The Conditioned Imagination From Shakespeare To Conrad Studies In The Exo Cultural Stereotype:

The Conditioned Imagination from Shakespeare to Conrad Michael J. C. Echeruo, 1978-01-01 The Jewish Persona in the European Imagination Leonid Livak, 2010-09-10 This book proposes that the idea of the Jews in European cultures has little to do with actual Jews but rather is derived from the conception of Jews as Christianity's paradigmatic Other eternally reenacting their morally ambiguous New Testament role as the Christ bearing and killing chosen people of God Through new readings of canonical Russian literary texts by Gogol Turgenev Chekhov Babel and others the author argues that these European writers Christian secular and Jewish based their representation of Jews on the Christian exegetical tradition of anti Judaism Indeed Livak disputes the classification of some Jewish writers as belonging to Jewish literature arguing that such an approach obscures these writers debt to European literary traditions and their ambivalence about their Jewishness This work seeks to move the study of Russian literature and Russian Jewish literature in particular down a new path It will stir up controversy around Christian Jewish cultural interaction the representation of otherness in European arts and folklore modern Jewish experience and Russian literature and culture Conrad and Imperialism Benita Parry, 1983-06-18 The Critical Imagination in African Literature Maik Nwosu, Obiwu, 2015-06-09 In African studies the Echeruoan ideal is understood as an intervention or intellectual engagement characterized by a broadness of vision as well as a depth of analysis The essays gathered in this volume celebrate that ideal and honor Echeruo's contribution to the African intellectual tradition Editors Nwosu and Obiwu explore the driving forces in the literature of Africa and the African diaspora Contributors examine such themes as migration and exile trauma and repression violence and rebellion and gender and human rights Showcasing a rich diversity of cultural and academic backgrounds this volume inaugurates a new paradigm for further examination of African literature as world literature and for analysis of African literature through the lens of psychoanalytic semiotics While varied in modes of inquiry the essays are unified in their ambition to explore new theoretical directions reinvigorating the conversation around how African literature is read and studied Pragmatic Perspectives on Postcolonial Discourse Christoph Schubert, Laurenz Volkmann, 2016-06-22 In sociolinguistic research on Englishes world wide little has been published on the pragmatics of postcolonial varieties This interdisciplinary volume closes this research gap by providing integrative investigations of postcolonial discourses probing the interstices between linguistic methodologies and literary text analysis The literary texts under discussion are conceptualized as media both reflecting and creating reality so that they provide valuable insights into postcolonial discourse phenomena The contributions deal with the issue of how postcolonial Englishes such as those spoken in India Nigeria South Africa and the Caribbean have produced different pragmatic conventions in a complex interplay of culture specific and global linguistic practices They show the ways in which hybrid communicative situations based on ethnic cultural and linguistic diversity result in similarly hybrid social and communicative routines The central pragmatic paradigms discussed here include im politeness speech act conventions

Moore,2010-04-10 Heart of Darkness Joseph Conrad s fictional account of a journey up the Congo river in 1890 raises important questions about colonialism and narrative theory This casebook contains materials relevant to a deeper understanding of the origins and reception of this controversial text including Conrad s own story An Outpost of Progress together with a little known memoir by one of Conrad s oldest English friends a brief history of the Congo Free State by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle and a parody of Conrad by Max Beerbohm A wide range of theoretical approaches are also represented examining Conrad s text in terms of cultural historical textual stylistic narratological post colonial feminist and reader response criticism The volume concludes with an interview in which Conrad compares his adventures on the Congo with Mark Twain s experiences as a Mississippi pilot The Conditioned Imagination from Shakespeare to Conrad Michael J. C. Echeruo,1978 Barbaric Intercourse Martha Banta,2003-01-15 Barbaric Intercourse tells the story of a century of social upheaval and the satiric attacks it inspired in leading periodicals in both England and America Martha Banta explores the politics of caricature and cartoon from 1841 to 1936 devoting special attention to the original Life magazine For Banta Life embodied all the strengths and weaknesses of the Progressive Era whose policies of reform sought to cope with the frenetic urbanization of New York the racist laws of the Jim Crow South and the rise of jingoism in the United States Barbaric Intercourse shows how Life s take on these trends and events resulted in satires both cruel and enlightened Banta also deals extensively with London s Punch a sharp critic of American nationalism and draws from images and writings in magazines as diverse as Puck The Crisis Harper s Weekly and The International Socialist Review Orchestrating a wealth of material including reproductions of rarely seen political cartoons she offers a richly layered account of the cultural struggles of the age from contests over immigration and the role of the New Negro in American society to debates over Wall Street greed women s suffrage and the moral consequences of Western expansionism Anti-Semitic Stereotypes Frank Felsenstein,1999-03-19 This work focuses on English cultural attitudes toward Jews from roughly 1660 to 1830 Frank Felsenstein describes the persistence through the period of certain negative biases that in many cases can be traced back at least to the late Middle Ages The Business of Satirical Prints in Late-Georgian England James Baker,2017-04-06 This book explores English single sheet satirical prints published from 1780 1820 the people who made those prints and the businesses that sold them It examines how these objects were made how they were sold and how both the complexity of the production process and the necessity to sell shaped and constrained the satiric content these objects contained It argues that production sale and environment are crucial to understanding late Georgian satirical prints A majority of these prints were after all published in London and were therefore woven into the commercial culture of the Great Wen Because of this city and its culture the activities of the many individuals involved in transforming a single satirical design into a saleable and commercially viable object were underpinned by a nexus of making selling and consumption Neglecting any one part of this nexus does a disservice both to the late Georgian satirical print these most beloved objects of British art and to the story of their late Georgian apotheosis a story that James Baker develops not through the designs these objects contained but rather through those objects and the designs they contained in the making

