future For Grant and for most in the North the Union victory was one of right over wrong a vindication of free society for many African Americans the surrender marked the dawn of freedom itself Lee in contrast believed that the Union victory was one of might over right the vast impersonal Northern war machine had worn down a valorous and unbowed South Lee was committed to peace but committed too to the restoration of the South's political power within the Union and the perpetuation of white supremacy These two competing visions of the war's end paved the way not only for Southern resistance to reconstruction but also our ongoing debates on the Civil War 150 years later Did America's best days lie in the past or in the future For Lee it was the past the era of the founding generation For Grant it was the future represented by Northern moral and material progress They held in the end two opposite views of the direction of the country and of the meaning of the war that had changed that country forever Forum ,1915
