The Complete Novels And Selected Tales Of Nathaniel Hawthorne G37:

The Canterbury Tales Geoffrey Chaucer, 1392 Chaucer's work begins at the Tabard Inn in Southwark England where a group of pilgrims have assembled on their way to Canterbury Harry Bailly the innkeeper suggests a contest whoever tells the best tale will win a supper when they reach Canterbury

Anthology of American Negro Literature Victor Francis Calverton, 1929

The Garden Party K. Mansfield, 1917

The Guermantes Way Marcel Proust, The twittering of the birds at daybreak sounded insipid to Fran oise Every word uttered by the maids upstairs made her jump disturbed by all their running about she kept asking herself what they could be doing In other words we had moved Certainly the servants had made no less noise in the attics of our old home but she knew them she had made of their comings and goings familiar events Now she faced even silence with a strained attention And as our new neighbourhood appeared to be as quiet as the boulevard on to which we had hitherto looked had been noisy the song distinct at a distance when it was still quite faint like an orchestral motif of a passer by brought tears to the eyes of a Fran oise in exile And so if I had been tempted to laugh at her in her misery at having to leave a house in which she was so well respected on all sides and had packed her trunks with tears according to the Use of Combray declaring superior to all possible houses that which had been ours on the other hand I who found it as hard to assimilate new as I found it easy to abandon old conditions I felt myself drawn towards our old servant when I saw that this installation of herself in a building where she had not received from the hall porter who did not yet know us the marks of respect necessary to her moral wellbeing had brought her positively to the verge of dissolution She alone could understand what I was feeling certainly her young footman was not the person to do so for him who was as unlike the Combray type as it was possible to conceive packing up moving living in another district were all like taking a holiday in which the novelty of one's surroundings gave one the same sense of refreshment as if one had actually travelled he thought he was in the country and a cold in the head afforded him as though he had been sitting in a draughty railway carriage the delicious sensation of having seen the world at each fresh sneeze he rejoiced that he had found so smart a place having always longed to be with people who travelled a lot And so without giving him a thought I went straight to Fran oise who in return for my having laughed at her tears over a removal which had left me cold now shewed an icy indifference to my sorrow but because she shared it The sensibility claimed by neurotic people is matched by their egotism they cannot abide the flaunting by others of the sufferings to which they pay an ever increasing attention in themselves Fran oise who would not allow the least of her own ailments to pass unnoticed if I were in pain would turn her head from me so that I should not have the satisfaction of seeing my sufferings pitied or so much as observed It was the same as soon as I tried to speak to her about our new house Moreover having been obliged a day or two later to return to the house we had just left to retrieve some clothes which had been overlooked in our removal while I as a result of it had still a temperature and like a boa constrictor that has just swallowed an ox felt myself painfully distended by the sight of a long trunk which my eyes had still to digest

Fran oise with true feminine inconstancy came back saying that she had really thought she would stifle on our old boulevard it was so stuffy that she had found it quite a day s journey to get there that never had she seen such stairs that she would not go back to live there for a king s ransom not if you were to offer her millions a pure hypothesis and that everything everything that is to say to do with the kitchen and usual offices was much better fitted up in the new house Which it is high time now that the reader should be told and told also that we had moved into it because my grandmother not having been at all well though we took care to keep this reason from her was in need of better air was a flat forming part of the H tel de Guermantes

Sons and Lovers David Herbert Lawrence,1922 Lawrence s first major novel was also the first in the English language to explore ordinary working class life from the inside No writer before or since has written so well about the intimacies enforced by a tightly knit mining community and by a family where feelings are never hidden forlong Paul Morel is caught between his need for family and community and his efforts to define himself sexually and emotionally Lawrence s powerful description of Paul s relationships makes this a novel as much for the beginning of the twenty first century as it was for the beginning of the twentieth

The Captive Marcel Proust,1929 Albertine is living with the narrator under his own roof He has tired of her yet is held to her by the torturing bonds of suspicion and jealousy of her relations with other women The long novel is an analysis of the narrator s soul upon the rack of jealousy At the end come the anticipated break between the lovers Book Review Digest 1929

Dead Souls Николай Васильевич Гоголь,1923 A stranger arrives in a Russian backwater community with a bizarre proposition for the local landowners cash for their dead souls the serfs who have died in their service and for whom they must continue to pay taxes until the next census The landowner receives a payment and a relief of his tax burden and the stranger receives what Gogol s comic masterpiece offers a vast and satirical painting of the Russian panorama as it traces the path and encounters of its mysterious protagonist in pursuit of his dubious scheme Dead Souls regarded as both a realistic portrait of nineteenth century Russia and a work of great symbolism continues to inspire twenty first century authors and readers

Point Counter Point Aldous Huxley,1928 A novel of the hectic lifestyle of the 1920 s in which the characters experiment with libertine sex political anarchism and the death of God theory

The Philosophy of Plato Plato,1928

The Picture of Dorian Gray Oscar Wilde,1909

Eminent Victorians Lytton Strachey,1918

Aeschylus Aeschylus,1960

The Guermantes Way Marcel Proust,1925 The third volume of Marcel Proust s In Search of Lost Time which portrays fashionable Parisian life in the late nineteenth century where the narrator enters the brilliant shallow world of the literary and aristocratic salons Both a salute to and devastating satire of a time a place and a culture

The Old Wives' Tale Arnold Bennett,1911

The Odyssey Homer,1960

Buddenbrooks Thomas Mann,1924

Washington Square Henry James,1950 The shy and sweet daughter of a well to do physician Catherine Sloper seems destined for lifelong spinsterhood until the sudden appearance of a dashing suitor who proposes marriage Her adored father suspects the would be fiance of fortune hunting and threatens her with disinheritance forcing

Catherine to choose between lover and father Setting his novel in New York City of the 1840s James masterfully explores the moral consequences of a tender heart's ruthless manipulation

The Greek Commonwealth Sir Alfred Eckhard Zimmern, 1956 It is not the purpose of this book to tell any part of the story of Greek history That lies within the province of the narrative historian Our object is a more modest one to group together certain facts and to trace the course of certain ideas which may help to make that story and the men who acted in it more intelligible to modern readers Greek civilization differs from our own both in its material environment and in its feelings and ideas Our method will be to deal first with the main features of that environment next with the political institutions which the Greeks established within it next with their means of livelihood that is with their economics or housekeeping and lastly with the conflict which arose as it has arisen in many modern civilized communities between the driving necessities of economic development and the accepted institutions and ideals of national life a conflict which brought inward unhappiness and outward disaster upon the foremost Greek community at the very height of her greatness and left its mark upon the mind and writings of the men who laid the foundations of European political thought We shall thus be approaching Greek civilization from a direction contrary to that often taken by modern writers approaching it from the side on which its differences from our own are most apparent and from which its unique characteristics are most easily seized
