Fomenko,2013-04-17 We present certain empirico statistical methods for the analysis of narrative and numerical data extracted from different texts of historical character such as chronicles or annals They are based on several statistical principles worked out by the author and originally reported at the Third International Vilnius Conference on Probability Theory and Mathematical Statistics in 1981 The principal results were published in the papers 15 32 293 299 304 319 and in the book A T Fomenko Methods for Statistical Analysis of Narrative Texts and Applications to Chronology Moscow Univ Press Moscow 1990 in Russian See also Part 1 The methods are applied to the problem of correct dating of the events in ancient and medieval history These results induce conjectures on the redating of some important ancient historical events Generally speaking we might say that the commonly accepted Modern Text book of ancient and medieval European Mediterranean Egyptian and Middle Eastern history is a fibered layered chronicle obtained by gluing together four nearly identical copies of a shorter original chronicle The other three chronicles are obtained from the original chronicle by redating and renaming the events described in them we rigidly move the original chronicle in its entirety backwards in time by approximately 333 1053 and 1778 years Thus the full Modern Textbook can be reconstructed from its smaller part namely from the original chronicle for the 9 17th cc A D See Appendix 1 Figs 101 104 Senate documents ,1893 The American Journal of the Medical Sciences ,1903 Unit Supply Quartermaster School (U.S.),1943 Collected Papers of the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minnesota Mayo Clinic,1923 Los Angeles School Journal ,1921 Scientific Canadian Mechanics' Magazine and Patent Office Record Canada. The Quest for Food Harald Brüssow, 2007-06-01 When you go into a scientific library or look through the catalogues of scientific publishers you will quickly find books from food scientists food technologists food chemists food microbiologists and food toxicologists Agronomists nutritionists and physicians have written on food and last but not least cooks What I missed was a book on food written from the perspective of a biologist When Susan Safren the food science editor from Springer Science Business Media LLC invited me to write a book I decided that I would write this book on food biology What I had in mind was a survey on eating through space and time in a very fundamental way but not in the format of a systematic textbook The present book is more of an ordered collection of scientific essays Contents In Chapter 1 I start with a prehistoric Venus to explore the relationship between sex and food Then I use another lady Europe to investigate the strong links between food and culture I then ask what is eating in a very basic but simple physicochemical sense In Chapters 2 and 3 I embark on a biochemistry oriented travel following the path of a food molecule through the central carbon pathway until it is decomposed into CO and H₂O and a lot of ATP My account does not intend to teach biochemistry but to use recent research articles from major scientific journals to look behind food biochemistry
