A youth empowerment model designed to tackle school violence in South Africa

Fathima Dewan, 2024-12-17 School based violence is of major concern in the South African schooling system particularly in secondary schools. School based violence has a negative impact on the physical, social, cognitive and emotional well being of learners and teachers. To compound matters, family and community environment also play a role in escalating school violence. There is a need to develop interventions that are evidence based and developmental in nature to address the issue of reducing school based violence. Youth empowerment can be used as a helpful strategy to address the issue of school based violence. This scholarly book focuses on using the framework of youth empowerment to address the issue of school based violence. Through sound research, the author proposes that schools should involve learners in decision making around school policies and design strategies to address school violence to create safer schools and a better school climate. The author further posits using key aspects of youth empowerment in school violence campaigns and programmes to increase youth motivation to collectively influence changes within their school through a process of shared decision making, collective vision and partnership with young people.

The Knickerbocker Charles Fenno Hoffman, Timothy Flint, Lewis Gaylord Clark, Kinahan Cornwallis, John Holmes Agnew, 1858 War, Women and Post-conflict Empowerment Josephine Beoku-Betts, Fredline A. M'Cormack-Hale, 2022-01-13 Since the 1991-2002 civil conflict ended in Sierra Leone, the country has failed to translate the accomplishments of women's involvement in bringing the war to an end into meaningful political empowerment. This is in marked contrast to other post conflict countries which have increased the political participation of women in elected and appointed office, increased the representation of women in leadership positions and enacted constitutional reforms promoting women's rights. Written by Sierra Leonean and Africanist scholars and experts from a broad range of disciplines, this unique volume analyses the historical and contextual factors influencing women's political, economic and social development in the country. In drawing on a diverse array of case studies from health to education, refugees to international donors, the contradictions, successes and challenges of women's lives in a post conflict environment are revealed, making this an essential book for anyone involved in women and development.