Beyond Pug's Tour ,2022-06-08 At a time when the world Europe especially is once more threatened by murderous conflicts between groups of people claiming ethnic and national identity as a basis for sovereignty over specific territories it is timely to consider the part that literature has played and is playing in the creation of ethnic and national stereotypes What role do such stereotypes have in literature How are they created From what materials are they constructed What purpose do ethnic and national stereotypes serve Can it ever be a useful one Are they avoidable Can we live without them What can be done about the deleterious effects they may be thought to produce Stereotyping is worldwide is there a tribe race and nation in existence which escapes being stereotyped by its neighbours In what sense are these stereotypes accurate How are these stereotypes reflected in and reinforced by literature Should and can literature do anything about them In Beyond Pug's Tour National and Ethnic Stereotyping in Theory and Literary Practice literary scholars as well as academics engaged in sociological and psychological research consider these and other questions by examining the work of specific authors and the circumstances in which stereotyping plays such a crucial part

Constructions of 'the Jew' in English Literature and Society Bryan Cheyette,1995-10-26 Combining cultural theory discourse analysis and new historicism with readings of the works of major contemporary authors this study concludes that the Jew is characterized unstereotypically as the embodiment of uncertainty within English literature and society

The English Novel, 1700-1740 Robert Letellier,2003-02-28 The English novel written between 1700 and 1740 remains a comparatively neglected area In addition to Daniel Defoe whose Robinson Crusoe and Moll Flanders are landmarks in the history of English fiction many other authors were at work These included such women as Penelope Aubin Jane Barker Mary Davys and Eliza Haywood who made a considerable contribution to widening the range of emotional responses in fiction These authors and many others continued writing in the genres inherited from the previous century such as criminal biographies the Utopian novel the science fictional voyage and the epistolary novel This annotated bibliography includes entries for these works and for critical materials pertinent to them The volume first seeks to establish the existing studies of the era along with anthologies It then provides entries for a wide ranging selection of works which cover fictional theoretical historical political and cultural topics to provide a comprehensive background to the unfolding and understanding of prose fiction in the early 18th century This is followed by an alphabetical listing of novels their editions and any critical material available on each The next section provides a chronological record of significant and enduring works of fiction composed or translated in this period The volume concludes with extensive indexes

The Reception of Joseph Conrad in Europe

Robert Hampson, Véronique Pauly, 2022-05-05 Born and brought up in Poland bilingually in French and Polish but living for most of his professional life in England and writing in English Joseph Conrad was from the start as much a European writer as he was a British one and his work from his earliest fictions through Heart of Darkness Nostromo and The Secret Agent to his later novels has repeatedly been the focal point of discussions about key issues of the modern age With chapters written by leading international scholars this book provides a wide ranging survey of the reception translation and publication history of Conrad's works across Europe Covering reviews and critical discussion and with some attention to adaptations in other media these chapters situate Conrad's works in their social and political context The book also includes bibliographies of key translations in each of the European countries covered and a timeline of Conrad's reception throughout the continent

Asia in Western fiction Robin Winks, 2017-03-01 Any reader who has ever visited Asia knows that the great bulk of Western language fiction about Asian cultures turns on stereotypes This book a collection of essays explores the problem of entering Asian societies through Western fiction since this is the major port of entry for most school children university students and most adults In the thirteenth century serious attempts were made to understand Asian literature for its own sake Hau Kioou Chooan a typical Chinese novel was quite different from the wild and magical pseudo Oriental tales European perceptions of the Muslim world are centuries old originating in medieval Christendom's encounter with Islam in the age of the Crusades There is explicit and sustained criticism of medieval mores and values in Scott's novels set in the Middle Ages and this is to be true of much English language historical fiction of the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Even mediocre novels take on momentary importance because of the pervasive power of India The awesome remote and inaccessible Himalayas inevitably became for Western writers an idealised setting for novels of magic romance and high adventure and for travellers tales that read like fiction Chinese fictions flourish in many guises Most contemporary Hong Kong fiction reinforced corrupt mandarins barbaric punishments and heathens Of the novels about Japan published after
