A Mirror in the Roadway Morris Dickstein,2021-08-10 In a famous passage in The Red and the Black the French writer Stendhal described the novel as a mirror being carried along a roadway In the twentieth century this was derided as a na ve notion of realism Instead modern writers experimented with creative forms of invention and dislocation Deconstructive theorists went even further questioning whether literature had any real reference to a world outside its own language while traditional historians challenged whether novels gave a trustworthy representation of history and society In this book Morris Dickstein reinterprets Stendhal s metaphor and tracks the different worlds of a wide array of twentieth century writers from realists like Theodore Dreiser Sinclair Lewis Edith Wharton and Willa Cather through modernists like Franz Kafka and Samuel Beckett to wildly inventive postwar writers like Saul Bellow G nter Grass Mary McCarthy George Orwell Philip Roth and Gabriel Garc a M rquez Dickstein argues that fiction will always yield rich insight into its subject and that literature can also be a form of historical understanding Writers refract the world through their forms and sensibilities He shows how the work of these writers recaptures yet also transforms the life around them the world inside them and the universe of language and feeling they share with their readers Through lively and incisive essays directed to general readers as well as students of literature Dickstein redefines the literary landscape a landscape in which reading has for decades been devalued by society and distorted by theory Having begun with a reconsideration of realism the book concludes with several essays probing the strengths and limitations of a historical approach to literature and criticism

H. Reese,2017-06-06

The Short Story in Midcentury America provides in depth case studies of four major writers of the post World War II era Paul Bowles Mary McCarthy Eudora Welty and Tennessee Williams examining how they used the contained aesthetics of short fiction to map out an oppositional stance to the dominant narratives both political and literary of mid twentieth century U S culture Sam V H Reese presents a new understanding of the connections between politics ideology and literary form arguing that writers employed the short story to critique the cultural mores of the early Cold War The four authors under discussion found themselves socially marginalized by mainstream U S culture due to such factors as their gender sexual orientation religion and foreign residence Reese shows that each author embraced the short story's compressed form as a means of resisting political coercion and conformity speaking out in support of freedom and open expression Reese argues that these four writers used the formal restrictions of the short story to develop a type of fiction that became recognizably countercultural challenging the expansive sprawling novels then receiving acclaim from critics His analysis underscores the means by which each author's short stories utilized the aesthetic practices of mediums outside conventional narrative fiction Bowles's career as a composer McCarthy's criticism and memoirs Williams's playwriting and Welty's photography By studying both their prose and its conceptualization Reese reveals how writers resisted the political and stylistic pressures that defined U S literary culture in the early years of the Cold War In The Short Story in Midcentury America Reese establishes a new framework for considering countercultural literature in the United States reassessing the critical standing of the short story and re evaluating the relationship between marginal social positions and literary form during the mid twentieth century

Arendt and Erich Fromm and show how their work linked the old left of the Thirties to the new left of the Sixties Lewis Mumford Rachel Carson and Fairfield Osborn laid the groundwork for environmental activism Herbert Marcuse Margaret Mead and Leo Szilard articulated opposition to the postwar scientific technological state Alternatives to mass culture were proposed by Allen Ginsberg James Baldwin and Mary McCarthy and Saul Alinsky Dorothy Day and Martin Luther King Jr made politics personal This is an unusual book written with an intimacy that brings to life both intellect and emotion The portraits featured here clearly demonstrate that the transforming radicalism of the Sixties grew from the legacy of an earlier generation of thinkers With a deep awareness of the historical trends in American culture the authors show us the continuing relevance these partisan intellectuals have for our own age In a time colored by political correctness and the ascendancy of market liberalism it is well to remember the partisan intellectuals of the 1950s They took sides and dissented without becoming dogmatic May we be able to say the same about ourselves from Chapter 7 This title is part of UC Press s Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press s mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1994 The Sixties The powerful images conveyed by those two words have become an enduring part of American cultural and political history But where did Sixties radicalism come from Who planted the intellectual seeds that brought it into being These questi
