

A black and white photograph of a classroom. In the foreground, a young girl is looking up and to the left with an open mouth, as if speaking or singing. She is wearing a light-colored shirt. To her right, another child is partially visible, also looking in the same direction. In the background, other children are seated at desks, some looking towards the camera and others looking away. The classroom has a simple, functional appearance with desks and chairs. The text is overlaid in the center of the image.

Social Development In Africa Today:

The Handbook of Social Work and Social Development in Africa Mel Gray, 2016-10-26 All recent books on international social work mention Africa only briefly and few engage with the broader field of development studies This book focuses solely on the unique African context engaging with issues relating to social work and development more broadly thus enabling a deeper examination and more complex and nuanced picture to emerge Unlike most academic works this book highlights multiple practitioner voices with authors or co authors that have recently been or are currently practising social workers As an edited book it draws from both academic research as well as lived practice experience supported by strong theoretical positioning and guidance in introductory chapters drawing on African literature wherever possible Looking at case studies from Lesotho Botswana Kenya Zimbabwe Ethiopia Namibia Uganda Nigeria Kenya South Africa Rwanda Zambia and Tanzania and covering established areas of practice such as child protection working with older people working with people with disabilities mental health and mainstream services targeting women as well as emerging areas of developmental social work practice such as humanitarian assistance in post conflict situations work with immigrants and refugees and the training of community based workers this book takes a future oriented perspective that aims to move beyond well worn critiques to envision constructive and sustainable futures for social work and social development in Africa from a critical perspective

Africa's Social and Religious Quest Randee Ijatuyi-Morphé, 2014-01-30 This well crafted book probes the key dimensions of Africa's existential predicament It constitutes an intellectual response to a gnawing African situation the starting point for grasping Africa's social and religious quest Beyond split explanations of external versus internal factors e.g. colonization slavery vs leadership cultural values this study accounts more comprehensively for emergent issues shaping this situation The situation reflects a gamut of problems in traditional African religion and material culture which hitherto defines African communality politics and destinies vis-à-vis the cosmos and nature Thus African religion and communities each with its own attendant values do not operate by critical engagement with larger issues of society and civilization especially those shaped by the advent of post modernity Rather they operate via adaptation The communal drive for natural and social harmony inevitably produces a preservationist view of culture leaving things as they are This study takes an integrative approach to religion society and civilization eschews dichotomies and broadly defines and re-signifies life and wholeness as a true end of Africans quest today

Social Development in Africa Today Stephen Chan, 1991 Working for the Commonwealth Secretariat advising Government Ministries of Social Development and Youth Development on policy and programme strategies to deal with youth unemployment and training field staff from 1980 1985 Stephen Chan grew disillusioned with the planning orthodoxies of government ministries and international agencies alike These essays collected here for the first time present a spirited rejection of development orthodoxies while remaining thoughtful contributions to the development debate The text is in two basic parts one to do with youth and social development the other with the more general question of development aid which forms a context for any social development

The Global Face of Public Faith David Hollenbach, 2003-10-09 The Global Face of Public Faith addresses the hotly debated question of the role religion should play in politics in both the American and international contexts It engages the fears that public religion threatens American democracy and could lead to a global clash of civilizations and new wars of religion It analyzes how Christianity can attain common ground with other religious communities thus becoming a force for peace and human rights The separation of church from state need not mean the privatization of religion Religious engagement in public life can strengthen civic life by encouraging active citizen participation that promotes both justice and peace The question of religion and politics should thus become an argument about how faith becomes public not whether it does Religious communities Christianity in particular should be vigorous advocates of human rights democratic governance and economic development worldwide In so doing they will also become

Decolonizing Philosophies of Education Ali A. Abdi,2012-01-01 Philosophy of education basically deals with learning issues that attempt to explain or answer what we describe as the major questions of its domains i e what education is needed why such education and how would societies undertake and achieve such learning possibilities In different temporal and spatial intersections of people s lives the design as well as the outcome of such learning program were almost entirely indigenously produced but later they became perforce responsive to externally imposed demands where as far as the history and the actualities of colonized populations were concerned a cluster of de philosophizing and de epistemologizing educational systems were imposed upon them Such realities of colonial education were not conducive to inclusive social well being hence the need to ascertain and analyze new possibilities of decolonizing philosophies of education which this edited volume selectively aims to achieve The book should serve as a necessary entry point for a possible re routing of contemporary learning systems that are mostly of de culturing and de historicizing genre With that in mind the recommendations contained in the 12 chapters should herald the potential of decolonizing philosophies of education as liberating learning and livelihood praxes This collection of critical and scholarly analyses provides an insightful and timely resource for decolonizing philosophies of education that continue to shape discourses policies curricula and practices in all levels of educational and social institutions It also usefully challenges versions of postcolonial studies that fail to recognize and demystify the continuity of colonial hegemony in contemporary societal formations in both the global north and south Toh Swee Hin Distinguished Professor University for

Environmental Change and Sustainable Social Development Sven Hesse, 2016-05-06 How does climate change affect social work and social development What actions are needed to integrate the three pillars of economic development environmental development and social protection With global warming and the increase in natural disasters due to the emission of greenhouse gases an alternative approach to the natural environment is vital The main focus of this volume is to emphasize the person in environment concept and to find measures for its implementation For social work the environment has traditionally been viewed as a world of human relationships as opposed to the interaction between man and environment This informative and incisively written edited collection brings together experts from around the world to analyze the person in environment concept and to find measures for its implementation Through the presentation of theoretical and practical platforms for environmental social work or green social work we hope to bring about a new paradigmatic shift in our attitude to the concept of person in environment
