Studies in Text Grammar J.S. Petöfi, Hannes Rieser, 2012-12-06 If we consider how theoretical operations belonging to the methodological inventory of linguistics are carried out i.e. the way linguistic theories are set up three main criteria suggest themselves for classifying them 1 Both nature and type of the aims of the scientific knowledge applied which allow to specify the epistemological interests as well as the theoretical impact constituting the purpose of linguistic operations 2 the nature of the intellectual procedures in connection with which a set of intersubjectively acceptable operations should guarantee that current postulates of the theory of science be maintained 3 the set of data serving as an empirical basis for the theories to be established on the one hand and as a correlate for the further development the testing and the evaluation of theories on the other hand It is to be considered a basic concept as well as a motive of current text linguistic research that due to the linguistic analysis of discourses a further development of linguistics has set in or is still to be achieved as regards the three criteria mentioned above Therefore if we want to estimate text linguistic approaches or concepts works methods or knowledge results we should take the view allowing for the general valuation of the linguistic discipline or one of its sub disciplines This should be done with respect to the contributions gathered in this volume as well The Normative

Foundations of European Competition Law Oles Andriychuk, 2017-08-25 Does competitive process constitute an autonomous societal value or is it a means for achieving more meritorious goals welfare growth integration and innovation The hypothesis of The Normative Foundations of European Competition Law is that the former is the case This insightful book analyses the phenomenon of competition from philosophical legal and economic perspectives demonstrating exactly why competitive process should not be viewed only as an instrument It consolidates various normative theories of freedom market and competition and explains how exactly they can be operationalized effectively in the matrix of the EU competition policy

The Structure Underlying Measure Phrase Sentences W.G. Klooster, 2012-12-06 I should like to express my gratitude to my supervisor Professor H. Schultink whose criticisms and careful reading helped me to improve considerably upon the clarity of exposition while I wrote this study and whose seemingly innocent requests to elaborate confronted me time and again with the need of revising or abandoning ideas I thought stood on firm ground His support and Dr M. C. van den Toom's gratefully acknowledged willingness to read and evaluate the manuscript enabled me to present this work as a thesis in the University of Utrecht In more than one way I owe a debt to Albert Kraak Professor of Linguistics in the University of Nijmegen His inspiring enthusiasm awakened my interest in linguistics when I was a student of his He introduced me to transformational grammar at a time when it seemed almost improper to talk about it and the stimulating experience of writing a book on Dutch syntax together with him taught me invaluable lessons I should also like to thank my friend and colleague Henk Verkuyl together with whom I prepared an article on the subject of measuring duration in Dutch Without our stimulating discussions on the subject the fourth chapter of this study could never have been written in the present form I am also indebted to him for criticisms and helpful suggestions At an early stage I profited greatly from discussions with Pieter A M

Trends in Soviet Theoretical Linguistics F. Kiefer, 2012-12-06 o Theoretical linguistics is a term not very often used in Soviet Linguistics The terms structural linguistics mathematical linguistics applied linguistics which incidentally has another meaning here than in other parts of the world all may cover theoretical work in linguistics In older days serious theoretical work was done under the heading machine translation Very often the need for a special term for theoretically oriented studies in linguistics does not even arise Does this mean that there is no real theoretical linguistics in the Soviet Union This would be of course a completely false conclusion Some linguists tend to identify theoretical linguistics with generative grammar Though it might be true and I am myself very much inclined to subscribe to this view that generative grammar has been the most fruitful linguistic theory up to now this does not justify however the above identification Incidentally as we shall see later on generative grammar has not been left unnoticed in the Soviet Union either There are different trends within theoretical linguistics one of which is generative grammar While generative grammar though one can worry about the content of this notion for many internal and external reasons seems to be the main theoretical trend in the United States and in Western Europe it represents only one of the main trends in Soviet linguistics

