and other subjects including economics and organizational studies scenario planning networks strategic groups and knowledge and other key new developments the implications of globalization and international management key strategic decisions including diversification and mergers and acquisitions With a new introduction by the editor and an extensive index this collection is an invaluable reference tool and teaching aid

Organizational Determinants of Budgetary Influence and Involvement Noah P. Barsky, 2013-10-11 Drawing on network theory from the organizational sociology literature this book examines issues related to which organizational factors determine how employees influence the budgeting process Data were collected from managers who participate in the budgeting process at a major apparel manufacturer Social network analysis was employed to measure how the structure of the network of managers affects the budgeting process The results show that budgetary influence is structurally determined and resides with managers holding central positions in the organizational network Thus while formal procedures determine which employees are involved in budgeting activities only centrally positioned managers actually influence budgetary outcomes The findings indicate that influence not involvement is the key to empowerment in the budgeting process This research suggests that researchers and practitioners should be aware of an organization's social structure when examining a participative budgeting process The difference between formal designs and actual influence is indicative of a rhetoric reality gap which can impair the effectiveness of management control systems
