Leading from the Trenches Stephen V. Newton,2018-10-16 School leaders know that instructional leadership is a crucial aspect of education However many of those leaders lack the knowledge and credibility to lead this work Leaders must be empowered to enter into and guide instructional conversations while building leadership capacity of their teachers in the process It is easy for administrators to get caught up in the daily managerial tasks of running a school Passionate educators become principals however to make a positive impact on the classroom opportunities and experiences of young people Because principals may not be experts in all areas of instruction they must develop their own skills to become genuine participants in instructional conversations However the task of a true leader is also to develop the leadership capacity of those around them to ensure that best practices are embraced in all classrooms The most important and consequential work in schools is happening in the trenches Principals must commit to join their teachers in that space With these new skills and a renewed commitment to genuine instructional leadership administrators can work collaboratively with teachers to transform the educational experience of all students

Visions in Psychotherapy Research and Practice Bernhard M. Strauss,Jacques P. Barber,Louis G.

Castonguay,2015-02-11 The Society for Psychotherapy Research SPR is devoted to the development and dissemination of research as well as the integration of empirical theoretical and clinical knowledge in psychotherapy A highlight of the SPR annual meeting is the presidential address wherein the president delivers what many view as the most important presentation of their career In Visions of Psychotherapy Bernhard Strauss Jacques Barber and Louis Castonguay three recent past presidents compile the preceding 20 presidential addresses from SPR into a single volume Then the living presidents 19 of the 20 comment on how the visions they described in their addresses have developed over time The Science of Perception and Memory Professor Daniel Reisberg, 2014-09-05 A robbery victim tries to remember how the crime unfolded and who was present at the scene A medical patient recalls the doctor saying that the pain in her side wasn't worrisome and now that the tumor is much larger she's suing An investigation of insider trading hinges on someone's memory of exactly what was said at a particular business meeting In these and countless other examples our ability to remember our experiences is crucial for the justice system The problem though is that perception and memory are fallible How often do our eyes or memories deceive us Is there some way to avoid these errors Can we specify the circumstances in which perceptual or memory errors are more or less likely to occur Professor Daniel Reisberg tackles these questions by drawing on the available science and his personal experience training attorneys He provides detailed pragmatic advice that will prove helpful to law enforcement prosecutors defenders and anyone else who hopes to maximize the quality of the evidence available to the courts whether the evidence is coming from witnesses victims or defendants This book is carefully rooted in research but written in a way that will make it fully accessible to non scientists working in the justice system Early chapters provide an overview of the relevant science and a broad portrait of how perception and memory function Later chapters offer practical solutions for navigating situations involving eyewitness identifications remembered conversations evidence obtained from interviews with children confession evidence and the risks of false confession
