Recording for the Blind & Dyslexic, ... Catalog of Books ,1996 The Audience of Matthew Cedric E. W.

Vine,2014-04-24 This book seeks to establish the inadequacy of readings of the Gospel of Matthew as intended for and a reflection of a local audience or community Despite repeated challenges the local audience thesis continues to dominate a large proportion of Matthean scholarship and as such the issue of determining the Gospel's audience remains an open question This book posits four main critiques First the assumptions which underpin the text focused process of identifying the Gospel's audience whether deemed to be local Jewish or universal lack clarity Literary entities such as the implied reader the intended reader or the authorial audience prove inadequate as a means of identifying the Gospel's audience Second local audience readings necessarily exclude plot related developments and are both selective and restrictive in their treatment of characterisation Much is lost or ignored as a coherent and simplified audience context is derived from the complex narrative world of the Gospel Third this book argues that many in an audience of the Gospel would have incorporated their experience of hearing Matthew within pre existing mental representations shaped by Mark or other early traditions Thus they would have understood the Gospel as relating to events and settings distinct from their own context regardless of the degree to which they identified with characters or events in the Gospel Fourth this book argues that early Christian audiences were largely heterogeneous in terms of ethnicity age sex wealth familiarity with Christian traditions and levels of commitment As such the aural reception of the Gospel would have resulted in a variety of impacts A number of these critiques extend beyond the local audience option and for this reason this thesis does not posit a particular audience for the Gospel
