Some Mothers I Know Living With Handicapped Children:

Some Mothers I Know Tom Wakefield, 1978 The Nature of Special Education Tony Booth, June

Statham, 2003-09-02 This book contains a collection of brief case studies of children families professionals curricula and schools which illustrate and illuminate contemporary methods in special education Together they demonstrate the wide range of sympathies experience and knowledge required for the special education of a child in any instance It considers children with mild and severe handicaps both physical and sensory and those with educational difficulties ranging from reading problems to profound mental handicap Children in care and in poverty are also represented they can be said to be socially handicapped by their circumstances often experiencing educational difficulties as well All the case studies emphasise the needs and wishes of children and their families and encourage greater involvement for children with special needs in ordinary schools

The Family and the Handicapped Child Elizabeth Newson, 2017-09-04 This book describes an inquiry into the upbringing of young cerebral palsied children Following the precedent set by John and Elizabeth Newson in their studies of normal children at home Sheila Hewett visited the mothers of 180 spastic children and obtained their personal accounts of their experiences There is considerable literature on handicapped children in which the adverse effects of their presence in the family are emphasized This study is the first to present not evidence provided by professional people but that of a large number of mothers of all social classes who have children with all degrees of handicap They tell in their own words how they meet the problems and anxieties of everyday life and how they strive to maintain the norms of family living in spite of their very real difficulties A measure of their success is provided by a number of comparisons with the families of normal children Hewett's nursing experience combined with a social science training and personal experience of parenthood contributed a useful background for this research Resulting as it does from close collaboration with the Newsons her work provides an important extension of the main work of the Child Development Research Unit in Nottingham It will help all those who work with handicapped children to achieve a better understanding of the families to whom they offer their specialist knowledge To the general public it offers an opportunity to gain insights into a situation which calls for their support and acceptance but not their pity For the parents of handicapped children themselves it provides a much needed opportunity to make their views known and to see that they are not alone in the difficulties which they face with such stoicism and resourcefulness This book's last aim has been achieved by using the now extensive information about the upbringing of normal children obtained from Nottingham mothers in the United Kingdom by John and Elizabeth Newson

Daily Living with a Handicapped Child Diana M. Millard, 2016-01-13 First published in 1984 this book focuses on the support and reassurance needed by parents of children with handicaps It provides a practical guide in relation to daily care and is equally as relevant to professionals therapists teachers doctors and psychologists who must advise parents Written by an Occupational Therapist the book highlights the need to make such children as independent as possible and gives advice on care of a special baby modifications to the home environment the needs of a child with a physical handicap problems of educational handicap and the place of a child in the family and community The Family and the Handicapped Child Sheila Hewett, 2007-06-01 This book describes an inquiry into the upbringing of young cerebral palsied children Following the precedent set by John and Elizabeth Newson in their studies of normal children at home Sheila Hewett visited the mothers of 180 spastic children and obtained their personal accounts of their experiences There is considerable literature on handicapped children in which the adverse effects of their presence in the family are emphasized This study is the first to present not evidence provided by professional people but that of a large number of mothers of all social classes who have children with all degrees of handicap They tell in their own words how they meet the problems and anxieties of everyday life and how they strive to maintain the norms of family living in spite of their very real difficulties A measure of their success is provided by a number of comparisons with the families of normal children Hewett s nursing experience combined with a social science training and personal experience of parenthood contributed a useful background for this research Resulting as it does from close collaboration with the Newsons her work provides an important extension of the main work of the Child Development Research Unit in Nottingham It will help all those who work with handicapped children to achieve a better understanding of the families to whom they offer their specialist knowledge To the general public it offers an opportunity to gain insights into a situation which calls for their support and acceptance but not their pity For the parents of handicapped children themselves it provides a much needed opportunity to make their views known and to see that they are not alone in the difficulties which they face with such stoicism and resourcefulness This book s last aim has been achieved by using the now extensive information about the upbringing of normal children obtained from Nottingham mothers in the United Kingdom by John and Elizabeth Newson New Society ,1978 Hearings United States.
