Narrative Psychology Theodore R. Sarbin, 1986-05-15 This book features essays by the major supporters of the narrative metaphor They approach the subject from philosophical religious anthropological and historical perspectives as well as from the psychological point of view Psychologists psychiatrists and literary theorists will find the book provocative and a convenient reference source to the narrative approach National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1971 Biographical Dictionary of Psychology Noel Sheehy, Antony J. Chapman, Wendy A. Conroy, 2002 This volume is a comprehensive collection of critical essays on The Taming of the Shrew and includes extensive discussions of the play s various printed versions and its theatrical productions Aspinall has included only those essays that offer the most influential and controversial arguments surrounding the play The issues discussed include gender authority female autonomy and unruliness courtship and marriage language and speech and performance and theatricality

Narrative Identities George Yancy, 2005 The contributors address challenging questions about identity in relation to personality development language and socialisation They demonstrate how their cultural and historical contexts influenced their theoretical approaches to the nature of self and how these ideas in turn shaped how they perceive their personal histories Emotions in Ideal Human Development Leonard Cirillo, Barnard Kaplan, Seymour Wapner, 2014-01-14 Derived from a conference sponsored by the Heinz Werner Institute for Developmental Analysis at Clark University these papers consider the role emotions play in ideal human development Contributors from the fields of psychology philosophy and sociology discuss the place that feelings affect passion and emotion should ideally occupy in human existence and how realization of this goal can be fostered The conference organizers focused the discussions by asking the participants to consider six questions each of which was intended to touch upon some aspect of the relationship between emotions and ideal human development Chapters contain the papers presented and a summary of the discussions that followed the presentations Emotion and Adaptation Richard S. Lazarus, 1994-06-09 In this landmark work Richard Lazarus one of the world s foremost authorities offers a comprehensive treatment of the psychology of emotion its role in adaptation and the issues that must be addressed to understand it The work provides a complete theory of emotional processes explaining how different emotions are elicited and expressed and how the emotional range of individuals develops over their lifetime The author s approach puts emotion in a central role as a complex patterned organic reaction to both daily events and long term efforts on the part of the individual to survive flourish and achieve In his view emotions cannot be divorced from other functions whether biological social or cognitive and express the intimate personal meaning of what individuals experience As coping and adapting processes they are seen as part of the ongoing effort to monitor changes stimuli and stresses arising from the environment After defining emotion and discussing issues of classification and measurement Lazarus turns to the topics of motivation cognition and causality as key concepts in this theory Next he looks at individual emotions both negative and positive and examines their development in terms of social influences and individual events Finally he considers the long term consequences of emotion on physical health and well being and the treatment and prevention of emotional dysfunction The book draws together the relevant research from a wide variety of sources and distills the author's pioneering work in the field over the last forty years As a comprehensive treatment of the emotions the book will interest students clinicians and researchers involved in personality social and clinical psychology as well as cognitive and developmental psychology It may also be used as a supplemental textbook in courses on the psychology of adjustment emotion and feeling

Environment and Behavior Studies Irwin Altman, Kathleen Christensen, 2012-12-06 This eleventh volume in the series departs from the pattern of earlier volumes Some of those volumes addressed research design and policy topics in terms of environmental settings for example homes communities neighborhoods and public places Others focused on environmental users for example children and the elderly The present volume examines the field of environment and behavior studies itself in the form of intellectual histories of some of its most productive and still visible senior participants In so doing we hope to provide readers with a grand sweep of the field its research and design content methodology institutions and past and future trajectories through the experiences and intellectual histories of its participants Why intellectual histories Several factors led to the decision to launch this project For one 1989 was an anniversary and commemorative year for the Environmental Design Research Association perhaps the major and most long standing interdisciplinary organization of environment and behavior researchers and practitioners Established in 1969 this organization has been the vehicle for generations of researchers and practitioners from many disciplines to come together annually to exchange ideas present papers and develop professional and personal relationships It held its first and twentieth meetings in North Carolina with the twentieth conference substantially devoted to discussions of the past present and future of the field a taking stock so to speak Thus it seemed appropriate to launch a volume on intellectual histories at this significant juncture in the life of the field
