Ruling Emancipated Slaves and Indigenous Subjects Olukunle P. Owolabi,2023 An examination of the divergent developmental legacies of forced settlement and colonial occupation on both sides of the Black Atlantic world The European powers that colonized much of the world over the last few hundred years created a variety of social systems in their various colonies In Ruling Emancipated Slaves and Indigenous Subjects Olukunle P Owolabi explores the divergent developmental trajectories of Global South nations that were shaped by forced settlement where European colonists imported African slaves to establish large scale agricultural plantations or by colonial occupation which resulted in the exploitation of indigenous non white populations Owolabi shows that most forced settlement colonies emerged from European domination with higher levels of education attainment greater postcolonial democratization and favorable human development outcomes relative to Global South countries that emerged from colonial occupation after 1945 To explain this paradox he examines the distinctive legal administrative institutions that were used to control indigenous colonial subjects and highlights the impact of liberal reforms that expanded the legal rights and political agency of former slaves following abolition Spanning three centuries of colonial history and postcolonial development this is the first book to systematically examine the distinctive patterns of state building that resulted from forced settlement and colonial occupation in the Black Atlantic world Humanitarian Intervention

rulers and the significance of the British Empire as a theme in world history This fifth and final volume shows how opinions have changed dramatically over the generations about the nature role and value of imperialism generally and the British Empire more specifically The distinguished team of contributors discuss the many and diverse elements which have influenced writings on the Empire the pressure of current events access to primary sources the creation of relevant university chairs the rise of nationalism in former colonies decolonization and the Cold War They demonstrate how the study of empire has evolved from a narrow focus on constitutional issues to a wide ranging enquiry about international relations the uses of power and impacts and counterimpacts between settler groups and native peoples The result is a thought provoking cultural and intellectual inquiry into how we understand the past and whether this understanding might affect the way we behave in the future

Consuming the Caribbean Mimi Sheller, 2003-12-08 From sugar to indentured labourers tobacco to reggae music Europe and North America have been relentlessly consuming the Caribbean and its assets for the past five hundred years In this fascinating book Mimi Sheller explores this troublesome history investigating the complex mobilities of producers and consumers of material and cultural commodities including foodstuffs and stimulants sugar fruit coffee and rum human bodies slaves indentured labourers and service workers cultural and knowledge products texts music scientific collections and ethnology entire natures and landscapes consumed by tourists as tropical paradise Consuming the Caribbean demonstrates how colonial exploitation of the Caribbean led directly to contemporary forms of consumption of the region and its products It calls into question innocent indulgence in the pleasures of thoughtless consumption and calls for a global ethics of consumer responsibility

Living with the Unexpected Anja Possekel, 2012-12-06 Living with the Unexpected deals with complexity and uncertainty two major challenges in a world faced with climate change and hazards The study focuses on appropriate methods which enable vulnerable communities to cope effectively with natural hazards and disasters The central goal of the book is an applicable combination of hazard management and development planning Therefore the reconstruction process following a disaster is understood as an opportunity for structural changes and self organisation processes that foster sustainable development In this context the potential of scenario planning as an evolutionary and participatory learning approach is addressed The empirical research concentrates on the time before and during the volcanic crisis on the Caribbean Island Montserrat Particular methods used are a systematic analysis of the complex system Montserrat more than 200 interviews with stakeholders and citizens concentrating on resource and hazard perceptions as well as the organization and execution of various scenario workshops The study shows that the opportunity to realise sustainable development on the island with the help of a participative adaptive reconstruction process is better than ever The population is sensitised to disasters and an uncertain future Their preparedness to accept measures which are designed to reduce their vulnerability is high This book demonstrates how we can learn to live with the Unexpeted Gender and Slave Emancipation in the Atlantic World Pamela Scully,Diana Paton,2005-10-04 A comparative perspective on the way ideas of gender relations and identities shaped the struggle over resources cultural practices and political rights that followed the end of slavery in the Atlantic world Environmental Planning in the Caribbean Janet Momsen,2016-12-05 Illustrated by case studies from both smaller nations such as Carriacou Barbados and St Lucia and larger countries including Cuba Mexico and Jamaica this volume brings together leading writers on environmental planning in the Caribbean to provide an interdisciplinary contemporary critical overview They argue that context is central to the practice of environmental planning in this region Rather than focusing on a deterministic colonial geography and history the contributors propose that whilst a wide range of foreign planning influences can be felt in different contexts environmental planning emerges in specific settings through the fluid interaction between local and global relations of power A number of chapters explore the effects of external discourses upon the region while others examine discourses on Western style democracy and tourism Other important themes covered include participatory planning urban planning physical development planning pest management sustainable development water pollution conservation and ecotourism Yearbook of Transnational History Thomas Adam,2024-05-15 The Yearbook of Transnational History is dedicated to disseminating pioneering research in the field of transnational history This seventh volume brings together examples of four different world migration systems that of the Black Atlantic of early modern religious migrations exile in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries and twenty first century refugee systems thus encompassing more than six centuries from local regional transregional comparative and macro historical perspectives Land, Law and Environment Allen Abramson,Dimitrios Theodossopoulos,2000-11-20 This book takes issue with the idealist approach in which land and landscape are read as purely expressive and ultimately poetic The authors argue that too much emphasis on the subjective construction of land obscures the fundamentally meaningful sense in which land is also used and appropriated while land may have some subjective ideological meaning it exists also as a practical resource The essays focus on postcolonial legacies in land law contemporary disputes and land claims surrounding ancestral lands conservation issues and road protests Areas covered include Western and Eastern Europe West Africa the Caribbean Australia and the Pacific India and Indonesia
