The Application of the Third Generation of Cognitive-Behavioral Approaches to Parenting

Helena Moreira, Eva S. Potharst, Maria Cristina Canavarro, 2019-12-10 In recent years there has been growing interest in understanding how the third generation of cognitive behavioral approaches particularly mindfulness compassion and acceptance based approaches can contribute to the design of more efficacious parenting interventions and to a better understanding of parenting behaviors and the parent child relationship However the application of third generation cognitive behavioral therapies and concepts to parenting is still in its infancy and further research is needed to explore the potential of these approaches to enhance existing parenting interventions or to inform the development of new parenting interventions targeting different groups of parents and their children More research is also needed to understand how mindfulness self compassion acceptance and other related psychological processes may influence parenting practices the parent child relationship and the child's socioemotional development With this e book presenting state of the art research articles on third generation cognitive behavioral approaches a new step is taken in 1 exploring relations between parenting related issues and concepts from the third generation cognitive behavioral framework and 2 examining parenting interventions informed by third generation cognitive behavioral therapies socialization perspectives regard parenting as the primary factor that shapes child and adolescent development to a large extent. Meanwhile, the ecological perspective highlights the bi-directional nature of interactions between children and parents by which they affect each other. Parenting can be parents' active socialization actions that influence their children's development, i.e., parent effect; it can also be parents' reactions to their children's social and emotional functioning, i.e., child effect. Primary Prevention in Mental Health Edison J. Trickett, Cerene Cahiyal, Cerene Dahiyat, Peter M. Selby, 1994

Experiential Approach for Developing Multicultural Counseling Competence Mary L. Fawcett, Kathy M. Evans, 2012-04-19 This book is for students preparing for a career in counseling or mental health. It helps them develop the key skills of working effectively with clients from diverse backgrounds by providing a ready-made resource of multicultural and diversity activities that instructors can assign to enhance student learning in class. Innovative Approaches to Supporting Families of Young Children Cheri J. Shapiro, Charlyn Harper Browne, 2016-08-02 This invaluable reference introduces successful strengths-based programs for aiding families of young children in critical social contexts: family, school, community, and policy. The wide range of systems contextual approaches described here are based in current understanding of children's development, stress, and resilience in families; cultural competence; and the two-generational approach to intervention. Research-based examples across early care and early learning platforms illustrate the links between parental protective factors and children's academic and social outcomes, and between family stability and larger social goals. By supporting parents and children equally, the contributors assert, these interventions more fully address developmental and family issues than programs that mainly serve one generation or the other. Included in the coverage: Parent and community-focused approaches to supporting parents of young children; the Family Networks Project; honoring parenting values, expectations, and approaches across cultures; building young children's executive functions at home and in early care and education settings; promoting early childhood development in the pediatric medical home; neighborhood approaches to supporting families of young children; public policy strategies to promote the well-being of families with young children. Innovative Approaches for Supporting Parents of Young Children benefits professionals and practitioners working to support families of young children, particularly those interested in social work, psychology, public policy, and public health.