The Verb 'be' and Its Synonyms John W. M. Verhaar, 1973 Library Catalogue: Author catalogue University of London. School of Oriental and African Studies. Library, 1963 Books in Print Supplement, 2002 Consumer Neuroscience - Foundation, Validation, and Relevance Thomas Zoëga Ramsoy, Hilke Plassmann, Carolyn Yoon, Joseph T. Devlin, 2023-08-07 Consumer neuroscience has become an expanding area of both research and conduct spanning from academic interests in the brain bases of consumption choices to commercial application of neuroscience tools and metrics However many of these advances are still criticized for low applicability scattered publication records conceptual vagueness and a lack of proper scientific and commercial validation To make matters worse there is now a host of proposed commercial applications of both the insights from neuroscience and the application of neuroscience and neurophysiology tools to test consumer responses While many of these approaches may be valid many other approaches are either not properly validated or may be flawed misguided or even outright lies As a discipline there is a need for both the basic and applied research in consumer neuroscience to become aligned The purpose of this Research Topic is to provide this much needed platform for such an industrial alignment In doing so this Research Topic will provide perspectives on three main areas 1 distinctions between basic translational and applied consumer neuroscience research 2 conceptual clarification on key concepts relevant to the science and application of consumer neuroscience 3 validation of consumer neuroscience methods and how they relate to commercially relevant cases For this Research Topic we therefore welcome submissions that combine academic and commercial research all in the vein of making advances in establishing a valid applicable consumer neuroscience      Library Journal Melvil Dewey, Karl Brown, Frederick Leypoldt, Bertine Emma Weston, Helen E Wessells, 1971 Includes beginning Sept 15 1954 and on the 15th of each month Sept May a special section School library journal ISSN 0000 0035 called Juniorlibraries 1954 May 1961 Issued also separately      Linguistic Descriptions of the Greek New Testament Stanley E. Porter, 2023-08-10 Stanley E Porter provides descriptions of various important topics in Greek linguistics from a Systemic Functional Linguistics SFL perspective an approach that has been foundational to Porter s long and influential career in the field of New Testament Greek Deep insights into Porter s understanding of SFL are displayed throughout based either upon how he positions SFL in relation to other linguistic models or how he utilizes it to describe topics within Greek and New Testament studies Porter reflects on his core approach to the Greek New Testament by exploring subjects such as metaphor rhetoric cognition orality and textuality as well as studies on linguistic schools of thought and traditional grammar      Word Meaning and Montague Grammar D. R. Dowty, 1979-10-31 The most general goal of this book is to propose and illustrate a program of research in word semantics that combines some of the methodology and results in linguistic semantics primarily that of the generative semantics school with the rigorously formalized syntactic and semantic framework for the analysis of natural languages developed by Richard Montague and his associates a framework in which truth and denotation with respect to a model are taken as the fundamental semantic notions I hope to show both from the linguist s and the philosopher s point of view not only why this synthesis can be undertaken but also why it will be useful to pursue it On the one hand the linguists decompositions of word meanings into more primitive parts are by themselves inherently incomplete in that they deal only in distinctions in meaning without providing an account of what mean ings really are Not only can these analyses be made complete by a model theoretic semantics but also such an account of these analyses renders them more exact and more readily testable than they could ever be otherwise      The Verb 'be' and Its Synonyms: Urdu, Turkish, Bengali, Amharic, Indonesian, Telugu, Estonian John W. M. Verhaar, 1967 The present volume is the fifth of a series of studies analysing the verb to be and or synonyms in a number of languages It is expected that these studies will provide some of the necessary foundational material for research in logic the theory of knowledge and ontology and possibly in other philosophical disciplines The concluding volume of the series will attempt to assess the linguistic and philosophical impact of all the contributions Except for the concluding volume the present volume is the last in the series which collects contributions by more than one author I have availed myself of this opportunity to reprint here with the authors permission two papers on to be which appeared earlier in Foundations of Language Being and Having in Estonian by Ilse Lehiste and Being in Linguistics and Philosophy a Preliminary Inquiry by A C Graham These two papers appear at the end of the volume all other papers appear in the order in which they reached the editor s desk Two more volumes are to precede the concluding volume a study of to be in Ancient Greek by Charles H Kahn and a study on to be in biblical Hebrew and biblical Greek by James Barr      Library Journal , 1971-10      The Reality of the Unobservable E. Agazzi, M. Pauri, 2013-04-17 Observability and Scientific Realism It is commonly thought that the birth of modern natural science was made possible by an intellectual shift from a mainly abstract and speculative conception of the world to a carefully elaborated image based on observations There is some grain of truth in this claim but this grain depends very much on what one takes observation to be In the philosophy of science of our century observation has been practically equated with sense perception This is understandable if we think of the attitude of radical empiricism that inspired Ernst Mach and the philosophers of the Vienna Circle who powerfully influenced our century's philosophy of science However this was not the attitude of the founders of modern science Galileo for example expressed in a famous passage of the Assayer the conviction that perceptual features of the world are merely subjective and are produced in the anima by the motion and impacts of unobservable particles that are endowed uniquely with mathematically expressible properties and which are therefore the real features of the world Moreover on other occasions when defending the Copernican theory he explicitly remarked that in admitting that the Sun is static and the Earth turns on its own axis reason must do violence to the sense and that it is thanks to this violence that one can know the true constitution of the universe Annual Report of the National Science Foundation National Science Foundation (U.S.), 1958
