continuing the current patterns of energy supply and use The book is written to cross discipline boundaries so that policy makers economists scientists risk assessors environmentalists and development advocates may understand each other's concerns It shows how the international debate on managing the risks of rapid climate change may be re shaped for the benefit of people in every nation on the planet Nordic Environmental
