Four years ago, our fathers dedicated this cemetery to those who died for their country.

The civil war is a test to see if a democracy will survive. We are dedicating this cemetery to those who died for their country.

The Gettysburg Address

But, in a larger sense, we can not dedicate this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it, far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for the living, rather, that they dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is for them, that we are here today. Their great task, remaining before us -- that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion -- that the nation, so greatly advanced by their sacrifice, may yet fulfill the noble mission which it has thus far so nobly advanced. That the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth.
